WELCOME TO THE TANTALIZING TERRITORY THAT IS

ou will find enticing diversity here—in the scenery, the history, the food, and the people.

And you will discover a hospitality born of gracious Southern roots, sprinkled with old-fashioned Western grit, and spiced with the cultures and customs of Hispanic, German, Czech, and two dozen or so other significant ancestries. Texas is, indeed, like a whole other country.

Scenery ranges from craggy mountains in the west to pine forests in the east. And, in between, landscapes showcase surf-kissed beaches, stream-carved canyons, and cedar-studded hills. Two national parks offer spectacular panoramas, and more than 120 state parks provide camping and picnicking amid attractive surroundings. In the spring, bluebonnets (the official state wildflower) mingle with other blossoms of red and yellow and white to paint stunning roadside scenes.

Energizing cities and charming communities invite you to stay awhile and share in their treasures. You can visit outstanding museums, thought-provoking historic sites, and excellent zoos. And you can tarry awhile in marvelous resorts and charming small inns. Throughout the state, a fascinating melange of restaurants will delight you, as well. Cuisines, especially in the larger cities, prove as varied as the many faces of Texas. Asian, Pacific Rim, Thai, Southwestern, and a full slate of other popular foods now grace almost as many menus as favorites such as barbecue, chickenfried steak, charbroiled T-bones, fried catfish, and Mexican food.

Kick up your adrenaline aboard a colossal roller coaster and slow down the pace with a walk down a nature trail. Shop at a Mexican-style market or a discount mega-mall. Try out your golf game at dozens of challenging courses. Watch an exhilarating sport: football, baseball, basketball, hockey, soccer, and NASCAR racing—you name it; Texas has it. And, of course, you can savor the flavor of the Old West at dude ranches, rodeos, and chuckwagon dinners throughout the state.

Festivals and fairs abound. Say hello to "Big Tex" at Dallas' State Fair of Texas. Crack a piñata at Fiesta San Antonio. Lift a lager at Fredericksburg's Oktoberfest. And salute the spirit of America at Laredo's Washington's Birthday Celebration.

Come along and join the festivities. Texas welcomes you!

TEXAS STATE TRAVEL GUIDE

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

exas is a big place—really big. Need an example? Well, the distance between Houston and Big Bend National Park is 603 miles; That's 10 hours traveling by car at 60 mph, and you still haven't left the state!

So, we've divided this Guide into seven regions: Panhandle Plains, Prairies and Lakes, Piney Woods, Gulf Coast, South Texas Plains, Hill Country, and Big Bend Country. The cities and towns in each respective region are listed alphabetically, so you can quickly find and read about them as you travel through the vastly different areas that make up the great state of Texas. Each city's "Map" code shows grid coordinates corresponding to its location on the Texas Official Travel Map.

At the beginning of each regional section you'll find a detailed map as well as an overview describing the distinct features that define each region. Following the regional sections, you'll find a thorough listing of all lakes in Texas. In addition, there's also a listing of state and national forests included for your reference.

We've included listings for chambers of commerce and convention and visitor bureaus that belong to the Texas Association of Convention and Visitors Bureau. Addresses and phone numbers are included if you need more information.

Highway designations in the book include I- for Interstate highways, US for U.S. highways, Texas for state highways, and F.M. and R.M. for Texas Farmto-Market or Ranch-to-Market roads. Remember, Texas is a very big state with lots of roadways, so make sure you plan ahead if you are motoring through the state.

Thanks for visiting and enjoy your stay in the Lone Star State!

TRAVEL INFORMATION CENTERS

The Texas Department of Transportation operates travel information centers for the convenience of the traveling public. Uniformed, professional travel counselors welcome visitors and provide a wealth of free literature, information, and suggestions to make every Texas trip more pleasant.

Working with the Texas Official Travel Map, counselors expertly chart routes to any area of Texas. They point out the most convenient short-line directions, or leisurely scenic drives to your destination. They supply comprehensive statewide travel publications, plus detailed brochures about points of interest, attractions, and recreational areas along the way. All of those services are free. The centers are open daily 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., but beginning Memorial Day weekend through Labor Day the centers are open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The centers are closed on New Year's Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, and Easter Sunday. The Capitol Visitors Center hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

HIGHWAY REST AREAS

Throughout the superb system of Texas highways, motorists find bonuses of travel pleasure in highway rest areas. Texas pioneered the concept of miniature parks along travelways, an idea that has been adopted nationally.

Today more than a thousand Texas rest areas, picnic areas, and scenic turnouts invite motorists to pause and relax from the concentration of driving. Often the site has been selected for its impressive landscape views, and each of the small parks is landscaped to complement its individual surroundings. All are equipped with shaded arbors, tables, benches, and cooking grills. Remaining in a rest area for more than 24 hours or erecting any kind of structure is prohibited by law.

SPEED LIMITS

In Texas, the maximum speed limit for cars and light trucks (pickups, panels, vans, etc.) is 70 miles per hour (mph) daytime, 65 mph nighttime on all numbered highways in rural areas. Lower speed limits are posted on many Texas

Highways to account for their individual operating characteristics. Speed limits on urban freeways typically range from 55 mph to 70 mph.

TRAFFIC SIGNS

Speeds, caution areas, stops and directions are marked along the more than 79,000 miles of Texas highways by over half a million signs. Passing is illegal when there is a continuous yellow stripe on the driver's side of the center line. Center lines are yellow dash stripes. White dash stripes separate dual lanes of traffic in the same direction. Painted or reflectorized pavement arrows often show approved directions or turns. Arrows pointing toward you or showing red reflectors indicate you are driving the wrong way on a freeway ramp or one-way street.

AUTO SAFETY BELTS AND CHILD SEATS

Texas law requires front seat occupants, regardless of age, must be buckled up while riding in cars and trucks. Further, the law requires children under age four or who are less than 36 inches tall must be secured in a federally approved child safety seat. Children under 17 years of age must wear a safety belt no matter where they sit in the vehicle. Fines may be levied for failure to use safety belts and child safety seats as prescribed.

AUTO INSURANCE

A motor vehicle may not be operated in Texas unless a policy of liability insurance is in effect. Evidence of insurance must be furnished when requested by a peace officer.

TEXAS CLIMATE

There's an old expression that Texans use when talking about the state's everchanging weather: "If you don't like it now, just wait five minutes." With such a big state, it's easy to see why the climate in the Panhandle Plains Region is drastically different than it is in the Gulf Coast Region. However, Texas is blessed with fairly mild weather year-round. Sunshine is prevalent no matter what part of Texas you visit.

Also, Texas does get very hot in the summertime. Almost the entire state experiences 90-plus degree daytime highs during July and August, and many areas are quite used to 100-degree readings during these months.

So, remember to dress lightly and bring along your sunscreen.

Winters are usually mild, but it can get cold and snowfall isn't uncommon in the northern parts of Texas. Winter daytime high temperatures average from the 40s north to the 60s south, and lows can dip below freezing in much of the state. Fall is also quite marvelous in Texas, as the heat begins to dwindle in October. Daytime highs average in the upper 70s and lower 80s, and lows are in the 40s and 50s.

Springtime is fantastic. From March through June, daytime highs average from the 70s north to the upper 80s south, and spectacular wildflowers appear in much of the state, thanks to generous rainfall that is usually plentiful at this time of year. You'll probably need a wide range of clothing options, from shorts and t-shirts during the day to jackets and hats at night.

Before departing on your trip, be sure you contact the convention & visitors bureaus or chambers of commerce in the cities you plan to visit to get relevant weather information.

MEXICO

ENTRANCE AND EXIT REGULATIONS

The enchantment of Mexico is but a bridge away from much of Texas. Visitors find Mexican shops and markets colorful and fascinating, filled with a variety of gift, handicraft and art items at attractive prices. The people of Mexico are gracious and friendly.

GENERAL

U.S. citizens must carry proof of citizenship when crossing into Mexico. Mexican immigration officials require a passport, birth certificate, voter registration card, or any other document that proves citizenship. On returning to Texas from Mexico, a stop at U. S. Customs is required, stating nationality and declaring Mexican purchases. Visitors to Mexican border cities seldom use Mexican currency. U.S. dollars are readily accepted at the current exchange rate. Mexican banks, large hotels and motels and tourist service facilities provide currency exchange if needed.

A Mexican tourist card is required for visiting Mexico beyond the border cities, or for stays longer than 72 hours. The free cards are available from Mexican immigration authorities at the border, and also from Mexican consulates and Mexican government tourist offices in the U.S. A birth certificate or other proof of U.S. citizenship, such as voter registration, military I.D. showing place of birth, or passport, is required to obtain the tourist card. Your tourist card is good for 30 days, but if you plan to stay longer you must request a 180-day visa. You must return your cards prior to leaving Mexico.

If you plan on driving your personal vehicle into Mexico beyond the 13-mile free trade zone along the border, you will need to obtain a vehicle permit for a $15 fee. In order to obtain this permit you must have a valid driver's license, the vehicle's title (in the driver's name) and tourist card. If you plan on using someone else's car during your trip beyond the border, the vehicle's owner will need to be with you. Also, be sure to check your auto insurance policy before you start your trip into Mexico, as many policies exclude coverage in a foreign country. Finally, you'll need to return your permit prior to leaving the country.

Canadian citizens who visit Mexico from Texas should have a passport or birth certificate. Other foreign nationals should have a passport and appropriate visas both for entering Mexico and returning to the U.S.

For more information call 1-800-44-MEXICO or visit the web site www.visitmexico.com.

WARNING

Unauthorized possession/importation of a firearm of any type is a felony in Mexico. At minimum, this could result in a stiff fine and seizure of the weapon. Possession of a "military caliber" weapon may result in jail time and confiscation of car. Entering the country with unauthorized weapons carries a penalty of two to eight years in jail. Pleading ignorance to the law cannot be used as a defense. Mexico's weapons ban includes all weapons and ammunition—rifles, pistols, shotguns, black powder handguns and long guns, reloading components, and any kind of ammunition. Even a few shotgun shells in the trunk can cause a big problem.

THE SEVEN REGIONS OF TEXAS

ay "Texas" and think BIG. Big country. Big hospitality. And big opportunities for a fun-filled vacation. But the state is so large (some 275,416 square miles that encompass 254 counties) that the "big picture" can sometimes become a confusing jumble of cities and towns and lakes and parks.

And a guide such as this one, if it is presented strictly alphabetically, might describe a city in the Panhandle, followed by a town in the Hill Country, almost 500 miles away.

To make it easier to learn about traveling in Texas and to add to your reading enjoyment, this guidebook is organized by region. They coincide with the seven travel regions originated by the Texas tourism industry and with the listings in the quarterly Texas Events Calendar, as well as those used by Texas Highways, the official travel magazine of Texas.

The regions progress alphabetically by title, with listings of the cities and towns they enclose from A to Z. The sections begin with the Big Bend Country in far West Texas.

The Big Bend Country region contains the state's two national parks, as well as cities such as Del Rio, El Paso, Midland, and Odessa. (The guide, of course, also lists and describes most of the small communities within each section.)

Next comes the Gulf Coast, which stretches from the Texas-Louisiana border southward to Brownsville, and covers Beaumont, Houston, Galveston, and Corpus Christi. The Hill Country section encompasses the geographical center of the state (near Brady) and includes the capital city of Austin, LBJ National and State parks, as well as Fredericksburg.

In the Panhandle Plains, you will find Abilene, Amarillo, Lubbock, and Wichita Falls and beautiful Palo Duro Canyon State Park. The Piney Woods brings you a large segment of East Texas, including Marshall, Texarkana, and Tyler.

Prairies and Lakes sweeps down through the center of the state and embraces Bryan-College Station, Dallas, Fort Worth, and Waco, while the South Texas Plains presents the lower Rio Grande Valley towns of McAllen and Mission, along with Laredo and San Antonio to the north.

An introduction describes each region and many of the sites and sights within it, and a map gives you a snapshot view of the area. Photographs throughout the guide illustrate the colorful attractions awaiting you.

Read on, and have a big time in Texas!

BIG BEND COUNTRY

n Big Bend Country, the sky's no limit. Nowhere else in Texas do the stars at night shine quite so bright or the sunsets seem quite so rosy. Here, too, the earth displays its own vigor. Prickly pear cacti bloom with fuchsia ferocity and golden exuberance, as desert vistas shimmer far into the distance. Nomadic tumbleweeds bounce erratically across lonesome prairies, and craggy mountain peaks form a jagged phalanx on the horizon. Nature needs no introduction in this awe-inspiring terrain.

Two spectacular national parks—Guadalupe Mountains on the north and Big Bend on the south—encapsulate the rugged grandeur of the area and provide an outdoor feast for hikers, campers, naturalists, artists, and all who savor nature's untamed beauty.

Cities carve out a comfortable niche here as well. On the western edge of the region, venerable El Paso enchants visitors with its multicultural festivities, multispiced cuisines, and numerous museums. On the eastern rim, Midland, Odessa, and Del Rio invite you to enjoy an eclectic array of attractions such as a collection of vintage airplanes, a Shakespearean theater, and the recreational opportunities of massive Amistad International Reservoir. And in between, towns like Pecos, Fort Davis, Alpine, Marfa, and Marathon serve up surprises of their own, including ghostly lights, frontier forts, and splendid views of the heavens.

Let's take a leisurely tour across the diverse landscape and vast terrain that is Big Bend Country.

Detailed information about each site appears following this introduction.

PARKS ALONG THE RIO

Tucked into the inner elbow of the Rio Grande as it meanders southward, Big Bend National Park spreads across more than 801,000 acres of land so diverse that the Chihuahuan Desert floor gives way to Chisos Mountain peaks in mere minutes. Hikers find some 150 miles of trails within the park's confines and campers can occupy primitive campgrounds and sites with RV hookups. In the Chisos Basin, a lodge provides a restaurant and accommodations for those unprepared for roughing it.

Options abound. You can walk a short and easy path to the base of fabled Santa Elena Canyon, where the Rio Grande cuts a bronze swath through soaring 150-foot limestone walls. Or, you can don serious hiking gear and trek to the South Rim of the Chisos Mountains for an unparalleled view. At your feet, a vast, undulating landscape rolls southward some 16 miles to the Rio Grande and the country of Mexico.

Rafters often ply their crafts along the Rio Grande here. It's a great way to gain a refreshing perspective of the park—and you don't have to set sail on your own. Several professional river outfitters in the area will gladly provide gear and guides.

Wildlife in Big Bend National Park ranges from jackrabbits to javelinas and from beavers to black bears, though many of the park's four-footed creatures venture out mostly at night. Throughout the park, birders seek a peek at some of the 450 species found here, including the rare Colima warbler and the golden eagle.

West of the national park lies the approximately 300,000-acre Big Bend Ranch State Park. Like its national park neighbor, the state park boasts desert lands, mountains, canyons, and waterfalls, but there are few modern amenities here. Hikers and backpackers encounter a rugged brand of nature that encompasses two mountain ranges with long-extinct volcanoes, while sites along the scenic River Road (FM 170) offer rafters and canoers access to the waters of the Rio Grande.

The park's eastern gateway, Barton Warnock Environmental Education Center, showcases Chihuahuan desert plants, as well as the archeology, history, and natural resources of the Big Bend. Fort Leaton, the western visitor center for the park, stands on the site of an 1848 adobe trading post. Here you'll find historic ruins, interpretive exhibits, and shaded picnic areas.

SCOUTING THE AREA

Although the vast parklands draw lots of visitors to this area of Big Bend Country, other interesting sights and pastimes exist here as well, providing intriguing, and sometimes quirky, attractions.

In Lajitas, the Old West rises up to meet you, as you visit shops, offices, and eating places where buildings boast frontier-like façades. And where else can you greet an office-holding billy goat that swills beer? At the Lajitas Trading Post, say howdy to brew-guzzling goat Clay Henry III, the duly elected "mayor" of the town.

And then there's chili! Each fall at the old ghost town of Terlingua, you can join about 5,000 rabid chili fans, who stoke their fires—and your palate—during heated chili cook-offs.

GUADALUPE MOUNTAINS NATIONAL PARK

Some 240 miles north of the Big Bend, along the Texas-New Mexico border, 86,416-acre Guadalupe Mountains National Park safeguards its own share of natural treasures. Fortress-like El Capitan mountain and nearby Guadalupe Peak, Texas' highest point at 8,749 feet, provide a dramatic introduction to the park's spectacular scenery.

The Guadalupe Mountains site includes four of the highest peaks in Texas, as well as glorious McKittrick Canyon, where aspens, madrones, and maples mingle their crimson, bronze, and yellow hues to breathtaking advantage in the autumn.

Though you can drive through the southeastern edge of the park, you can appreciate Guadalupe Mountains fully only by hiking into the interior. Backpackers who appreciate Nature at her most solitary particularly enjoy long hikes into the park's inner regions. Some 80 miles of trails lead through stands of Ponderosa pines, Douglas firs, and mountain junipers, and to upland meadows, where deer and elk graze. Day-trippers savor the short excursion into the more accessible environs of McKittrick Canyon.

Since Guadalupe Mountains National Park lies miles from communities of any size, be prepared to "rough it" in these isolated but beautiful surroundings. But if you treasure extraordinary and remote natural beauty, Guadalupe Mountains National Park rewards every challenge.

Blessed with Guadalupe Mountains National Park, Big Bend National Park, and Big Bend Ranch State Park, Big Bend Country boasts almost 1,170,000 acres of wilderness terrain that offer scenic vistas and outdoor adventures you will never forget.

EL PASO DEL NORTE

Okay. You've hiked. You've rafted. You've camped under the stars. You've seen nature at her comeliest and quirkiest. But it's time to move on. Now you're ready to rub elbows with Texans in the big city. Let's begin with gusto—in El Paso.

Sprawled along the westernmost tip of the state, delineated by the Rio Grande and Franklin Mountains, El Paso combines metropolitan modernity with a delightful bicultural charm born of its 16th-Century Spanish origins. The city, which grew from settlements that date to 1598, forms the largest U.S. city on the Mexican border and sits across the Rio Grande from Ciudad Juárez, Mexico.

El Paso offers activities and places of interest that can entertain you for days. You can tour historic sites, including missions such as Nuestra Señora del Carmen—called Ysleta Mission by El Pasoans—founded by Spanish Franciscans in the early 1680s (thus predating those established in California in the late 18th Century). At the 1875 adobe Magoffin Home

Gold Poppies in Franklin Mountains State Park

BIG BEND COUNTRY

(a state historical park), you can view original family furnishings and learn how an affluent El Paso family lived in the 19th Century.

You can explore a dozen museums in the city and in neighboring Fort Bliss that offer artwork and exhibits as varied as the vivid fiberglass sculptures of Luis Jimenez, a portrait of George Washington by Gilbert Stuart, and replicas of the original adobe buildings at Fort Bliss.

For a bird's-eye view of El Paso and adjacent Juárez, go to Franklin Mountains State Park on the western rim of the city. Here, you can take a five-minute ride aboard the Wyler Aerial Tramway, which climbs 940 feet to a vantage point on Ranger Peak. Look around you at a scene that encompasses some 7,000 square miles, two countries, and three states. Awesome!

If shopping is your game, El Paso is your game board. Specialty stores sell imported furnishings and exotic art objects, foodstuffs, such as spicy salsas and seasonings, cowboy boots made from snakeskin and ostrich hide, and scores of other unusual items.

Time for dinner? Head about 35 miles southeast toward the town of Fabens, where Cattleman's Steakhouse at Indian Cliffs Ranch cooks up charbroiled steaks extraordinaire and plentiful Western atmosphere to boot. Where else can you polish off a T-bone amidst a display of antique saddles, while watching the sunset paint the horizon a dusky red and gold?

Sports teams, such as professional baseball, soccer, and hockey, as well as college football and baseball, find a lively home in El Paso. The city also boasts some of the finest—and most inexpensive—public golf courses in the state. And for the kids, Wet 'n' Wild Waterworld (near Anthony) and Western Playland Park provide hours of frolicsome fun.

At the Tigua Indian Reservation at Ysleta (the oldest community in the present boundaries of Texas), you can visit a museum that focuses on the Tigua's cultural history.

Wrap up your trip to El Paso with a scenic drive along the Rim Road for a look at this captivating city and its sister, Juárez, as they unfold below, joined by the silver sliver that is the Rio Grande.

POINTS CENTRAL

Deep in the heart of Big Bend Country, towns such as Marfa, Marathon, Fort Davis, and Langtry tantalize you with glimpses of the rough-and-tumble Old West. They provide some unlikely surprises, as well. In Fort Stockton, you can salute Paisano Pete, probably the "world's largest roadrunner," and visit the restored Grey Mule Saloon, while at Iraan, you can say howdy to the old cartoon character Alley Oop at Fantasyland.

Texas' oldest mission, Corpus Christi de la Ysleta in El Paso, dates from 1681

Rafting in Big Bend National Park

In the summer, take a dip in the cool waters of Balmorhea State Park's artesian pool, fed at the rate of more than 22 million gallons a day by San Solomon Springs. Slice up a rich, juicy cantaloupe from the fertile fields of Pecos for a luscious taste treat, then visit the West-of-the-Pecos Museum, where 50 rooms of exhibits enlighten you about Pecos and West Texas. In any season, you can surf the sands of Monahans Sandhills State Park, near Monahans, where 4,000 acres of wind-sculpted sand dunes provide an unusual playground.

For an out-of-this-world experience, try Marfa. This friendly community has gained worldwide fame for its "Marfa Lights," an unexplained, unscheduled, and unchoreographed nighttime phenomena of bright orbs that swoop and pulsate on the nearby prairie. There's even a new viewing area on the highway just a few miles east of town for those who seek the lights.

About 25 miles east of Marfa lies attractive Alpine, the seat of vast Brewster County. Spend some time in the Museum of the Big Bend at Sul Ross State University and learn about the ancient peoples and the early settlers who shaped this area, then stop by the Last Frontier Museum for a look at rocks, gems, and minerals of the region. You can unearth some unusual gifts at the Woodward Agate Ranch, some 18 miles south of Alpine, where you can search for lovely pom-pom and red-plume agates, as well as precious opals.

Thirty miles further east lies Marathon. Here, you'll find intriguing art galleries that feature one-of-a-kind Mexican and Indian handcrafts and outstanding landscape photography.

North of the Marathon-Alpine-Marfa area, the picturesque Davis Mountains are home to some of the most photogenic sights in Texas. Here, the stark white domes of the McDonald Observatory stand atop Mount Locke, visible for miles against the cobalt sky. During the day, you can tour the observatory, operated by the University of Texas at Austin, for a look at the sun's turbulent surface, and, in the evenings, you can attend "Star Parties" for unparalleled views of the heavens. Davis Mountains State Park, four miles north of Fort Davis, offers pleasant walks, abundant bird life, and the distinctive and charming Indian Lodge hotel, as well as a scenic drive.

Visit the arboretum and cactus greenhouse of the marvelous Chihuahuan Desert Research Institute, then spend a reflective hour or so at the impressive Fort Davis National Historic Site. Here, you can listen to the haunting tones of a bugle echo across the parade ground as you explore the fort's reconstructed barracks and other buildings that evoke 19th Century frontier Texas.

Another vivid reminder of the Old West sits some 160 miles southeast of Fort Davis at Langtry. Here, the Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center, staffed by professional Texas travel counselors, chronicles the life of rascally old Judge Roy Bean, the "Law West of the Pecos," who dispensed his own high-handed brand of justice.

Just a few miles east of Langtry, a highway turnout at the U.S. 90 bridge over the Pecos River provides one of the prettiest views along Texas highways. Below, the river tumbles through precipitous canyon walls as it nears the end of its journey at mighty Amistad International Reservoir. The spot is also near Seminole Canyon State Park, where you can see 4,000-year-old Indian pictographs and displays that cover the early history of the area. Down the road, the hospitable city of Del Rio awaits.

Del Rio, which bills itself as "The Best of the Border," is a gateway to huge Amistad International Reservoir, a fishing and boating bonanza, and is home to the oldest bonded winery in Texas, Val Verde Winery, founded by the Qualia family in 1883.

If you looked for Judge Roy Bean's gravesite at Langtry, you didn't find it. That's because Roy and his son Sam are buried here on the expansive grounds of the Whitehead Memorial Museum. When you pay your respects to the old judge, you can also visit the museum's other many interesting exhibits.

Del Rio's sister city, Ciudad Acuña, lies just a stone's throw across the Rio Grande and offers abundant Mexican border town shopping, restaurants, and nightspots.

MIDLAND AND ODESSA

Aim due east from El Paso about 300 miles [or aim north from Del Rio about 250 miles] and set your sights on the "mini-metroplex" of Midland and Odessa. This dynamic duo on the eastern edge of the Big Bend Country encompasses a wide-ranging assortment of attractions, sports, and activities, and boasts a number of locations where the Bush families, of presidential fame, once resided, worked, and attended school.

Along with minor league baseball, a 20-acre water park, a nationally recognized community theater, and more than 40 city parks, Midland offers an interesting mixture of museums.

If you thrill to the sights and sounds of beautifully restored vintage airplanes, you will have a field day at the American Airpower Heritage Museum, where you might see a World War II P-51 Mustang and B-17 Flying Fortress. If your quest is geology, at the Petroleum Museum, you can probe the oil-rich Permian Basin through exhibits that re-create the story of oil exploration in West Texas. Other Midland museums offer a planetarium and displays of Western memorabilia, saddles, and guns.

For entertainment on the offbeat side, attend a summer production at the flamboyant 1920s Yucca Theatre, where mummers perform madcap melodramas amidst the theater's elaborate Assyrian-style architecture.

Odessa, a scant 20 miles to the west, also delights visitors with an uncommon abundance of attractions. Here, you can pose for a snapshot with a 10-foot-high "World's Largest Jackrabbit." And—from the slightly ridiculous to the almost sublime—you can also revisit the Shakespearean era at the Globe of the Great Southwest, an authentic replica of the original Globe Theatre in England. The theater hosts Shakespearean plays and other stage productions year round.

McDonald Observatory at Mount Locke near Fort Davis

Exhibits at the Presidential Museum chronicle every U.S. presidency since that of George Washington. Remember "I Like Ike" buttons? Campaign mementos such as buttons, posters, and banners, as well as miniature dolls representing the First Ladies, take you on an interesting walk through American political history. Then, some 10 miles west of town, you can stroll across the spot where a meteor crashed to earth some 20,000 to 30,000 years ago. The Odessa Meteor Crater marks the second largest meteor site in the United States.

Meteors and Marfa Lights. Mountains and metropolises. Stars-so-bright and awesome sights. Savor them all, sprinkled with the Southwestern flavor of Big Bend Country.

BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK AREA

Alt. 1,850-7,825

Map R-6/7

General—Big truly describes this area. The soaring peaks of the Davis and Chisos Mountains contrast with the deep canyons worn by the Rio Grande. The floor of the Chihuahuan Desert exhibits a wide variety of wildlife and vegetation that thrive in the desert climate.

The arrival of the railroad in the late 1800s brought opportunities for business and development. Today immense ranches dominate this scenic part of the state, but hardy communities offer a variety of recreation and entertainment facilities. Several museums document life in this area. Big Bend Area cities include Alpine, Lajitas, Marathon, Study Butte and Terlingua in Brewster County, Sanderson in Terrell County, Fort Davis in Jeff Davis County and Marfa and Presidio in Presidio County. The combined counties cover 14,671.3 sq. miles.

Because of the vast distances between towns, be sure the gas tank is filled going to and from Big Bend National Park.

Big Bend National Park—This huge park encompasses 801,163 acres of magnificent contrasts. Visitors can travel from the Rio Grande with its spectacular canyons and jungle-like floodplain up through Chihuahuan Desert, which constitutes majority of the park, to Chisos Mountains with cool woodlands. Its variation in elevation and temperature makes Big Bend an ideal year-round park. Big Bend is a challenging place to visit in the summer. May and June temperatures in the Chisos Mountains can reach 95 degrees. With a diversity of Mexican and American plants, more than 1,200 plant types are found in the park. Animal life is just as varied. Desert wildlife is mostly nocturnal, but deer, coyotes, javelinas, gray fox, skunks, raccoons, and jackrabbits might be seen during the day. Lucky visitors might spot some of the rarer animals, such as ringtail, black bear, beaver, and mountain lion. More than 450 bird species have been identified, more than at any other national park.

One hundred million years ago, this area was ocean. And 65 million years ago, dinosaurs roamed the area.

It is a vast land that invites exploring, not a park that can be seen in just a few hours. More than 150 miles of trails range from short, easy nature walks to primitive trails for experienced hikers. More than 100 miles of paved roads and about 170 miles of dirt roads are in the park; check with any ranger for current conditions of all primitive, backcountry and graded roads before attempting travel.

A permit is required for all backcountry and primitive camping; also for all river-users. Free permits may be obtained at park visitor centers.

Pet owners take note: Pets are not permitted on any trail and must be kept on leash at all times. In fact, pets aren't allowed outside developed areas: campgrounds and road sides. Also, because of wild animals roaming the park, do not leave any pet unattended, and because of extreme heat, do not leave pets locked in cars. It's best to leave your pets at home.

Rangers present walks and illustrated talks throughout the year.

Basic facilities in the park include visitor centers, post office, National Park Service campgrounds, a trailer park, store-gas stations, and a restaurantgift shop-lodge in the Chisos Mountains Basin. Lodging is available in 58 motel-type rooms and eight lodge-type units, plus six more rustic cottages—all located in the Basin area of the park. Advance reservations are strongly advised throughout the year, especially around holidays and during spring break. Write Chisos Mountains Lodge, Basin Rural Station, Big Bend National Park, Texas 79834. Phone 915/477-2291.

For further information, write Superintendent, Big Bend National Park, Texas 79834, or call 915/477-2251.

Big Bend National Park Visitor Centers offer information, maps, literature, and exhibits about the area. Visitor center in lobby of Park Headquarters at Panther Junction open year round, 8 a.m. - 6 p.m. Visitor centers in Chisos Basin, Persimmon Gap, and at Rio Grande Village open seasonally, 8 a.m. - 4 p.m.

The national park is accessible from Marathon via U.S. 385 (70 miles), from Alpine via Texas 118 (108 miles), and from Marfa/Presidio via U.S. 67 and F.M. 170 (156 miles). Admission.

Big Bend Birding Expeditions—Headquartered at the Terlingua Ranch, guided tours take visitors to all parts of the area. Custom birding trips range from hiking to rafting along the Rio Grande, by mountain bike, by horseback, or by van into the back roads of the area. For information, call 888/531-2223 or 915/371-2356.

Hallie's Hall of Fame Museum—Houses mementos and relics found on the late Hallie Stillwell's ranch. Just north of Big Bend to F.M. 2627, then east to the facilities. 915/376-2244.

Rio Grande Float Trips—Licensed river outfitters in area towns provide one-to nine-day float trips through the remote canyons of the Rio Grande. Advanced reservations required for lengthy trips. Nuestra Señora del Carmen, was established in 1681, and later dedicated Corpus Christi de la Ysleta, 1690; damaged by both floods and fires, but restored and maintained in original style and now familiarly called Ysleta Mission. Oldest mission in Texas, established for Tigua Indians. When founded, the mission pueblo was south of the Rio Grande, but has been left on the Texas side by changes in the river channel. Some mission land has been in constant cultivation since 1682, over 300 years! 100 block of Old Pueblo Rd. (Zaragosa exit from I-10 east).

Nuestra Señora de la Concepción del Socorro was established in 1682 as mission for Piros, Thanos, and Jemes Indians. Originally located about 12 leagues from Guadalupe Mission at Paso del Norte and about 7.5 leagues from Ysleta. However, when a group of Indians threatened to revolt, mission moved to new location about one league from Ysleta Mission. Early 19th Century flood changed course of Rio Grande and left village and mission on Texas side. Present village of Socorro adjacent to southeast El Paso, F.M. 258 south.

San Elizario Presidio Chapel was founded 1777 to serve Spanish military garrison and government. Still in daily use, chapel stands as built 200 years ago, preserving a type of architecture that supplanted more austere styles of Ysleta and Socorro missions. Fort Davis National Historic Site—When pioneers and gold seekers surged west in the mid-1800s, national concern focused on secure travel routes. In Texas, nearly 600 miles of wilderness stretched between San Antonio and El Paso. Throughout the distance, wagon travelers fell prey to some fiercely hostile Native American tribes. Fort Davis, established in 1854, was the first military post to guard the route and offer haven by the precious waters of Limpia Creek.

But the trauma of the Civil War stripped the frontier of military protection, and little of value remained when federal troops returned to Fort Davis in 1867. New construction eventually produced substantial rock and adobe buildings that housed up to 12 companies of cavalry and infantry. Post-war troopers were black "buffalo soldiers," many of them former slaves from Southern plantations.

As the western movement resumed, troopers patrolled the long immigrant road, escorted mail and wagon trains, and mounted wide-ranging expeditions into the vast wilderness territory. After years of conflict, peace and civilian settlement finally came to the frontier. With the bluecoats no longer needed, Fort Davis was deactivated in 1891.

Operated by the National Park Service, Fort Davis today is a superb example of frontier forts from that epic era, including both ruins and restorations. A museum, open daily in reconstructed barracks, vividly interprets frontier military life.

Another feature is a sound re-creation of a 19th Century military parade, bugles and hoofbeats...the clank and jangle of mounted troops...music from band manuals of 1875. Echoing over the empty parade ground, it is a haunting fragment of the past.

Open daily 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. except national holidays. On the northern edge of town. From I-10 on the north, or U.S. 90 from the south, the site can be reached by Texas 17 and Texas 118. Admission.

General—In deep Southwest Texas by the Rio Grande, the village was established 1881 when Galveston, Harrisburg, and San Antonio Railway was building through; was junction of construction from east and west. Two origins of town's name exist, one prosaic, the other romantic. One credits town name to a civil engineer named Langtry who directed a group of Chinese laborers in railroad construction. But colorful Judge Roy Bean insisted he named town after his idol, English actress Lillie Langtry, the "Jersey Lilly."

Judge Roy Bean Visitor Center—Features rustic saloon, courtroom and billiard hall and the opera house of Judge Roy Bean, the colorful and controversial "Law West of the Pecos" in 1880s. The center preserves historic site where Judge Bean ruled with high-handed, but appropriate brand of homespun law, outrageous humor and six-shooter justice.

Adjacent modern visitor center interprets highlights of Judge Bean's career in "The Magic of Pepper's Ghost Revealed" where dioramas come to life with live historic re-enactments in miniature stages. The "ghost-like" characters recall events during Bean's tenure as judge.

Free attraction, open daily 8 a.m. - 5 p.m., except Easter Sunday, Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve, Christmas Day and New Year's; operated by Texas Department of Transportation. Scenic Overlook—U.S. 90 spans arid, primitive land little changed since pioneers first made their way across it in creaking wagons. One of the most formidable barriers to early-day travel—and civilization—was the precipitous canyon of the Pecos River. Modern travelers can pause and picnic in roadside park by U.S. 90 on east rim of canyon, about 18 miles east of Langtry. View is spectacular and provides insight into difficulties faced by pioneers who had to negotiate crossing without a bridge of any kind.

General—Both Odessa and Midland can proclaim, "George Bush Lived Here." George H.W. & Barbara Bush brought their young family to Odessa in 1947 where they lived in three locations, then moved to Midland to continue working in the Oil & Gas Industry. George W. & Laura Bush claim Midland as home and continue to have close ties today.

Midland and Odessa were established in the late 1800s as water stops for the railroad and became hubs for farming and ranching until oil was discovered in the 1920s. The area, known as the Permian Basin, contains tremendous quantities of natural gas and oil. Farming and ranching were the main sources of income until the discovery of oil in the 1920s when they became headquarters for the vast petroleum industry in the Permian Basin. Today, both cities remain active in the oil and gas business, but diversification efforts are going strong. Manufacturing, industrial services, educational and medical facilities are all important aspects of the local economy.

Geographically, Odessa and Midland are located approximately midway between Ft. Worth and El Paso on Interstate 20, a main east/west route. U.S. Highway 385, a main north/south route, provides for excellent transportation into Odessa, while U.S. Highway 349 provides easy north/south access to Midland. Rail service is supplied by the Union Pacific Railroad and offers reliable access to all major U.S. markets. Midland International Airport, located approximately halfway between Odessa and Midland, is the ninth largest airport in Texas, and provides service on American Eagle, Continental, Southwest and Delta Airlines.

Through "booms" and "busts," the cities have grown and developed with high-rise buildings, a strong educational system, economic diversification and dedication to the fine arts. Education is a priority with the University of Texas of the Permian Basin, Texas Tech Health Center and two community colleges, Odessa College and Midland College. From community theatre to historic buildings and museums, from Jackalopes Professional Hockey to Rockhounds AA Baseball you'll find it all in Odessa-Midland.

For additional information on events, accommodations, or dining facilities, contact the Odessa Convention & Visitors Bureau at 800/780-4678. The Midland Convention & Visitors Bureau can be contacted at 800/624-6435.

American Airpower Heritage Museum and Commemorative Air Force Headquarters—After World War II, a handful of former service pilots put their wartime flying experience to use as crop-duster pilots in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. But when a group of them paid $2500 for a surplus P-51D Mustang in 1957, the seed was planted for the growth of the nation's finest and most complete collection of flyable WWII combat aircraft.

When these dedicated pilots found that virtually all of the nearly 300,000 aircraft that had been produced during the war had been destroyed, they vowed to try to preserve at least one of each type so that future generations would understand and appreciate the importance and accomplishments of American airpower.

The museum remains dedicated to acquisition, restoration and preservation in flying condition of these vintage military aircraft. The CAF maintains an impressive array of World War II planes including foreign aircraft. The museum also owns the world's largest collection of aviation nose art, now housed in a new, 6,000-square foot gallery featuring 33 original nose art panels. Major flying demonstration is "Airsho" the first full weekend in October.

Approximately 14-20 of the 142 aircraft in the CAF are on display at any one time, with different aircraft quarterly. On display could be combat stalwarts such as P-40 Warhawk, P-47 Thunderbolt, P-51 Mustang, P-39 Aircobra, P-63 King Cobra, P-82 Twin Mustang, F4F Wildcat, F6F Hellcat, F8F Bearcat, F4U Corsair, and German Heinkel HE-111. Other flyable planes include B-24 Liberator, B-17 Flying Fortress, B-29 Superfortress, A-26 Invader, B-25 Mitchell, C-47 Skytrain, and several trainers.

Monahans Sandhills State Park—4,000 acres of wind-sculptured sand dunes like classical landscape of the Sahara. Park has modern museum and interpretive center, picnicking, camping and sand surfing. Huge sandhills area, only part of which is in park, was formidable obstacle to pioneer travelers and wagon trains. Indians knew it better and frequently camped here because pure, fresh water could be found between certain dunes by scooping a trench in sand. Not apparent to eye is one of largest oak forests in nation, stretching over 40,000 acres of arid land. The "forest" is not apparent because mature trees (Havard oaks) are seldom over three feet high, yet they send down roots as far as 90 feet to maintain miniature surface growth. The unusual park is on I-20/U.S. 80 five miles east. Admission.

Pyote Museum and Rattlesnake Bomber Base—Old base, south of 1-20, was training base for thousands of B-17 and B-29 bombardment crews during World War II. General—The tiny community on U.S. 62/180 just south of the New Mexico state line was the location of a station on famous stagecoach run, Butterfield Overland Mail Route. Station was established in 1858; tumbled stone ruins and a granite historical marker are all that remain today.

Guadalupe Mountains National Park—Dedicated 1972, the park contains 86,416 acres with elevations ranging from 3,650 to 8,749 feet at the summit of Guadalupe Peak, highest point in Texas. Four of the state's highest peaks are in the park, as well as many other unnamed peaks over 8,000 feet, along with deep canyons and a rare mixture of plant and animal life. The barren, desert outer mountain slopes belie a wooded, game-rich interior of great scenic beauty. Forests of ponderosa pines mingle with aspens, maples, mountain junipers and madrones. Abundant deer and elk graze upland meadows.

Access to the park's rugged, majestic interior is by hiking and backpack camping along 80 miles of marked trails. The National Park Service advises that only experienced, well-equipped backpackers should enter the primitive back country for extended stays. Permits are required for overnight trips and camping is allowed in designated areas only. All should check in and out at the headquarters visitor center on U.S.62/180 near Pine Springs. A natural history museum is in the 1870s Frijole Ranch House. Wildlife exhibits, slide program, and bookstore are in visitor center.

Visitors may drive near mouth of McKittrick Canyon, where easy hiking trails lead into enchanting scenery (day use only). A geology exhibit and slide program are at the McKittrick Canyon Visitor Center.

Rich deposits of mercury were discovered here about 1900, and the mining town of Study Butte (Stew-dy Beaut) came into being around the Big Bend Cinnabar Mine, managed by Will Study. But fame and progress, elusive as the quicksilver itself, faded as the mine became less and less profitable and was closed in the early 1940s. Today a few families live among old stone and adobe structures. Visitors pause to absorb silent impressions of a colorful past, and occasional rockhounds search tailing heaps for fragments of cinnabar, agate, and other colorful rocks.

Mercury was discovered in 1890, and soon thriving city of almost 2,000 was devoting its energies to extracting the rich red ore (cinnabar) from beneath barren hills, Millions of dollars worth of quicksilver was marketed before the boom tapered off. The hundreds of wooden shacks are gone entirely; many rock and adobe buildings stand roofless, walls crumbling.

Some modern residents have come of late—leisure homes in the remote desert setting, a country store with grocery staples, souvenirs and mineral specimens, a few motel-type accommodations, a couple of restaurants, and the Terlingua Ranch Resort.

Once a year, on the first Sat. in Nov., some 5,000 "chiliheads" converge on the desolate area for the International Championship Chili Cookoffs. The first, started in 1967 as a contest both of wit and chili between humorists Wick Fowler and H. Allen Smith, has become a cherished Texas tradition. The other contest includes individuals and representatives from the Chili Appreciation Society International.

Winkler, a colonel in the Confederate Army, a member of the Texas legislature, and a justice of the Court of Civil Appeal, and for whom the county was named; however, the post office said there was already a Winkler and the name was shortened to Wink. For a rousing look at area wetlands, try an airboat ride that zips you through swamps lined with giant cypress trees draped in Spanish moss and teeming with bird life. Watch, too, for frogs, turtles—and alligators.

Journey south and you will note Texas 87's graceful Rainbow and Veterans Memorial bridges that span the Neches River on the route to Port Arthur. The 176-foot-high-clearance Rainbow Bridge, completed in 1938, was, then, the highest elevated highway bridge over tidal waters in the world.

In Port Arthur, you can laissez le bons temps rouler (let the good times roll), while celebrating the Cajun heritage of many of its citizens and enjoying tasty seafood specialties such as shrimp gumbo and crawfish etoufee.

Remember the rocking Sixties? You'll rekindle a bit of them in Port Arthur's Southeast Texas Musical Heritage Room at the Museum of the Gulf Coast. Here, an exhibit memorializes, among other musicians, the legendary Janis Joplin, a Port Arthur native. You can admire the psychedelic Porsche painted in kaleidoscopic patterns by the late rock star.

Nature takes the forefront at nearby Sea Rim State Park, where a boardwalk trail makes it easier to view coastal bird life and marshland vegetation. And history holds sway at Sabine Pass Battleground State Historical Park, which marks the site of an 1863 Union attempt to invade Texas during the Civil War.

Just up the road, Beaumont offers a chance to revisit the days of Spindletop, the first great Texas oil gusher. You can walk through the re-creation of the Spindletop/Gladys City Boomtown and relive the fever pitch of the 1901 discovery of oil. Wooden oil derricks, a saloon, livery stable, and other buildings help capture the era.

Museums here cover a surprising range of subjects, including art, steamboats, fire-fighting, and police work. While the Texas Energy Museum focuses on 19th Century discoveries of oil, the Edison Plaza Museum exhibits thousands of items owned, invented, or influenced by Thomas Edison, including prototype light bulbs, vintage hair dryers, movie cameras, and phonographs.

From Beaumont, head south toward the Gulf and you'll soon be driving along the pleasant ocean-washed stretch known as the Bolivar Peninsula. Here, resort communities such as Crystal Beach persuade you to tarry awhile and enjoy fishing, shelling, birding, and crabbing. On the peninsula, you can see the stately old Bolivar Lighthouse and, at Port Bolivar, you can drive aboard a Texas Department of Transportation ferry for a free 18-minute ride across a three-mile section of waterway to Galveston, the island once a strong-hold of the infamous pirate Jean Laffite.

No matter whether you arrive in Galveston by water, land, or air, you will find an island and a city overflowing with exciting entertainment and boasting a captivating history.

Beaches on the Gulf Coast

A horse-drawn carriage ride takes you through areas such as The Strand (a National Historic Landmark District), where you can visualize Galveston as a bustling 19th Century port and financial center. At the Texas Seaport Museum, recall the thrilling era of graceful sailing ships by touring the 19th Century Elissa, a square-rigged barkentine.

Numerous historic mansions and buildings grace the island's cityscape and bespeak its prosperous past. You can tour the opulent Bishop's Palace, built in the late 1800s and visit the Italianate magnificence of the 1859 Ashton Villa and the elegant Moody Mansion. At the artfully restored Grand 1894 Opera House, stage productions still enthrall audiences.

Don't miss Moody Gardens, 156 feature-packed acres that encompass the Aquarium, Rainforest, and Discovery pyramids, an IMAX® Theater, and Palm Beach, a freshwater swimming lagoon complete with white sand beach.

And, of course, Galveston Island lures anglers with deep sea, pier, bay, and surf fishing. Adding to the fun are 32 miles of beaches that beckon swimmers, surfers, strollers, and sunbathers, and a multitude of shops throughout the island that comprise a browser's paradise. Nightlife thrives here, too, particularly on Post Office Street, where the sound of live band music emanates from clubs and the savory scents of Italian, Greek, and Mexican cuisines tempt diners. Galveston serves up a hefty helping of goodies for everyone.

Between Galveston and Houston, Santa Fe as well as several communities that form the Clear Lake area. Among them, the Kemah Boardwalk in Kemah raises the fun level several notches with waterfront-themed restaurants, specialty shops, a water garden, and amusement rides. Also in Clear Lake, the immensely popular Space Center Houston launches you on intriguing journeys through the nation's space program. Here, you—and the kids—can drive a simulated lunar rover, command a shuttle, and man a space station.

Houston, Texas' largest city, is a happening place. What else would you expect from the number four city in the nation? Theatrical, musical, and dance productions captivate spectators in acclaimed venues such as the Wortham Center, the Jesse H. Jones Hall for the Performing Arts, and the Alley Theater. Art and antique collections abound in museums that present extraordinary ranges of paintings, sculptures, antiquities, and artifacts.

Shoppers delight in upscale stores like those in the Galleria, and find pleasure, too, in the shops and restaurants of the Houston Underground, a six-mile system of pedestrian tunnels that connect numerous buildings and several hotels. If you like to seek bargains midst a kitsch-y assortment of goods, visit Traders Village, the largest flea market on the Texas Gulf Coast.

For the kids, Adventure Bay water park, Six Flags AstroWorld, Six Flags WaterWorld, and the wonderfully hands-on exhibits of the Children's Museum of Houston provide hours of fun. And sports-minded visitors can whoop it up at professional football, basketball, hockey, and baseball games, while golfers and tennis buffs can pursue their favorite pastimes at dozens of courses and courts.

In the mood for something different? To experience sights and sounds a tad unusual, visit the whimsically decorated vehicles at the ArtCar Museum, or the gewgaws and naive art in the labyrinths of the Orange Show. At the Houston Museum of Natural Science, view the Sams Collection, an assortment of 600 gems and minerals whose glitter rivals London's Crown Jewels. Here, too, you can enjoy the tropical environs of the Cockrell Butterfly Center, where beauteous butterflies flitter about in colorful abandon.

After you sample the impressive attractions that Houston offers, you can pursue equally interesting adventures in the small towns around the city.

Spend some reflective moments at San Jacinto, one of the most hallowed spots in Texas. Here, just east of Houston, the 570-foot-tall San Jacinto Monument marks the site where Sam Houston and his troops wrested Texas independence from Mexico by routing the larger forces of the Mexican Army under Santa Anna. Within the same park, the Battleship Texas, which served in World Wars I and II, rests at permanent mooring in the Houston Ship Channel.

North of Houston, the restored early 1900s railroad village of Old Town Spring in the city of Spring tempts travelers with an array of restaurants and shops featuring arts, crafts, and antiques. Also at Spring, you can explore the Jesse H. Jones Park and Nature Center and the Mercer Arboretum and Botanical Gardens, then whisk the kids over to SplashTown Waterpark, where rides and slides rule. If you thrill at the thought of piloting a combat plane, try it here at Texas Air Aces. During this adventure, you fly in the front seat of an aircraft and blast targets with a laser gun while an instructor supervises from the rear seat. Bam!

At Hempstead, Liendo Plantation provides monthly tours of one of Texas' earliest cotton plantations, once home to famed sculptress Elisabet Ney, while the George Ranch Historical Park near Rosenberg offers historic 19th Century buildings and cowboys who work cattle at a 1930s-style ranch.

Reward yourself at Katy with an amazing side-trip to the Orient. Here, the breathtaking grandeur of China's Forbidden City at Beijing rises in miniature at Forbidden Gardens, a 40-acre outdoor museum. Fascinating displays chronicle China's history and include a one-third scale replica of the 3rd Century terra-cotta warriors that stand 6,000 strong near the tomb of China's first emperor at Xian.

Hugging the coastal region south of Houston, the Brazosport Area envelops towns such as Clute, West Columbia, Angleton, Freeport, Lake Jackson, and Surfside Beach, and provides beaches, parks, and museums aplenty for leisurely touring. In particular, Varner-Hogg Plantation State Historic Site provides an engaging look at an 1830s Greek Revival plantation filled with period furnishings and artifacts.

CENTRAL COAST

Head southwest from the Beaumont-Houston-Galveston triangle and you will soon enter the broad vistas of the Gulf plains. Small communities abound and most offer ample pastimes for visitors. The towns that rim the Gulf quite naturally center their attractions on waterfront activities, while cities toward the interior, such as Danevang, Victoria, Refugio, and Kingsville spotlight their histories of oil production, farming, and ranching.

Texas State Aquarium in Corpus Christi

In addition to two fine museums, Victoria offers 400-acre Riverside Park and the Texas Zoo, where native Texas species, such as javelinas, red wolves, and armadillos, roam areas that replicate their natural environment. In Port Lavaca, take a look at the hexagonal Halfmoon Reef Lighthouse, (originally established in 1858 in Matagorda Bay), then head over to Port Lavaca Causeway State Park for a fun day of saltwater fishing from the 3,202-foot-long pier.

Along the Texas coast, fishermen tend to stake out a tried-and-true destination and return season after season. One such favorite is Port O'Connor. From this small village, you can fish the bays, jetties, and deep waters of the Gulf for redfish, flounder, whiting, red snapper, kingfish, and ling, as well as scrappy sailfish, marlin, and tarpon. And, for a back-to-nature camping experience bar none, try the primitive sites on Matagorda Island State Park, accessible from Port O'Connor by boat or ferry. On the island, the stark silhouette of the long abandoned Matagorda Island Lighthouse rises in the middle of the park, on the northern end of the island. Take your mountain bike and wheel around the island free from traffic woes; no cars allowed.

Farther south along Texas 35, the bayside towns of Rockport and Fulton attract birders, fishermen, and artists alike. Together, the just-about-joined-atthe-hip communities offer abundant water sports, excellent arts-and-crafts shopping, and idyllic over-the-ocean sunsets. Here, too, you can visit the ornate and impressive 1876 Fulton Mansion and the Texas Maritime Museum, where exhibits illustrate Texas' coastal heritage. Birders flock to the area to view hundreds of species and to catch glimpses of the endangered whooping cranes that winter in nearby Aransas National Wildlife Refuge. In mid-September, you can observe swarms of migrating hummingbirds hovering at feeders throughout town.

Continue south along Texas 35 and visit Aransas Pass, home to numerous sport-fishing opportunities as well as a hardworking—and picturesque—shrimp fleet. Then, drive aboard the free ferry for about a five-minute ride to Port Aransas, where you will find a quintessential coastal resort town offering fishing, birding, shelling, and beach activities. Here, too, you'll relish good restaurants and shops aplenty, as well as numerous camping sites and a host of hotels, motels, and rentable condominiums. And, if you like to tempt lady luck, you can set sail on a twice-daily cruise that offers games of chance.

The largest Texas city south of San Antonio, Corpus Christi proves one of the most attractive as well. Visitors enjoy its pleasant palm-lined boulevards, balmy climate, distinctive "T" head docks, and harmonic blend of Texan and Mexican cultures. In the cuisine arena, seafood rivals TexMex, while Greek, Italian, and Southwestern specialties find their niche, too.

Schlitterbahn® Beach Waterpark on South Padre Island

The Gulf of Mexico and its sealife come alive in the stunning exhibits at the Texas State Aquarium, which houses more than 250 species of marine life. Don't miss ooohing and awwwing at the frisky seahorses, water turtles, and

The city is awash in interesting museums. At the Corpus Christi Museum of Science and History, you can even board an exact scale replica of Christopher Columbus's ships Pinta and Santa Maria. And, in Corpus Christi Bay, the USS Lexington, a vintage wartime aircraft carrier, houses a floating naval museum that displays restored aircraft, antiaircraft guns used during World War II, and now it even boasts an IMAX theater inside its hull.

Corpus Christi provides living vignettes of nature at her most interesting. If you share a fascination with dolphins, check out "Dolphin Connection," which takes you by boat to rendezvous with the gentle, neighborly creatures in Corpus Christi Bay. At the Corpus Christi Botanical Gardens, you can view exotic flora in the Orchid House, then wander through rose and hibiscus gardens.

Corpus Christi also serves as the gateway to Padre Island National Seashore, an 80-mile section of Padre Island that provides pristine stretches of Gulf-washed beaches and unparalleled opportunities for sea, surf, and sand activities.

Be sure to tour Kingsville, where ranching "reins" supreme, with visits to the King Ranch, the King Ranch Museum, the King Ranch Saddle Shop, and the Joe E. Conner Museum.

LOWER COAST

Wend your way along U.S. 77 toward the southern tip of Texas and its Rio Grande border with Mexico. Here's your chance to enjoy solitude, for you will drive about 50 miles-from Sarita to Raymondville-with nary a sizable community in sight. Near Raymondville, you enter a region rich in agricultural bounty, where a lengthy growing season means an almost year-round harvest of products such as peas, carrots, spinach, cabbage, oranges, grapefruits, sugar cane, grain, and cotton.

If fishing tops your to-do list, head eastward from Raymondville toward Port Mansfield. This popular outpost of saltwater sports gives you access to the lower Laguna Madre, where the shallow waters shelter game such as redfish and sea trout.

At Harlingen, stop by the hospitable Texas Travel Information Center for expert advice about interesting sites. The city offers many treats for visitors, including the majestic Iwo Jima Monument, the original working model for the statue in Washington, D.C.

For a fun shopping excursion, browse the bountiful shops of the Jackson Street District, where storefronts and streetlights reprise the 1920s. Golfers relish the city's challenging courses, and baseball fans delight in watching games played by the area's minor league team, the Rio Grande Valley White Wings.

From its waterside perch on the lower end of Laguna Madre, Port Isabel provides a fine base for anglers and serves as a link to South Padre Island, reached by the 2.6-mile-long Queen Isabella Causeway. At Port Isabel Lighthouse State Historic Site, climb the spiral staircase of the picturesque lighthouse and look to the east, where you will glimpse the sandy splendor of Padre Island.

A beach-lover's utopia, South Padre Island offers numerous resort hotels, dozens of restaurants, RV parks, and camping areas. Activities include snorkeling, diving, fishing, boating, biking, and riding horses along the beach. In season, Schlitterbahn Beach Waterpark lures kids and grownups alike with fantastic water rides and slides.

Brownsville, the Lone Star State's southernmost city, brings its own cultural grace and beauty to the tip of Texas. Here, you will find a serendipitous mixture of museums, historical sites, and nature preserves.

Among Brownsville's many treats for the visitor, the Gladys Porter Zoo proves a standout. A zoological and botanical preserve set amidst lush tropical foliage, the zoo provides a special look at more than 1,500 animals representing some 400 species from all over the world.

You will find an abundance of historical sites in the Brownsville area as well. Buildings from old Fort Brown, established in 1846 during the Mexican-American War, now house facilities for Texas Southmost College. North of the city, Palo Alto Battlefield National Historic Site marks the 1846 artillery duel between U.S. troops and Mexican forces that began the Mexican War, and a historical marker east of Brownsville cites Palmito Ranch Battlefield, the last land engagement of the Civil War.

For an exciting introduction to Mexico, cross the Rio Grande and visit Brownsville's sister city, Matamoros, with its festive assortment of shopping, restaurants, and nightclubs.

Then, return to Texas and coast on over to the dunes and the beaches of the Gulf.

Inhale the tang of the salty sea breeze. Stroll the surf and feel the ocean's warm waters tug gently at your toes. Revel in the mighty roar of the powerful waters. Nothing in the world quite compares.

INDIANOLA

Pop. 125 (est.)

Map T-19

General—From what she was, she's the biggest ghost of them all, but not to the eye. At the terminus of Texas 316 south of Port Lavaca, all is clean tranquillity—a deception. Sea and desert have defeated many towns. The sea is more ruthless—implacable until every trace is scoured away, until all is virgin sand where the footprints of men apparently never trod.

The prints of 6,000 and more did tread here, when concrete and stout-timbered structures lined what was considered the finest harbor on the Gulf of Mexico. Piers thrust into the bay for half a mile, funneling rich cargoes to and from great ships. In the 1840s German colonists landed, led by Prince Carl of Solms-Braunfels (see NEW BRAUNFELS). In the 1850s an army depot supplied the frontier forts of all Texas. Here two shiploads of Arabian camels landed, beginning that imaginative experiment of Jefferson Davis. Warehouses stored ice, winter-cut on the Great Lakes, prized during Texas summers.

The bustling, prosperous town survived shelling, capture and recapture during the Civil War, yellow fever epidemics, and a storm thought severe in 1866. But all were only prelude to Sept. 17, 1875. The sea that had created and nourished Indianola rose in monstrous salty gray hummocks, lashed by shrieking winds—hurricane! Nine hundred perished, and three-fourths of the city lay in matchbox shambles. Disaster on an unimagined scale.

But Indianola was too prosperous, too vital to quit because of one freak tragedy. Larger warehouses were raised; new piers of heavier pilings sprouted. Eleven years passed before a brutal fact was driven home: that earlier black September was no freak. An even more savage storm sounded the city's death knell.

Indianola was literally gone. Even wreckage was scarce. The few citizens who somehow survived did not return. The county seat, in name, was moved to Port Lavaca for there was really nothing left to move.

Today the tide laps at a few stones of the courthouse foundation. Inches above the smooth sand, outlines of a few shattered concrete cisterns remain. Some fishermen's homes have come of late, and the state has erected an historical marker.

One thing more, appropriately: a solitary rose granite statue of Rene Robert Cavelier, Sieur de la Salle. The French explorer was first to leave a bootprint on the sands of Indianola more than 300 years ago. Today his stone likeness surveys the same featureless, unmarked sands.

General—First settled in 1872, the town square was laid out in 1895. The city was named for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad. William Eule introduced rice farming to the dry-land farmers in 1901, and rice replaced cotton, peanuts, and corn. Today, Katy is still renowned as a rail and rice farming center and is also known for one of the largest gas fields in the state. Katy's city limits are in three counties—Harris, Waller, and Fort Bend. Proximity to Houston provides the city with all the benefits inherent to a big city, yet allows residents to enjoy the community life of a small hometown. Numerous parks provide recreational opportunities throughout the city.

The Katy Heritage Society restored the old MKT Depot and is open by appointment only.

Hill, an early land owner, formed a company to develop a canal system which would use the Rio Grande River to irrigate land for farming. Railroad construction in the early 1900s began to bring settlers to the area, and by 1915 a post office was established. Because of the fertile, irrigated land, farm products increased and with the long growing season in the Valley, farming flourished. Today the city is still surrounded by fertile farm/ranch land. General - Located on a salt dome in Chambers County, the community was established in 1849 known as Barbers Hill. Postal authorities suggested a name change to Mont Belvieu to avoid confusion with other offices of similar names. The community lay quietly as a center for farming and cattle-raising until oil was discovered in 1916. Though this early discovery was of limited dimensions, land lease speculators quickly grabbed up leases, buying and selling at a frenzy. In 1926, wildcatter Mills Bennett tapped into the first gusher production. The salt-dome storage capabilities were initiated in the 1950s and expanded. Today products processed through the grand underground caverns are shipped worldwide, providing the life-blood for nearly all of the petrochemical industry. On I-10, the city is closely tied to the Houston-Baytown area. Mont Belvieu-Barbers Hill Museum-Located in the city complex and built around a topographical exhibit depicting Barbers Hill as it might have been in the 1920s and 1930s. As with other Gulf Coast refuges in the state, tremendous concentrations of waterfowl are seen as well as a great variety — more than 60,000 snow geese (along with white-fronted and Canada geese) use the marsh; 23 species of ducks are represented and the number on the refuges reaches 100,000. The mottled duck, the only resident waterfowl species, uses the marsh for its summer nesting habitat. The McFaddin Refuge contains one of the densest populations of American alligators in Texas. Public activities include wildlife observation, photography, waterfowl hunting, fishing and crabbing. For directions and information contact refuge headquarters in Anahuac at 409/267-3337 or write PO Box 278, Anahuac, TX 77514; or visit McFaddin Refuge office on Shell Oil Company road off Texas 87.

port. They built wharves, docks and turning basin; laid out townsite, and called it Port Mansfield. Ship channel completed 1962, slicing across shallow Laguna Madre, through Padre Island into deep waters of Gulf of Mexico.

Port Mansfield's surrounding salt flats and small spoil islands support an amazing variety of resident and migratory birds. The nearby Laguna Madre area is well-known among bird watchers.

Matagorda Island State Park and Wildlife Management Area-For several years, beginning in 1942, a portion of Matagorda Island was used for practice bombing by the U.S. Air Force. Now, as a state park, the 7,325-acre area has largely returned to its natural state as a haven for migratory water fowl and deer. The park is seven miles south of Port O'Connor, separated from the mainland by Espirito Santo and San Antonio Bays. Facilities include primitive beach campsites, dockside campsites, pit toilets and outdoor showers. Picnicking, camping, fishing, boating, swimming, beachcombing, and nature study. General—City is know as the "Resaca City." A picturesque resaca, 400 feet wide, flows through the city, serving as the main canal of a large irrigation system. Only 8 miles from the Mexican border, city was first named Diaz, for Mexico's president, because the people of the area were predominantly of Mexican ancestry. Anglo settlers didn't arrive until 1906, after the completion of the first irrigation system. Prior to this, the region was an arid, mesquite-cactus-brush covered wilderness. As a result of irrigation, the city, as well as all of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, developed an extensive agribusiness. The mild winter climate allows crops to grow year round, not to mention the colorful flowers and native trees. A birder's paradise!

HILL COUNTRY

aybe it's the serene valleys tucked between rolling, cedar-studded hills....or the abundant indigo and scarlet wildflowers of spring. Perhaps it's the cypress trees that line meandering riverbanks....or the friendly small towns where time ticks at a slower tock. Then, again, it could be the siren song of Austin's musical melting-pot. Whatever the appeal, the Texas Hill Country captivates fans the world over.

Geographically—and nostalgically—speaking, the region encompasses the heart of Texas, with terrain that varies from hilly to undulating to downright flat. Defined on the east and south by the Balcones Escarpment and bordered on the west and north by plains and prairies, the area incorporates both the geographical center of the state, at Brady, and the governmental core, in the capital city of Austin.

Drive from the Hill Country's eastern edge at Austin to its western limit at the Pecos River, and you will travel about 270 miles. Start from the town of Goldthwaite on the north, slice southward through the region's center to Uvalde, and you will cover some 220 miles. Whatever direction you take in this roughly rectangular section of the state, you can count on seeing some of Texas' most scenic vistas.

While fabled hills, clear-running rivers, spacious parks, hike-and-bike trails, and a wealth of lakes feed your fresh-air fantasies, you will find that the Texas hills are intellectually alive as well—with fascinating museums, thrilling theatrical performances, and numerous historical sites.

If you appreciate good wines, there are vineyards and wineries galore to explore, while the shopper in you will relish the multitude of arts-and-crafts shops in the heart of the hills and the clusters of factory-direct discount stores along Interstate 35. Sportsminded? You can exercise to your heart's content at golf, tennis, swimming, biking, and hiking. Or, you can find a flat rock on a pretty hilltop and just sit and ponder.

Your sojourn in the Hill Country can be as active or relaxing, as up-scale or rustic as you choose. And, if you decide to sample "all of the above," you have come to the right place!

Detailed information about each site appears following this introduction.

EASTERN RIM

Begin your excursion to the Texas Hill Country in capital fashion. Visit the dynamic city of Austin, where hills and lakes offset high-rise buildings, and hike and bike trails provide a haven from the rush of busy thoroughfares.

Austin offers topnotch lodging, renowned restaurants, and shopping that ranges from lavish to low-cost. Nightlife thrives, especially in the cache of clubs that line East Sixth and other downtown streets. Visit during Halloween, and you can watch—or join—throngs of costumed cavorters haunting Sixth Street.

If you yearn to learn about Texas, its glories and its eccentricities, visit the Bob Bullock Texas State History Museum near the impressive state capitol. This marvelous museum (the brainchild of the late Texas lieutenant governor, Bob Bullock) engagingly encapsulates and interprets the essence of Texas culture, geography, industries, peoples, and personalities. Exhibits include the original "Goddess of Liberty" that stood atop the capitol and an AT-6 Texan airplane made in a Texas factory.

Though it costs a little extra, don't miss viewing the museum's The Story of Texas. This multimedia production chronicles the state's history with powerful images, thundering sound, and sensory surprises (among other sensations, you feel the ground shake as oil bursts from a derrick).

Austin, which bills itself as the "Live Music Capital of the World," regularly orchestrates a full range of concerts, club gigs, and impromptu performances. Chances are, you can choose from venues that feature country/western, rock, Tejano, jazz, classical, and gospel—whatever fits your musical fancy.

As you tour Austin, take time to explore two sites bearing the LBJ initials. The Lyndon B. Johnson Library and Museum displays memorabilia, photographs, and films that illustrate LBJ's presidency (1963-1969). Exhibits include a moon rock and a seven-eighths scale replica of the Oval Office in the White House. On the southern edge of the city, the Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center focuses on educating people throughout the world about native wildflowers and natural vegetation, a project close to the heart of the former first lady. The spacious and attractive facilities offer exhibits, garden displays, and walking trails on some 42 acres of native flowers and grasses.

Perhaps one of Austin's most unusual attractions centers around the Congress Avenue Bridge across Town Lake. On spring and summer evenings (late summer seems the best viewing time), about 1.5 million bats thrill hundreds of onlookers by exiting their roosts on the underside of the bridge and swirling column by column into the darkening skies.

To enjoy a different kind of bat-mania—as in baseball bat—head to Round Rock, just north of Austin, where you can watch the Round Rock Express (a team whose owners include pitching great Nolan Ryan and his son Reid Ryan) battle others in the AA Texas League. At nearby Georgetown, you can visit the intriguing underground cave (no bats included) of Inner Space Cavern.

Follow Interstate 35 south through Austin to San Marcos, home of attractive parks, historic buildings, [a house peopled with thousands of dolls,] and an airport hangar bursting with vintage World War II aircraft. You can stroll the lush grounds of Aquarena Center and board a glass-bottom boat on Spring Lake for an underwater view of the bubbling springs that produce up to 150 million gallons of water a day. South of town, you can shop for bargains in the dozens of stores that form Texas' largest factory outlet complex.

A short drive west on R.M. 12 takes you into the hills to Wimberley, a scenic resort town where art galleries, quaint shops and swimming holes vie for your attention.

Back along I-35, south of San Marcos, lies New Braunfels, a bustling town with a proud German heritage. You can swim away an exuberant warm-weather day here at popular Schlitterbahn, the state's largest water park, and at spacious city-owned Landa Park, with its spring-fed, short-but-sweet Comal River (great for tubing).

To gain insight into the town's founding and settlement by German immigrants, visit the intriguing Sophienburg Museum and tour the historic buildings in Conservation Plaza.

Spend an hour or a day at New Braunfels' historic district of Gruene (pronounced "green"), a captivating village replete with antique stores, arts and crafts shops, restaurants, and Gruene Hall, which claims to be "the oldest dance hall in Texas." Sit a spell and sip a long-neck (beer in the bottle).

At Gruene and New Braunfels during warm weather months, you can rent inner tubes and float the cool, clear waters of the Guadalupe River as it courses southward. For an incomparable look at the scenic river, lined with majestic cypress and oak trees, drive westward along the River Road that wanders from New Braunfels to Sattler.

Castroville, southwest of New Braunfels and west of San Antonio, blends yet another European ancestry into the Texas cultural mix. Known as "The Little Alsace of Texas," the town preserves its distinctive Alsatian ancestry in sites such as the Landmark Inn, a state historic structure, where overnight guests enjoy ceiling fans and rocking chairs, but no television. An old gristmill and other historic structures enhance the inn's grounds.

CENTRAL

Some of the region's most scenic and varied terrain lies within the central segment of the Hill Country. Here, you can treat yourself to outdoor adventures with a real Texas flair. Water ski on a massive reservoir one day, then saddle up and ride horseback into the hills the next.

Bandera, about 65 miles west of New Braunfels, ropes you in gently, but firmly, with a whole passel of Western-style pastimes. In fact, if you've ever hankered to experience the "Old West," you've come to the right place. Here, dude ranches introduce you to cow-puncher pleasures such as roundups and rodeos, cowboy breakfasts and chuckwagon dinners, and hayrides and trail rides. Even if you've never so much as seen a horse before, you won't stay a dude for long in Bandera.

Visit the town's Frontier Times Museum with its many Western and Indian artifacts, then spend the evening kicking up your boot-heels to the strains of catchy country-western tunes at a local honky-tonk.

Blessed with a mild climate and panoramic vistas, Kerrville boasts a variety of lodgings, including resorts and bed and breakfast accommodations. It is also home National Center for American Western Art (formerly the Cowboy Artists of America Museum) and to James Avery Craftsman, a renowned designer of silver and gold jewelry. If you roll into Kerrville around Memorial Day you'll have lots of company. During that time the town hosts thousands of folks attending the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair and the Kerrville Folk Festival.

Head west to Ingram, which offers "Old Ingram," an area of art studios, galleries, antique shops, and restaurants. Then, follow Texas 27 and Texas 39 about six-and-one-half miles west to Hunt and two miles along F.M. 1340. Don't blink. That startling scene before you does not mean you've been transported to Salisbury Plain in England. What you see is Stonehenge II, an eye-popping replica of those marvelous megaliths of Great Britain.

Meander northward from the Kerrville area through the hills to Fredericksburg, a charming town that was settled by German immigrant families in 1846. Fredericksburg brims with bonuses for visitors, including some 300 bed and breakfast and guest house lodgings, shops galore (how about a jar of preserves made from local peaches?) and abundant eateries that often feature tasty German food and delicious breads and pastries. During harvest season, many orchards in this peach-growing center invite you to pick your own-for a price, of course.

The town's strong German heritage plays a role in several popular annual events, especially Oktoberfest in the fall and Kinderfest and Weihnacten during the Yuletide season.

For an insightful look at the part played by the United States Navy and by native son Admiral Chester W. Nimitz in the Pacific during World War II. explore the National Museum of the Pacific War, with life-size and lifelike exhibits that include Allied and Japanese aircraft, tanks, and guns. Then, for a change of pace, tour the peaceful, aromatic gardens at Fredericksburg Herb Farm. Be sure, too, to visit the Wildseed Farms a few miles east, where fields blaze with vivid floral blooms in springtime and you can buy a wildflower seed mixture for your own patch of the planet in any season.

Horseback riders cross Medina River near Bandera

Do you remember the Willie Nelson-Waylon Jennings country classic, "Luckenbach Texas," from 1978? Well, the song memorializes a tiny hamlet southeast of Fredericksburg. Here sits Luckenbach, with its rustic beer tavern and rural dance hall. Sunday afternoons you might find banjo pickers, guitar pluckers, and fiddle players and singers aplenty performing an impromptu concert.

As you travel from Fredericksburg to Johnson City, you're in LBJ country. Here, on land alongside the Pedernales River, the late president was born, spent his early years, and returned as often as he could during his decades of public service. He died at his ranch in 1973.

National and state parks at Stonewall mark the site of the LBJ Ranch, once known as the "Texas White House," as well as LBJ's birthplace and his grave in the small family cemetery. (Be sure to take the National Park Service bus tour of the ranch.) LBJ State Park and Historic Site encompasses a comprehensive visitor center and the Sauer-Beckmann Farmstead, where costumed interpreters demonstrate rural Texas life in the early 1900s. At nearby Johnson City, the National Park Service also maintains the LBJ Boyhood Home.

In the spring, few areas of Texas prove quite so "flora-fied" as this section of the Hill Country, especially around Marble Falls, Llano, and Burnet. Most years, hosts of vibrant bluebonnets, red Indian paintbrushes, and golden coreopsis blanket roadsides and weave trails beside granite outcroppings along highways such as Texas 29 from Llano to Burnet, F.M. 1431 from Marble Falls through Kingsland, and a stretch of county road near Willow City.

Marble Falls also provides a view of Granite Mountain, the source for the stunning red and pink granite used in the construction of the state capitol. A few miles to the north, Burnet harbors an air museum, where World War II aircraft and memorabilia form interesting exhibits. The town serves as the western terminus for the steam-engine-driven Hill Country Flyer excursion train, a two-hour ride from Cedar Park near Austin.

Both Marble Falls and Burnet are great starting points for any visit to the Highland Lakes, a chain of six impoundments that begin with Lake Buchanan on the north and stairstep along the Colorado River southward to Austin. Each lake offers its own special characteristics, but all provide wonderful fishing and boating. Canyon of the Eagles on Lake Buchanan serves as home port to the Vanishing Texas River Cruise, an ecological tour that affords guests a view of rugged cliffs and canyons along the Colorado River and, November through March, possible sightings of the American Bald Eagles that winter here.

Two state parks in the area, Inks Lake and Colorado Bend, prove popular with campers, fishermen, and seekers of splendid scenery. In Colorado Bend State Park, time your stay so that you can join a weekend tour to lovely Gorman Falls, its rivulets sparkling midst ferns and moss-kissed cliffs.

To the west, Llano offers several city and county parks, as well as lodging in two historic inns, the Badu House and Dabbs Railroad Hotel. A short drive south takes you to Enchanted Rock State Park, where you can marvel at an immense, 500-foot-high dome of solid granite once revered by Indians and always admired by all.

Hunters particularly prize the area around Llano and nearby Mason, famed for its abundance of white-tailed deer and wild turkeys. North of Mason, the town of Brady is also a favorite of hunters and holds the distinction of being near the geographical center of Texas.

WESTERN EDGE

The western Hill Country's inner reaches shelter canyons carved by the Frio and Nucces rivers, limestone cliffs that gleam in the sun, and hills crowned by massive trees whose leaves glow crimson and amber in the fall. Cattle, sheep, and goats range over thousands of ranch acres, and one of the most beautiful caverns in the world lies near Sonora.

Here, too, you see traces of the Old West. Menard, west of Mason, served as a stop along the old cattle trails of the late 1800s. Today, a park on the San Saba River marks the site of the old livestock crossing. The town celebrates its western heritage each June with Jim Bowie Days and the musical drama Song of Silver, staged in a natural amphitheater.

Travel west toward Eldorado and you know you're in wool and mohair country. Stop for a shopping spree at the Eldorado Woolen Mill, which weaves fabrics from virgin wool and mohair produced on Texas ranches. West of Eldorado, Ozona markets more than two million pounds of wool annually, making the area one of the top wool producers in the nation.

From Ozona, turn eastward toward Sonora and the fabulous Caverns of Sonora, where crystalline formations adorn ceilings, walls, and floors. Each summer, Sonora's Covered Wagon Dinner Theater presents performances that recall the area's early days.

About an hour's drive to the east, Junction, too, is a major player in wool and mohair production and is the county seat of Kimble County, which boasts more flowing streams than any other Texas county. The area offers good fishing and seasonal hunting for deer, wild turkey, and other game birds.

South of Junction, as you drive to Rocksprings, Camp Wood, Leakey, and Vanderpool, you are surrounded by some seriously stunning scenery. Rocksprings, with an elevation of 2,450 feet, is in the highest area of the Edwards Plateau. The region boasts cool, dry summers, and mild, sunny winters, making it a great destination for camping, picnicking, hiking, rock collecting, hunting, and fishing.

Vanderpool, on the Sabinal River, is a gateway to Lost Maples State Natural Area, where big-tooth maples enrapture visitors each fall with a leafy extravaganza of radiant red and gold. The park also offers 11 miles of hiking and backpacking trails, enhanced by some 350 plant species, abundant birdlife, and three state champion trees.

Near Concan, 1,420-acre Garner State Park borders the clear, chilly Frio River (frio is Spanish for cold). An immensely popular park, Garner provides stone and timber cabins, shaded campsites, with swimming and miniature golf in the summer, fishing, boating, hiking and nature study. South of the park, at a vantage point on F.M. 2690, you can watch the sunset flight of millions of bats as they emerge from a nearby cave. Nature puts on amazing shows in these magnificent hills.

Uvalde and Brackettville anchor the Hill Country's southern rim. In Uvalde, the Garner Memorial Museum, once home of John "Cactus Jack" Garner, honors the former congressman and vice president under Franklin D. Roosevelt, while the Briscoe Art and Antique Collection provides a look at works by artists including Rembrandt, Gainsborough, Melvin Warren, and Porfirio Salinas Jr.

Brackettville, to the west, bids you linger at Fort Clark Springs resort, complete with 18-hole golf course and spring-fed swimming pool. Fort Clark, established in 1852 and deactivated in 1944, once served as headquarters for military luminaries such as Ranald S. Mackenzie, George Marshall, Jonathan Wainwright, and George S. Patton Jr.

Once upon a time, nearby Alamo Village was the movie set for John Wayne's 1959 film, The Alamo. Complete with an adobe replica of the real Alamo, the site now hosts visitors at Old West-style buildings that include a cantina, trading post, and old-time jail. Sometimes "desperadoes" shoot it out with the "sheriff." The good guys always win.

So, there's your quick tour of the Texas Hill Country, just a small sampling of the treats that await. Whether you seek a return to the adventurous Old West, a restful sojourn amidst glorious scenery, or the warm welcome of a friendly town, when you "head for the hills" in Texas, you'll find a spot meant just for you.

General — The city was formally established on April 1, 1881, when Mrs. Cornelia Trimble donated land for a townsite at an International-Great Northland Railroad depot there. The area had earlier been settled as part of a Mexican land grant. Common explanation for name is that it derives from the Spanish word, viuda, meaning widow. The town had gathered a reputation as a popular eating stop for rail travelers and the name may refer to a pair of widows who cooked at the establishment in the late 1800s. Only 17 miles from Austin on I-35, the town's growth has paralleled Austin's growth since the 1980s. Many original buildings along Main St. now house antique shops and related businesses, including a popular Farmers Market (May - Nov.).

General—Like many towns and cities in Texas, Cedar Park was originally settled in the late 1800s and owed much of its past growth to the development of the railroad. In 1881 a narrow gage railroad running through Cedar Park, connecting Austin to Burnet, was used to haul granite for rebuilding the state capitol and establishing Cedar Park as a permanent settlement under the name of Brueggerhoff, taking its new name from one of the railroad company officials. The community was also known as Running Brushy after a heavy-flowing spring.

In 1973, a prehistoric archeological site six miles east of the city was discovered by the Texas Department of Transportation as they were excavating for the expansion of F.M. 1431. More than 150 fireplaces and campsites were uncovered and in 1982, archeologists discovered the skeleton of a human female, 10,000 - 13,000 years old, that became known as the "Leanderthal Lady." The significant archeological find is located by a historical marker.

The city voted to incorporate in 1973. Growth has paralleled Austin's growth to the northwest along U.S. 183.

Hiking, rock climbing and rappelling, picnicking, primitive camping in designated areas (reservations accepted). Note: Because of its popularity, the number of daily visitors is being limited. The park is experiencing erosion problems, soil compacting, and tree loss due to root exposure caused by the thousands of visitors in the park. Therefore, visitation is being limited to protect the natural and cultural resources. Once the park reaches capacity during heavy use periods, such as weekends, holidays, and spring break, it will temporarily close for the day and reopen at 5 p.m. for those who have camping reservations. General—Settled in 1850 by German pioneers, the tiny hamlet remained obscure until bought in the 1970s by the late Hondo Crouch, Hill Country humorist, writer, and authentic Texas character. An enormously popular country-western song made the name known virtually worldwide.

Luckenbach remains as it was—one unpainted general store that also serves as a beer tavern, a traditional rural dance hall, and a sometimes-used blacksmith shop. Sunday afternoons are often spontaneous "happenings." Banjo pickers, guitar strummers, and fiddlers form impromptu groups beneath huge old live oaks. Whittlers ply their leisurely craft, and washer pitchers exercise deceptively simple skills.

Luckenbach's bemusing ambiance, according to one writer, "is like Brigadoon; you're almost afraid to go back because it might not be there again."

It's there—east of Fredericksburg off U.S. 290, five miles south just off F.M. 1376. Don't count on signs; souvenir thieves swipe them as fast as they can be placed.

General — In 1851, William Lindsey, Gen. Edward Burleson and Eli T. Merriman bought the Juan Vermendi tract of land along the river and laid out the townsite. Legend says Franciscan Monks paddling up the Guadalupe River discovered a clear river with large springs at its source and name the river San Marcos because the discovery was made on St. Mark's day. Gen. Burleson followed a bill through the legislature establishing Hays County in 1848 and San Marcos was designated county seat. The town was also a resting point in a three-day stagecoach trip from Austin to San Antonio. San Marcos has evolved from a gristmill, sawmill, and cotton farming town into a modern city.

The clear, cold San Marcos River rises from mammoth springs within town; noted for profusion of both plant and animal aquatic life, river is ranked among world's most fertile. White-tailed deer are numerous in Hill Country and fishing is enjoyed year round in the San Marcos and nearby Blanco Rivers.

The city is home to San Marcos Baptist Academy and the alma mater of Lyndon B. Johnson, Southwest Texas State Univ., whose campus commands an impressive view of city.

The historic downtown, listed in the National Register of Historic Places, features a quaint marketplace with art, gift shops and unique restaurants. General — Town received its name (from early settler L.B. Vanderpool) when a post office was granted in 1885. On the Sabinal River in the exceptionally scenic Hill Country of western Bandera County. Largely utilized for sheep, goat and cattle ranching, area is a favorite of deer hunters during season, and year-round gateway to popular Lost Maples State Natural Area.

Lost Maples State Natural Area—While they aren't really "lost," the bigtooth maples for which the park is named are very selective in their habitat. Widely scattered over several western states and northern Mexico, this maple thrives only in small, protected pockets in mountainous regions where temperature and humidity are moderate, where moisture is retained, and solar radiation is minimal. Because of their shallow roots, the trees are susceptible to damage by soil compaction and visitors are cautioned to stay on prescribed paths to ensure continued vigor of the maple stands. Fall color is usually at its peak in early Nov. (Note: Usually crowded in autumn when fall foliage at peak; it's recommended to see scenery during weekdays. Reservations needed this time of year for overnight stays. Also, nature sometimes plays tricks and autumn colors don't always attain usual brilliance. For information call 830/966-3413.) For reservations, call 512/389-8900.

Other vegetation in the scenic Hill Country park includes more than 90 plant families with some 350 species recorded. Bird life is also abundant, including the rare golden-cheeked warbler. Of many mammal species in the park, native white-tailed deer are most numerous.

Park facilities include campsites with water and electricity, picnic areas, rest rooms, showers, and primitive camp areas reached by almost 11 miles of hiking and backpacking trails.

Three trees are State Champion Big Trees—an escarpment chokecherry, a Texas ash, and a Bigtooth maple. The chokecherry and Texas ash have been nominated to the American Forestry Assn. Big Tree program for consideration as national champs. Park is four mi. north on R.M. 187. Admission.

Scenic Drives—While the Hill Country is laced with scenic drives, the east-and-west route of F.M. 337 is unquestionably among the most spectacular—massive wooded steeps enfolding tiny, secluded valleys—beautiful! Remember to take your camera.

F.M. 187 north of Vanderpool climbs to the surface of the Edwards Plateau (2,300 ft.) as it joins Texas 39. Sinkholes, porous basins that feed rainwater into the deep Edwards Aquifer, abundantly dot the Hill Country. PANHANDLE PLAINS he Panhandle Plains. Some folks call this region of Texas gloriously flat, some say it's just plain glorious. These vast, open lands—like the overwhelming expanses of the ocean—often evoke superlatives and always excite the imagination. Artist Georgia O'Keeffe, who once lived here (in Amarillo and Canyon), reveled in "the beauty of that wild world" and portrayed the expansive luminosity of the Plains in her magnificent paintings.

Scenery? Ah, yes. Sunsets stretch scarlet and pink and golden across a seemingly endless horizon. Here lies the startling splendor of the Caprock Escarpment, whose 250-mile, north-to-south length marks the edge of the Llano Estacado (Spanish for "staked plains"). And rivers, like the Red and the Brazos, course across the rugged earth and carve out their own fascinating landscapes, producing splendid canyons, such as Palo Duro and Caprock, and scenic lakes such as Possum Kingdom and Meredith. In fact, lakes aplenty pepper these plains.

Throughout this section of Texas, you will find activities both enticing and entertaining. Many of them bring you the flavor of the Lone Star State's western heritage. You can relish a chuckwagon breakfast beside a colorful canyon and visit exciting old frontier forts. You can watch cowboys at work (this is, after all, cowboy country) and dance the night away to the strains of the fiddle—or the jukebox. And you can browse for antiques, arts, and crafts in shops that range from rustic to elegant, in tiny towns and sprawling cities.

Yes, there are intriguing cities here, too. Amarillo anchors the Panhandle, while Lubbock forms the hub of the western plains, and San Angelo, Abilene, and Wichita Falls rim the east. For a whirlwind tour of this fascinating territory, read on.

Detailed information about each site appears following this introduction.

THE PANHANDLE

Amarillo welcomes you to Texas in a big way. Start off with the friendly greeting of travel counselors at the Texas Information Center. Visit the antique and specialty shops along a section of old U.S. 66. Take the kids to Wonderland Park for an unforgettable ride on the double loops of the "Texas Tornado" roller coaster, and enjoy the diverse attractions of the Don Harrington Discovery Center, where hands-on exhibits, an aquarium, planetarium, and botanical garden will intrigue the whole family for hours.

At the American Quarter Horse Heritage Center and Museum, exhibits showcase the equine elegance of the American Quarter Horse.

If you have a big appetite—make that a huge appetite—Amarillo gives you a chance at a free meal. Go to the Big Texan Steak Ranch, wolf down a 72-ounce steak and all the trimmings (salad, bread, potato, and shrimp cocktail) within an hour, and the meal is on the house. Thousands have tried; some have succeeded. Bon appétit. The restaurant also serves tasty regular-size meals, of course, and exhibits a live rattlesnake safely behind glass for your viewing pleasure.

Just west of Amarillo, you'll see a strange array of 10 upended classic Cadillacs, ranging in years from 1949 to 1963 and planted at a slant, hood-first all in a row. These mega-finned, graffiti-decorated vehicles form "Cadillac Ranch," a display that originated in 1974.

How about sipping a cup of coffee at the rim of Palo Duro Canyon, while the rising sun illuminates multihued canyon walls? Sign up for Cowboy Morning Breakfast and join other early risers for a chuckwagon meal in a setting unlike any other.

To experience cowboy life on a working ranch, spend some time at Bar H Dude Ranch near Clarendon. Here, you can help the cowboys with their chores, ride horseback across the prairie, and chow down on savory ranch fare. Best of all, you can stay here for a few hours or a few weeks.

South of Clarendon, the town of Turkey honors native son Bob Wills, the "King of Western Swing" in a big way with exhibits and memorabilia in the Bob Wills Museum. Stay in town awhile at the bed and breakfast facilities of the Turkey Hotel, a historic inn built in 1927.

At Shamrock, you can kiss a bit of the Blarney Stone (a fragment of the original stone from Blarney Castle, County Cork, Ireland) and at McLean, you can check out the Devil's Rope and Route 66 Museum, dedicated to barbed wire, fencing, and relics from U.S. 66.

Pampa gives you 32 fine municipal parks and the Freedom Museum USA, where displays salute branches of the U.S. military. A historical marker in Childress' city park honors the site of the Goodnight Trail, an extension of the Goodnight-Loving Trail over which thousands of cattle trudged to markets in the north.

In the northwestern corner of the Panhandle, Dalhart's XIT Museum commemorates the massive three-million-acre ranch formed from land sold to build the state's capitol in Austin. Visit Dalhart during early August and join in the XIT Rodeo and Reunion festivities. You'll get to partake of the world's largest free barbecue and watch one of the longest parades in these parts.

Be sure to tour the outstanding Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum on the campus of West Texas State A&M University in Canyon. Excellent exhibits focus on the area's western heritage, geology, and paleontology. A scale model of Palo Duro Canyon spotlights the Panhandle's most exciting geological region.

Palo Duro Canyon State Park lies about 12 miles east of Canyon. The visual impact of this beautiful canyon, the second largest in the nation, stuns many a visitor. Etched by the waters of the Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River, the banded layers of the canyon's walls glow red, pink, orange, yellow, gray, white, and even lavender. Impressive, oft-photographed formations, such as the "Lighthouse" and the "Spanish Skirts," abound.

In the 16,402-acre state park, you can camp, hike, ride horses, and enjoy a campfire breakfast. Summer nights ring with the sounds of the outdoor musical TEXAS, a tale of settling the Panhandle in the late 1800s, told with a topnotch cast and stupendous special effects.

Other favorite outdoor locales that showcase gorgeous Panhandle panoramas are Lake Meredith National Recreation Area, about 30 miles north of Amarillo, and Caprock Canyons State Park and Trailway in the southern Panhandle, near Quitaque. At Caprock Canyons State Park you can see a large herd of buffaloes, shaggy reminders of the past.

WESTERN TEXAS PLAINS

Head south from the Panhandle toward Lubbock and Big Spring and you will parallel the Caprock Escarpment, the ridge that divides the High Plains on the west from the Lower Plains on the east. Communities throughout this region take pride in preserving their pioneering past and many offer interesting museums and historical sites. Spend time here and you will be met with warmth and welcome.

Old West-style chuck wagon breakfast served at Cowboy Morning in Amarillo

Start with Lubbock, the largest city on the Texas High Plains. Lubbock provides visitors with activities and entertainment that celebrate the town's youthful spirit as well as its Western heritage.

If you once bebopped to "That'll Be the Day" and other songs by Buddy Holly, you will want to pay tribute to the late musician at the Buddy Holly Center and at the statue and Walk of Fame dedicated to this legendary favorite son. Then, scoot on over to the Historic Depot District, where you can dance the evening away at night clubs featuring a variety of musical styles.

Set aside time to tour the extraordinary Ranching Heritage Center, part of the Museum of Texas Tech University. Here, you can immerse yourself in the yesteryears of Texas ranching. In grand array on 14 acres of beautifully land-scaped grounds stand some 35 authentic structures, many of which graced the great ranches of Texas or belonged to their owners.

Pleasant walkways lead you to buildings such as the elegant Barton House, the Waggoner Ranch Commissary, the Masterson JY Bunkhouse, and Las Escarbadas, once a division headquarters for the XIT Ranch. The buildings, moved here from their original locations, represent ranching in Texas from the late 1700s through the early 1900s.

In the mood for a taste of the grape? You're in luck. You can sample award-winning wines at area wineries such as Cap*Rock, Pheasant Ridge, and Llano Estacado, one of Texas' largest. To appreciate another fruit that grows here, stop by Apple Country Hi-Plains Orchards, where you can pick your own apples, savor a little cider and a slice of German Apple Cake, and shop at the country store.

Visit Lubbock's Mackenzic Park for a close-up view of frisky little prairie dogs, who live in their own "Prairie Dog Town." You can also picnic here, play golf at a 36-hole course, and ride the water coaster and roller coaster at Joyland Amusement Park.

Many of the towns in the High Plains harbor hidden gems. One such town is Post, southeast of Lubbock, where the OS Ranch Museum dresses up for certain holidays, with special exhibits of Fabergé, Waterford, and Lalique eggs during the Easter season, and displays of crèches and ornaments at Christmas. (By the way, the town got its name from cereal maker C.W. Post, who founded it in 1907.)

To the north, Plainview offers shoppers several locations for antique browsing in its historic downtown. To the west, Muleshoe provides a great photo opportunity with its National Mule Memorial, a statue honoring the sturdy animals that helped settle the West.

During a summer drive through the region, you may notice bright lavender flowers with vivid yellow centers. You're admiring Tahoka daisies (also known as prairie asters) named for Tahoka Lake, north of Tahoka, where they were first discovered.

South of Lubbock, the Plains brim with towns that offer an assortment of treats. Big Spring provides an eclectic mix of attractions, including the Heritage Museum, with the world's largest collection of Texas Longhorn steer horns; Hangar 25 Air Museum, a restored hangar that exhibits airplanes and artifacts commemorating a World War II bombardier school; and Big Spring State Park, 343 acres with picnic sites, nature trails, and a prairie dog town.

Snyder, Colorado City, and Sweetwater, which form a triangle east of Big Spring, each provide reasons to stop and explore. Snyder boasts the White Buffalo Statue, recalling a rare albino buffalo killed near the town, and the Wagon Wheel Ranch, a working dude ranch where trail rides might involve rounding up the ranch's Texas Longhorns. In Colorado City, you can explore the Heart of Texas Museum to see mementos and exhibits chronicling the early history of West Texas. Take an outdoor spin at nearby Lake Colorado City State Park, where you can fish, swim, and camp.

To the east, Sweetwater's Pioneer City-County Museum houses more than a dozen display rooms focusing on the lives of area settlers. The museum also contains an exhibit honoring the Women's Airforce Service Pilots, known as WASPs, who trained at Sweetwater's Avenger Field during World War II. A memorial marker citing their service stands at the old training site, now the grounds of Texas State Technical College.

EASTERN TEXAS PLAINS

The Lower Plains east of the Caprock Escarpment encompass dozens of interesting small towns, as well as the three cities of San Angelo, Abilene, and Wichita Falls. Scenery here can captivate you, especially the rugged and ruddy terrain of Copper Breaks State Park, the rolling peaks of the Palo Pinto Mountains, and the craggy cliffs of Possum Kingdom Lake.

In this area, bounded on the north by the Red River and on the south by the Colorado and Concho rivers, you will discover a host of intriguing sites that spotlight the region's pioneering past.

The remains of frontier forts, such as Fort Belknap at Newcastle, Fort Richardson at Jacksboro, and Fort Griffin at Fort Griffin State Park, march across the Plains landscape. Few are as beautifully preserved as Fort Concho in San Angelo.

Fort Concho National Historic Landmark lies today within the modern city of San Angelo. Built in 1867 and abandoned in 1889, it served as one of the major frontier outposts protecting West Texans. You can visit more than 20 original and restored buildings, including barracks, officers quarters, the post hospital, and the schoolhouse/chapel, comprise the impressive complex. In early December, "Christmas at Old Fort Concho" brings the fort festively alive with history reenactments and special holiday entertainment.

San Angelo offers you a full slate of interesting and fun attractions. Check out Concho Avenue, with its antique, collectible, and gift shops. Stroll the pleasant River Walk and the El Paseo de Santa Angela, a heritage trail that connects a mall and marketplace with "Old Town," lined with historic homes. Be sure to seek out local artisans' displays of jewelry featuring the famous Concho River pearls. These amazing gems, which range in color from pale pink to regal purple, form in freshwater mussels found in the Concho River. Beautiful!

At Ballinger, which lies between San Angelo and Abilene, two distinctive monuments catch your eye. One, a massive, sculpted cross rises 100 feet from the prairie in graceful splendor alongside Texas 158. A grotto with a statue of Our Lady of Guadalupe stands adjacent. Lights illuminate the cross at night, so that you can see it for miles. The other impressive monument stands on the Runnels County courthouse lawn in Ballinger. Famed sculptor Pompeo Coppini produced the work. It portrays a cowboy standing beside his horse and memorializes Charles Noyes, who died in 1917 at age 21 when his horse threw him. The touching memorial, commissioned by Noyes' father, beautifully captures the essence of the cowboy.

Cowboys loom large in these parts. In Stamford, the Texas Cowboy Reunion occurs each year around July 4, presenting the greatest amateur rodeo in the world. At Vernon, home to the headquarters of the huge W.T. Waggoner Ranch, you can learn about the ranch and about area history at the Red River Valley Museum. Abilene throws one of the state's largest celebrations honoring cowboys and ranchers annually in early May. Called the Western Heritage Classic, the huge event includes a rodeo, farrier competitions, recitations by members of the Cowboy Poet's Society, a "Stick Horse Rodeo" for little cowpokes, and many activities recalling early Western heritage. The city also boasts several attractions that tempt you to stay awhile, including the Abilene Zoo, the Grace Museum, and the splendid Paramount Theatre.

The Paramount, listed on the National Register of Historic Places, reflects the 1930s, when ornately designed movie palaces proved entertainment centerpieces. Visit here and you will find yourself in theater heaven. The restored theater's stylish Art Deco exterior envelopes a "Spanish atmospheric" interior that boasts a ceiling complete with clouds and stars. Productions ranging from classic films to plays and concerts take place regularly at the Paramount. Plan to attend one; you'll be glad you did.

Buffalo Gap Historic Village, 14 miles south of Abilene, provides you with a chance to explore more than a dozen restored and furnished historic structures from the old frontier settlement of Buffalo Gap, where large herds of buffalo once roamed. And don't forget to visit Tuscola, just a few miles east of Buffalo Gap, on Highway 83.

North of Abilene, the town of Albany welcomes you with a surprise or two. Head for the Old Jail Art Center (yes, it really was an old jail, circa 1878) and gaze upon artworks by Charles Umlauf, Henry Moore, Louise Nevelson, Amedeo Modigliana, and Pablo Picasso, then admire the exhibit of Chinese art from the Han, Wei, Sui, T'ang, and Ming dynasties. Also in Albany, the annual production of the fantastic Fort Griffin Fandangle occurs each June when 200plus townsfolk reenact the settling of Fort Griffin. You watch this colorful, musical mix of history and tall tales under the stars at night, which, of course, are big and bright.

Head for Breckenridge, up near Possum Kingdom Lake, and you realize you are in oil country. Once a boomtown, this pleasant community celebrates its "black gold" past with a series of murals marking the days of the boom. Stop by the fine Swenson Memorial Museum and J.D. Sandefer Oil Annex to learn more about area history. Pick up a picnic lunch and head for the city's lovely municipal park for a leisurely outdoor meal.

In Cross Plains, you can visit the home of Robert E. Howard. The author of the Conan the Barbarian series. Howard lived here from 1919 until he died in 1936. At Cisco, say hi to the Mobley Hotel. Bought by Conrad Hilton in 1919, the Mobley became the first in the illustrious Hilton Hotel chain.

When you visit Mineral Wells, pick up some of the town's famous mineral water, once ballyhooed for its medicinal qualities. And be sure to tour Clark Gardens, created by Max and Billie Clark to replicate an English garden. The Clark's elaborate 83-acre Texas version displays a virtual sea of irises and other blooms, as well as a rose arbor.

In Eastland, you can pay homage to the remains of "Old Rip," the legendary horned lizard that supposedly lived for 31 years sealed in a courthouse cornerstone. When the county built a new courthouse and opened the old cornerstone, Old Rip reportedly was still alive. Believe it-or not.

On the northeastern border of this region of the Plains, Wichita Falls offers a variety of activities, events, and attractions. Stop by the hospitable Travel Information Center first. You will get great information.

In Wichita Falls, you will find fun surprises: a 54-foot-high re-creation of the falls for which the city was named; the wildly popular Hotter 'n Hell Hundred Bike Race held each August; and Graham Central Station, where several clubs under one roof offer country/western, karaoke, Top 40, retro disco, and live entertainment. For a taste of the outdoors, stroll the pleasant paths of Lucy Park in town or head out to nearby Lake Arrowhead State Park, where you can camp, fish, and boat.

Take time to visit the city's elegant Kell House. The historic home, built in 1909 by a local business leader, contains seven fireplaces, hand-stenciled decorations, and original furnishings. In this and other sites, Wichita Falls preserves a proud heritage. And be sure to visit communities like Archer City, Seymour, Electra and Olney, located just south of Wichita Falls.

From ornate houses to historic ranches, from rugged canyons to placid lakes, and from trail rides to scenic drives, the Panhandle Plains promises to please. Come see for yourself.

General — Amarillo, which means "yellow" in Spanish, is the center of the Texas Panhandle, located at the edge of the Great Plains. It offers a true Western heritage, a unique geographical area with wide open spaces and breathtaking sunrises and sunsets. Amarillo is also gateway to Palo Duro Canyon, American's 2nd largest canyon. With its relatively mild climate, the city is rated as having some of the cleanest air in the country.

Indians, conquistadors, buffalo hunters, settlers, cowboys, adventurers, lawmen, gunfighters, and the railroad all contributed in many ways to the development and growth of the area. That heritage is still felt here, where "cowboy" is still an honorable profession. Here you can enjoy the very best of the Old and New West!

Founded in 1887, the city charter was adopted in 1913. Amarillo is one of the first cities in the nation to use the City Commissioner-City Manager form of government.

General — First settled in the 1860s by pioneers D.P. McCracken and H.C. Ackers on Gilbert Creek in northeastern Wichita County. Cowboys on the giant Samuel Burk Burnett 6666 Ranch derisively called the community "Nesterville." In 1907 Joseph A. Kemp and Frank Kell from nearby Wichita Falls bought part of the Burk Burnett ranch for their railroad and laid out the present townsite. It's said town was named for Burk Burnett when President Theodore Roosevelt personally interceded with the Post Office Department. (Roosevelt had been Burnett's guest on a wolf hunt in the area in 1905.) The 1918 Fowler oil discovery turned the struggling farming community into a boom town. Oil derricks were so close together old-timers say it was almost possible to walk across town from derrick to derrick without touching the ground. The 1941 movie "Boomtown," with Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy, was based on those wild oil-boom days.

The boom's gone and oil pours less freely today. Farming, ranching, and diversified industries provide stability to the economy. Several parks provide picnic facilities.

General—Named after cattle baron W.T. Waggoner's daughter, city is located in the western edge of Wichita County. The Waggoners were pioneers in the area when they established their cattle headquarters here in 1878. Confusion over the delivery of Waggoner mail and the name Beaver for nearby Beaver Creek led residents in 1902 to circulate a petition changing the name of the city to Electra in honor of Electra Waggoner. The townsite opened in October 1907. In 1911 an oil company leased a tract of land from W.T. and the famous North Texas Oil boom was begun as fortune seekers came to stake their claims.

Named the Pump Jack Capital of Texas by the Texas Legislature in 2001. The gusher of the Clayco #1 well, just north of town, in 1911 opened oil fields in the area, which today still support 5,000 pumping units within a 10-mile radius of town.

General—When oil boom towns are recalled, Ranger often leads the list. It was a quiet rural community established near a Texas Ranger camp in the 1870s. In October 1917 a gusher (see McClesky Number 1) blew in and touched off one of the greatest booms in petroleum history. World War I demand for oil was at an all-time high. The lure of instant riches was irresistible; the town crupted with every kind of frenzied activity. In one year population exploded from 1,000 to 30,000. Small farmers became millionaires. Four railroads raced to complete lines and one railroad's receipts jumped from $94,000 to $8,000,000 in two years. As in most instances, the boom was short-lived and today there is no evidence of that bigger-than-life era. Oil activity is evident in orderly fields, while farming and ranching is major interest of area citizens. Ranger Junior College is here.

Frontier troops protected stagecoaches and wagon trains, escorted U.S. mail, explored and mapped new territory and occasionally clashed with Indians. Many well-known infantry and cavalry officers commanded the fort, including Col. Ranald S. Mackenzie, Col. William R. Shafter and Col. Benjamin H. Grierson. Both black and white troops took part in their campaigns.

The bluecoats were no longer needed when the frontier moved farther west. In a sentimental ceremony the colors were struck and the last company of the 16th Infantry moved out of Fort Concho on June 20, 1889, as the regimental band played "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Battle of Adobe Walls—Site where two famous Indian battles were fought. Col. Kit Carson (in his last fight) and his U.S. troops in 1864 narrowly escaped defeat by Kiowa and Comanche Indians who had been attacking wagon trains and settlers. A fierce dawn attack opened the siege, and though Indians were repulsed, the party of 28 men and one woman was surrounded, and it seemed only a matter of time before the superior number of Indians would prevail. On the second day a group of Cheyenne appeared on a high mesa overlooking the camp, setting the stage for William (Billy) Dixon's famous shot. From within the stockade he shot an Indian from his horse at a distance approaching seveneighths of a mile! PINEY WOODS

n the Piney Woods of East Texas, Nature lays down a wondrous welcome mat. Carpeted with fragrant pine needles, brimming with lakes both mammoth and mysterious, and seasonally rich with radiant roses, delicate dogwoods, and exquisite azaleas, this inviting area both fascinates and captivates.

History resounds here, especially in towns such as Nacogdoches, San Augustine, and Weches. These early Texas communities, which lie along the famed El Camino Real (Spanish for The King's—or Royal—Highway), witnessed the founding of 17th- and 18th-Century missions by Spanish Franciscans. Later, Nacogdoches and San Augustine played prominent roles in spurring Texas' independence from Mexico. Jefferson, too, boasts a colorful past and gives you exciting glimpses of its days as a bustling steamboat port.

Larger cities, such as Conroe, Longview, Texarkana and Tyler serve up interesting museums, good shopping, and fine restaurants. And you will find a full slate of fun activities and events to entertain you, as well. Here, festivals celebrate everything from yams to fire ants (yep, the Texas FireAnt Festival brings its wacky shenanigans to Marshall each October). And you can feast your eyes on spectacular scenes at the gorgeous Texas Rose Festival in Tyler and the superb holiday extravaganza, Wonderland of Lights in Marshall.

There are food feasts aplenty, too. In this lush region, you can reap a delicious seasonal bounty of fresh vegetables and fruits. Look especially for luscious ripe tomatoes from Jacksonville, crunchy sweet onions from Noonday (southwest of Tyler), earthy yellow yams from Gilmer, and juice-laden peaches from Pittsburg. And, for a dinner treat, try crispy fried catfish, served with delicately browned hush puppies. Yum!

The Piney Woods brims with these special delights and intriguing sites. For a sampling, let's take a quick journey from north to south.

Detailed information about each site appears following this introduction.

THE PINEY WOODS, NORTH

In Texarkana, you can travel from Arkansas to Texas and back again a dozen times and remain in Texarkana the entire "journey." That's because the city lies in both states. For a fun photo, go to the "photographer's island" in front of the bi-state U.S. Post Office. Then, put one foot in Texas and the other across the line in Arkasas. You just did the Texas-Arkansas split!

To learn more about the area and about Texas, visit the friendly folks at the Texas Travel Information Center. Here, you'll get your first taste of terrific East Texas hospitality, spoken in a soft Southern drawl tinged with a Texas twang. And the travel counselors will give you literature about the city and the state, and will tell you about interesting Texarkana sites, such as the Perot Theatre.

Restored to its 1924 regal blue and gilt splendor, the Italian Renaissancestyle Perot Theatre (once part of the Saenger Amusement chain) gleams with shiny chandeliers and elegant, mirrored lobby. You can enjoy dramas, ballets, and musicals in these opulent surroundings.

Not far from the theater, look for Main Street's Scott Joplin mural honoring Texarkana's native son and America's "King of Ragtime." You can pay further homage to Joplin, a Pulitzer Prize-winning composer, at the Texarkana Historical Museum, where exhibits include a piano on which he supposedly practiced as a boy. While in the museum, visit the other interesting displays, such as the Victorian parlor and "Grandma's Kitchen."

Don't miss the unusual Ace of Clubs House, which was built by James Draughon in 1885 supposedly from his winnings in a poker hand. The lavishly furnished Italianate Victorian mansion boasts 22 sides and takes on the shape of a playing-card club when viewed from above.

About 18 miles west of Texarkana, Crystal Springs Beach provides refreshing warm-weather fun. You can laze on a white sand beach and swim in the 12-acre spring-fed lake.

Near Atlanta, Atlanta State Park offers another sandy beach, this one lies alongside Lake Wright Patman. Camping, fishing, boating, bicycling, and hiking are among the outdoor activities at this 1,475-acre park set in an area once home to Caddo Indians.

Mount Pleasant, about 65 miles west of Texarkana on I-30, won a spot on the list of "100 Best Small Towns in America" twice in the 1990s. Visit here and you will find an attactive town on beautifully wooded hills, chockfull of antique shops, boutiques, and parks. Stroll along the pathways and footbridges of five-acre Tankersley Gardens where dogwoods, redbuds, and irises bloom amid other spring blossoms.

If you're hooked on fishing, prepare to grab your tackle box. First, stop by the Kountry Korner Store at the junction of FM 127 and FM 2882 southwest of Mount Pleasant. Here, you can ogle more than 2,000 photos of bass weighing 7 lbs. or more caught in nearby reservoirs, such as Bob Sandlin, Monticello, and Welsh. Incredible! Chances are, you'll stay in the area and cast a lure or two.

Drive south from Mount Pleasant about 14 miles and you'll enter Pittsburg, Visit the Northeast Texas Rural Heritage Center & Museum and view the full-size replica of the amazing "Ezekiel Airship." The original airship, built in the early 1900s by a preacher-inventor, was based on a description in the Biblical book of Ezekiel.

Further south stands Gladewater, the acclaimed "Antique Capital of East Texas," with about two dozen antique and crafts shops. If you visit here in mid-February to mid-March, do not miss the Helen Lee Estate Daffodil Gardens, aglow with brilliant yellow blooms. Another favorite seasonal event in the area occurs in October, with Winnsboro's Autumn Trails, one of Texas' most popular salutes to fall foliage.

PINEY WOODS

Backtrack a few miles to the east and spend some quality time in Jefferson, once a major East Texas river port. So that you can explore Jefferson with the added zest of historical perspective, here's a quick review of its steamboating past.

From the 1840s to the 1870s, steamboats from New Orleans journeyed here along the Big Cypress Bayou, making Jefferson an important Texas port, with steamboats lined up a dozen deep. Then, in 1873, engineers destroyed the great Red River Raft, a natural dam on the river above Shreveport. That action improved the river's main course, but lowered nearby creeks and tributaries and rendered Jefferson practically inaccessible by water.

The emergence of railroad travel also affected the town's future. Thus Jefferson, its transportation routes strangled, became less important commercially. But the town looms large in historical significance, and careful preservation of its historic past has made it a natural for visitors seeking the quiet ambience of a bygone era.

Today, historic hotels and inns, old plantations, and numerous other sites, such as railway magnate Jay Gould's private railroad car, provide hours of exploration. You can tour the town by trolley, mule-drawn wagon, horse-drawn carriage, and stretch limo. And you can board the Turning Basin River Boat Tour for a riverside view complete with narration about the old river port.

Jefferson's fascinating history, its fine restaurants, specialty shops, and dozens of bed-and-breakfast inns make it a favorite destination year-round.

Two of the prettiest lakes in the state grace this area of East Texas. Lake O' the Pines, 10 miles west of Jefferson, ripples across rolling forest lands and produces great fishing, boating, and swimming. Caddo Lake, edged by dense vegetation and moss-draped trees, sprawls over some 26,800 acres just north of Karnack. The town is the birthplace of Claudia Alta Taylor, known as "Lady Bird," who became first lady of the nation as the wife of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Waskom, on the Texas-Louisiana border, gives you another opportunity to visit a Texas Travel Information Center for travel literature and a smiling exchange of "howdy, y'alls." West of Waskom about three miles, you'll get a kick out of Jonesville's T.C. Lindsey & Co., an old-fashioned general store that offers all kinds of fascinating merchandise.

Continue west to Marshall. Here, you can browse among the thousands of handsome pots, bowls, plaques, and figurines on display at the world-famous Marshall Pottery. And you can watch interesting demonstrations of pottery-making while you decide between the little red clay pot or a hand-turned stoneware version.

Marshall's impressive Ginocchio National Historic District offers a chance to explore three square blocks that center around the 1896 Ginnochio Hotel. The hotel, a splendid example of Victorian architecture, contains beautiful interior woodwork and decorative details. Also within the district, the Marshall Depot and Museum exhibits interesting railroad memorabilia.

During Wonderland of Lights, Marshall literally illuminates East Texas for the holidays by lighting some 10 million tiny white bulbs. Businesses outline their buildings, neighborhoods decorate houses, and more than 125,000 lights adorn the town's centerpiece, the historic courthouse museum. The sight will astound and delight you!

In Kilgore, oil is the key word. Here, the East Texas Oil Museum presents interesting displays that illustrate many aspects of the city's oil boom in the Thirties. Dioramas, films, sound effects, mementos, a simulated 3,800-foot elevator ride to oil formations within the earth, and a full-size street scene, bring the boom days to life.

You can also visit downtown's "World's Richest Acre," where once stood the greatest concentration of oil wells ever, producing more than 2.5 million barrels of oil. Today, one original derrick remains alongside 12 new ones.

Tyler, the largest city in the Piney Woods, offers the unparalleled beauty of the Tyler Municipal Rose Garden and Museum. The magnificent gardens, at their best in early spring and early fall, spread across 22 acres, with some 38,000 rose bushes representing almost 500 varieties. Commercial rose gardens also flourish in the area.

In addition, the city encompasses the impressive Caldwell Zoo and several historic sites. Tyler State Park, with almost 1,000 forested acres, lies just 10 miles north.

You will find intriguing sites, sights, and activities throughout the area. South of Tyler, Henderson boasts the Depot Museum and Children's Discovery Center, housed in a restored 1901 Missouri Pacific Railroad depot. At Carthage, the Tex Ritter Museum honors the Western actor/singer, and a life-size statue commemorates country-western singer Jim Reeves, who was killed in a 1968 plane crash.

Jacksonville—known as the "tomato city" in the 1930s and 1940s when it shipped more tomatoes than any other city—hosts the Tomato Fest each June. Nearby Lookout Mountain park offers year-round camping and is the site for a First Monday Trade Days, where you can sort through wares that include antiques and collectibles. At Rusk, you can board the Texas State Railroad, where antique steam engines power vintage railroad coaches on a 25-mile trip to Palestine. Take this fun ride down the tracks into nostalgia.

THE PINEY WOODS, SOUTH

Begin your southern tour with a visit to one of Texas' oldest communities. Historically important Nacogdoches was an Indian settlement for centuries before European explorers, such as Frenchman René Robert Cavelier, Sieur de La Salle, and later Spanish Franciscan missionaries, entered the area in the 17th and 18th centuries. Dubbed the "cradle of Texas liberty," Nacogdoches was the site of three abortive republics. Then, in 1832, citizens fired the opening shots of the Texas Revolution by attacking the Mexican garrison in the center of town. They succeeded in driving the Mexican troops out of East Texas.

The town's North Street, once known as La Calle del Norte (Spanish for "Street of the North") may be the oldest public thoroughfare in the United States, having once connected an ancient Indian community with another tribal village to the north.

Revisit history here at places like the Old Stone Fort, a museum housed in a replica of the stone house built by the town's founder, Gil Y'Barbo about 1789. Millard's Crossing Historic Village, a 37-acre complex, encompasses buildings that illustrate East Texas architecture from a log cabin to a Victorian-style house. And several other historic sites, such as Old North Church and the Sterne-Hoya Home (Davy Crockett once stayed here) invite your exploration.

On the campus of Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, you will enjoy strolling among the 23 gardens of the university's splendid 10-acre arboretum.

West of Nacogdoches, Mission Tejas State Park at Weches commemorates the first Spanish mission built in East Texas, while, to the east, the town of San Augustine marks Mission Señora de los Dolores de los Ais, established in 1716 by the Domingo Ramon expedition. Several churches in San Augustine, including Presbyterian, Episcopal, and Methodist, lay claim to being the oldest of their denominations in Texas.

Cutting broad swaths across the southern Piney Woods, Toledo Bend and Sam Rayburn reservoirs form two of the largest lakes in Texas. They provide extraordinary fishing and boating, plentiful camping, and a full slate of water sports. Here, too, the state's national and state forests encompass thousands of acres, with wonderful recreational areas (enhanced, of course, by the elegant presence of aromatic loblolly and short-leaf pines).

Lufkin, south of Nacogdoches, offers several city parks, the interesting Ellen Trout Zoo and Park, and the Medford Collection of Western Art, with more than 50 paintings by contemporary artists. Visit the Texas Forestry Museum and view exhibits of early logging machinery, a sawmill town, fire-fighting equipment, a fire tower, and antique railroad and sawmill steam engines.

Situated between Livingston and Woodville, the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation is home to some 500 Alabama-Coushatta Indians. The ecologically exciting Big Thicket National Preserve, in the southeastern section of the Piney Woods, forms a giant reverse "L" in units that extend from just south of Angelina National Forest to Beaumont and westward to Saratoga. A smaller segment stretches south from the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation. Long a place of mystery and lore, the Big Thicket brings together the ecosystems of the eastern hardwood forests, the Gulf coastal plains, and the midwest prairies. Here, you can see bizarrely diverse plant life that includes prickly pear cactus, orchids, ferns, and camellias, as well as pine, oak, and gum trees.

Travel west from Livingston and you will reach the attractive, historic town of Huntsville. Founded as an Indian trading post in 1836, Huntsville is Houston country—Sam Houston country, that is.

The town harbors several important locations that memorialize Houston, who held the offices of General of the Texas Army, President of the Republic of Texas, United States Senator, and Governor of Texas. The great man's gravesite lies here, in Oakwood Cemetery. And the Sam Houston Memorial Museum Complex displays many of Houston's personal mementos and preserves several original Houston-owned buildings on beautifully landscaped grounds. At the Huntsville Visitor Center stands a towering 67-foot-tall statue of Houston. It is said to be the world's tallest statue of an American hero. You can't miss it.

South of Huntsville, the lovely town of Conroe sits near the southern edge of the Sam Houston National Forest, awash in towering pines, rolling hills, and woodland lakes. Within the national forest, the 127-mile Lone Star Hiking Trail affords you a chance to see rare and uncommon birds like the red-cockaded woodpecker.

At Conroe, resorts, golf courses, tennis courts, campgrounds and marinas dot the tree-lined shore of Lake Conroe. Want to see the lake in style? Hop aboard the paddle-wheeler Southern Empress, where you can dine, dance, and sightsee.

If you're in the mood for music that will set your toes tapping, check out to the Montgomery County Jamboree, where country/western, gospel, bluegrass, and Cajun musicians cut loose every third Saturday. And make sure you visit the communities of Montgomery and Shenandoah while you're in the area.

Conroe also offers great shopping at outlet and antique malls throughout the city. On weekends, head over to the nearby village of Cut and Shoot, where flourishing flea markets tempt you to search for that perfect souvenir.

While you are in the area, take a look at The Woodlands, a planned community developed in the early 1970s. The town today, with a population of more than 55,000, retains the natural beauty of the forest, with designated greenbelts, parks, and protected reserves. Residents enjoy some 90 miles of hike-and-bike trails, 70 parks, and a 200-acre lake. The Woodlands is also home to the Cynthia Woods Mitchell Pavilion, a 13,000-seat outdoor performing arts center set amid luxuriant forest lands. Here, you can attend performances by artists such as Michael Bolton, the Ballet Folklorico de Mexico, and Trisha Yearwood.

On the southern rim of the Piney Woods region lies Liberty, once a busy port when steamboats plied the Trinity River. Texas notables David Burnet, Sam Houston, and William B. Travis practiced law here.

In Liberty, you can visit the renowned Sam Houston Regional Library and Research Center for a look at displays of artifacts, furniture, and pirate Jean Laffite's journals. The town also boasts Liberty Bell Tower, which contains a replica of the original Liberty Bell. Townsfolk toll the bell on special occasions.

No matter where you journey in this region of the Lone Star State, you will visit sites that evoke Texas' thrilling, tumultuous past. You can explore interesting towns, scenic forests, and vast lakes. You can shop at malls and markets. And you can experience the endearing friendliness of the folks who call East Texas home. When it comes to hospitality and diversity, you will find it in the beautiful Piney Woods of East Texas.

General—Seat of Upshur County, city was founded in 1848 on the historic Cherokee Trace, becoming a trade center for growing population of farmer-settlers. Cotton farming dominated economy, joined by lumbering boom at turn of the century. The East Texas oil boom of the early 1930s extended into county as cotton began to fade. Dairying, lumber, and beef cattle are important today.

More than 50 historical markers are found in the city and around the county, including a 1936 granite maker in Roosevelt Park on site of early 19th Century Cherokee Indian village. Markers on the courthouse lawn tell about the Cherokee Trace, traveled by Sam Houston and other Texas Revolution heroes on first trips to Texas.

Gilmer became a Texas Main Street City in 1998, won Texas Main Street City of the year in 1990 and in 2000 names a National Main Street City. Historic Gilmer Main Street features downtown square with red brick-paved streets, shops and restaurants. For information, call 903/843-0086.

East Texas Discovery Well—In 1927, Columbus M. "Dad" Joiner believed there was oil in Rusk County. Joiner and an Oklahoma attorney and oil promoter had won and lost two fortunes in oil, and despite nearing age 70, he was beginning another search "without even the proverbial shoestring." With inferior equipment, he drilled his first well on Daisy Bradford's land, about six miles from Henderson to a depth of 1,098 feet before junking the site. His second attempt was also unsuccessful. In January 1930, the third well was started by Joiner about 300 feet from his first attempt. On Sept. 3, 1930, the drill bit struck the Woodbine Sand and the core came up dripping with oil. On Oct. 3, 1930, the Daisy Bradford #3 blew in as a 300 barrel-a-day well at a depth of 3,592 feet. Thus began the East Texas Oil Boom.

Pioneer Park, with derrick-covered picnic pavilions, is about six miles west of Henderson on Texas 64 at County Road 4148. Also in the park is the Joe Roughneck Monument, erected by Lone Star Steel as a memorial tribute to the working men in the oil fields known as "roughnecks."

The site of the Daisy Bradford #3 is about a mile north of Pioneer Park on County Road 4136 and is marked by a 1936 pink granite marker. Gaston Museum—When the Daisy Bradford #3 blew in near Gaston, the onslaught of oil field workers came with hundreds of children. Within seven years, the Gaston school district grew from 79 to 1,832 students, making it the largest rural school in the world. What began as an exhibit for class reunions has turned into a full-fledged museum. More than 3,000 artifacts help portray the boom days through the eyes of a child. The museum is housed in a 1940s roadside café, adjacent to an oil-field tent house and a 1930s Dixie Service Station. Open Fri. - Sat. 9 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. At 6558 Texas 64 west; donations accepted.

iron ore brought smelters and plow works, while plentiful pine and cypress stimulated lumber industry.

Here was one of Texas' first breweries, and in 1873 world's first ammonia refrigerant ice plant. It was state's first city to utilize artificial gas for street lighting, and shortly after the Civil War, reached a peak population of 30,000 with as many as 15 steamboats at a time lining the docks, and scores of wagon trains passing through on the way West.

PRAIRIES AND LAKES

rairies and Lakes." Does that title really tell the tale? Well, yes—and no. Prairies and Lakes paints merely the pastoral brush strokes in this region's richly textured panorama. The full picture emerges only when you add the dynamic cities, charming communities, and colorful history that enliven this attraction-packed section of Texas.

True, this region that dips south from the Red River through the heart of the state boasts a liberal sprinkling of prairies and farmlands. Yes, it harbors some 50 popular lakes and reservoirs. But it also encompasses the energizing collection of cities and communities known as the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex, along with an abundance of other thriving towns and intriguing historical sites as well.

In this distinctive area of Texas, the state's East meets its West, and its North synchronizes with its South. All come together in a lavish tapestry of attractions, sites, events, and activities. Major museums, renowned restaurants, exciting amusement parks, and fun events can fill your calendar for a week or a month.

If you seek the art world's masterwork paintings and sculptures, you will find a profusion here. If attending a superb symphony orchestra's performance or a superstar's concert is your heart's desire, you can have that, too, and in settings that amplify your listening pleasure.

Do your trip plans center more on the sports arena? You have but to decide which sport you most want to watch or play. Professional football, basketball, baseball, hockey, and soccer thrive in the Metroplex, while college sports flourish in several cities throughout the region. NASCAR and Indystyle racing bring their VA-ROOOMM to the Texas Motor Speedway. Golfers—champion and otherwise—tackle numerous challenging courses, such as those at Irving's Las Colinas, while water sports of all types lure you to massive reservoirs and picturesque lakes.

Superb shopping venues abound here as well. Whether you frequent the sophisticated salons of Neiman-Marcus or the grab-bag booths of gigantic flea markets, you might just find the buy of a lifetime.

Something to tempt your taste-buds? How about the savory sausages of Elgin...a delectable creamy cheesecake from Athens...chewy, nut-filled fruitcakes from Corsicana, Greenville, and Palestine...yeasty, yummy kolaches from Caldwell, Flatonia, and West...and scrumptious Blue Bell ice cream from Brenham? What a feast!

The Prairies and Lakes region offers all these treats and so much more. Let's sample just a sliver of this tasty slice of Texas.

Detailed information about each site appears following this introduction.

THE METROPLEX AND THE NORTH

Dallas and Fort Worth anchor this teeming section of the state with exuberant flair. Each city displays characteristics decidedly its own, Dallas presents an urbane, bustling demeanor, while Fort Worth tips its Stetson to its Western heritage and a more casual ambience. Separately, these metropolitan centers offer a full slate of interesting sites for the visitor. Together, and combined with their close-knit neighbors, they absolutely overflow with things to see and experience.

In Dallas, you can opt for fascinating nights on the town at spots like West End MarketPlace, McKinney Avenue, and Deep Ellum and then spend your days golfing, shopping, and touring fascinating museums.

Dallas museums cover a mind-boggling variety of subjects that will absorb you for days. You can explore the diminutive world of the American Museum of the Miniature Arts, "think pink" at the Mary Kay Museum, soar with the Hindenburg at the Frontiers of Flight Museum, and come back quickly to earth with a sobering look at The Sixth Floor, where exhibits detail the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Historical sites include Old City Park, where more than three dozen structures represent the city's lifestyles from 1840 to 1910, and the Wilson Historic District, an area of restored buildings that evoke the Victorian era.

Terrific sights await the naturalist, too. Don't miss the Dallas Zoo, the Dallas World Aquarium, and the 66-acre Dallas Arboretum and Botanical Garden, a haven of ornamental gardens and natural woodlands.

Communities that border Dallas on the north and east add their own spice to the Metroplex mix. Plano provides several sites, including the Heritage Farmstead Museum, a beautifully preserved 1891 farm, and Southfork Ranch,

Fort Worth Stockyards

the mansion made famous the world over in the television saga Dallas. In Mesquite, you can reminisce about the Texas Western swing music of Bob Wills and Milton Brown and, from spring to fall, you can attend the weekly Mesquite Championship Rodeo.

Head northwest from Dallas and you enter the sprawling city of Irving. Be sure to visit the impressive Las Colinas complex, which encompasses shops, restaurants, a charming canal system complete with Venetian-built water taxis. and the magnificent bronze sculpture, Mustangs of Las Colinas, by Robert Glen. If you are in Irving on a Saturday or holiday, you can tour the Movie Studios of Las Colinas, where Silkwood, Robocop, JFK, and Walker, Texas Ranger were filmed.

Grand Prairie, south of Irving, harbors the colorful Palace of Wax and Ripley's Believe It or Not!, where exhibits include wax figures from Hollywood, history, and horror, as well as bizarre items from the collection of Robert Ripley. On weekends, you can spend hours shopping at Traders Village, an enormous, 118-acre flea market.

Continue west into Arlington and you are in "Six Flags" country, home of Six Flags Over Texas theme park and Six Flags Hurricane Harbor water park.

PRAIRIES AND LAKES

Here, you and the kids can ride water rafts, roller coasters, parachute drops, high-speed trains, and all manner of exciting transports.

Arlington also gives you an in-depth look at baseball in the Legends of the Game Baseball Museum and Learning Center, housed at the Ballpark in Arlington. At Air Combat, you can become a military fighter pilot, complete with flight suit, at the controls of a flight simulator.

Fort Worth, a town that Will Rogers once described as "where the West begins," wears the badge of its Old West heritage proudly. Numerous sites throughout the city capture the era of cowboys and cattle and the Old Chisholm Trail.

Stellar among them is the Stockyards National Historic District, where you can watch cowpokes herd cattle into the corral, explore the Stockyards Collection and Museum, visit the old-timey White Elephant Saloon, cheer the cowboys and cowgirls at championship rodeos, and board the Tarantula Railroad's steam excursion train to Grapevine.

Nearby, Billy Bob's Texas—the world's largest honky-tonk—offers cold libations, a huge rodeo arena, and topnotch country-western entertainment. Downtown's attractive Sundance Square features restaurants, art galleries, and live music venues with repertoires that include great jazz and pop offerings. Don't miss the outstanding Sid Richardson Collection of Western Art.

Fort Worth boasts all this, plus a great zoo, gorgeous botanical gardens, the stunning Nancy Lee and Perry R. Bass Performance Hall for symphony, ballet, and opera productions, and some of the finest art museums in the world. You can round out your Fort Worth cultural experience with trips to the American Airlines C.R. Smith Museum, the Vintage Flying Museum, the Tandy Archeological Museum, and the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Museum.

Cities and towns around the Metroplex offer their share of pleasures for the visitor, too. West of Fort Worth, Weatherford harbors the enchanting Chandor Gardens and the "Peter Pan Statue," dedicated to hometown girl Mary Martin, who portrayed the role of Peter Pan on Broadway. To the northeast, Grapevine brings a harvest of wineries and the Grapevine Opry, a showcase of fun, family-style country-western entertainment.

When you reach Denison and Gainesville on the state's border with Oklahoma, stop by the Texas Travel Information Centers for a friendly "howdy" and a handful of valuable Texas travel literature. Denison also includes the Eisenhower Birthplace, the house where Dwight D. Eisenhower was born in 1890, and Grayson County Frontier Village, a collection of buildings dating from 1840 to 1900.

Between Gainesville and Denison lies massive Lake Texoma, an impoundment of the Red River that spreads over some 89,000 acres of Texas and Oklahoma. This popular lake encompasses numerous Corps of Engineers parks, as well as Eisenhower State Park. All provide fine camping and boating facilities.

Texas Sports Hall of Fame in Waco

A few miles east of Denison, Bonham's Sam Rayburn House and Sam Rayburn Library afford an interesting look at the life of the Texas politician who served as speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives during every Democratic-controlled Congress from 1940 to 1961.

Further east, Paris brings you the Sam Bell Maxey State Historic Site, a lovely Victorian house and garden, and the intriguing Evergreen Cemetery, where some of the more than 40,000 graves date to 1866 and include beautifully carved headstones and monuments.

Due south of Paris sits Sulphur Springs, home of the Southwest Dairy Center, where exhibits recall the early days of the dairy industry. Sulphur Springs is the seat of Hopkins County, the leading dairy county in the Southwest, with almost 500 dairies.

Drive south another 45 miles or so and you reach Canton, where the monthly shopping and bartering extravaganza known as First Monday Trade Days takes place on the Thursday through Sunday before each first Monday. Got that? You will find some 300 acres chock-full of just about every negotiable item known to man.

MID PRAIRIES AND LAKES

Waco lies at the center of the Prairies and Lakes region in the heart of the fertile Brazos River Valley. Once one of the world's leading cotton producers, the area was home to many thriving plantations and antebellum houses. Today, you can tour several of them, including the Earle-Harrison House, built in 1858-1859, and the Earle-Napier-Kinnard House, built in 1858 and expanded in 1869.

The city also boasts the interesting Texas Ranger Hall of Fame and Museum at Fort Fisher, built near the site of the original Texas Ranger fort established in 1837. In the museum, exhibits chronicle the compelling story of the Texas Rangers and display famous guns and weapons of the Old West. On the campus of Baylor University, the Armstrong-Browning Library contains the world's largest collection of works and memorabilia of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

Visit the city's Texas Sports Hall of Fame and pay homage to stellar Texas athletes, such as boxer George Foreman, baseballer Nolan Ryan, and golfer Babe Didrikson Zaharias. Tarry awhile in Granbury, where you can enjoy a dinner cruise on Lake Granbury, a carriage ride through the city's historic district, and an evening of musical fun at the Granbury Opera House. At the Brazos Drive-in Theater, you can watch a movie in the milieu of the 1950s at one of the few drive-ins remaining in Texas. Historic homes, the Railroad Depot Museum, and the Great Race Automotive Hall of Fame take you back even further in Texas history.

Map P-17

General—One of Texas' oldest settlements, first called Mina, the town's name was changed about 1837 to honor a man of fame and influence in early Texas. The man was Felipe Enrique Neri, Baron de Bastrop, a prominent Dutch nobleman—or so the colonists thought.

Actually, he was a flamboyant impostor whose real name was Philip Hendrik Nering Bogel, born not of Holland's nobility, but in Dutch Guiana of ordinary Dutch parents. Appointed a tax collector after he and his parents returned to Holland, he was accused of embezzlement and fled the country.

Appearing in Texas as Baron de Bastrop in 1805, he obtained a colony grant, established a freighting business, and was appointed second alcalde of San Antonio in 1810. He was a primary negotiator with the government of Mexico for Stephen F. Austin's original Anglo-American colony. He was elected representative to the Mexican state of Coahuila (which included Texas), secured passage of a further immigration act, and was instrumental in establishing the port of Galveston.

Of impressive physical stature, dashing and energetic, the counterfeit baron's enterprises resulted in little profit. At his death in 1827, he did not leave enough funds for burial expenses; fellow legislators contributed the cost. In Holland, unclaimed for 20 years, was a reward of 1,000 gold ducats for return of the accused embezzler.

More than 125 historic structures are listed on the National Register of Historic Places, with 31 displaying a Texas Medallion marker. Main street is lined with century-old structures housing antique shops, restaurants, and specialty stores.

General—At the site of this present metropolis the first anglo-American settler built a single cabin in 1841. Two years later the "town" consisted of two log cabins. By the mid-1870s, Dallas had become a thriving business town and market center with a cosmopolitan, urbane air unmatched anywhere on the frontier at the time. This was primarily due to several immigrations of skilled and cultured groups of French, German, Swiss, English, and other Europeans.

Dallas is the southwest's largest banking center, leader in wholesale business, second in nation for insurance company home offices, third in the nation in terms of "million-dollar" companies, and number two in convention business.

"If it doesn't sell in Dallas, it won't sell," say buyers who come to some 32 wholesale fashion and home furnishing markets each year. Beginning with the Dallas Market Center in 1957, today multibuilding complex includes Homefurnishings Mart, INFOMART, World Trade Center, Trade Mart, Apparel Mart, Decorative Center District, and Menswear Mart. Don't miss the Galleria, the spectacular multi-story mall with the ice-skating rink in the center, that's a Texas retail shopping legend.

Citizens pursue culture with almost as much enthusiasm as business. Any day or night of the year, one may choose from a lavish variety of events. Excellent major symphony orchestra and a steady stream of visiting groups: opera and ballet, theatre and musical comedy, literary societies, and debating groups. Visit flower shows, horse shows, art shows, bird shows, dog shows, and cat shows. Noted for abundant gourmet dining opportunities.

Summer musicals are held Jun. - Oct. at Music Hall in Fair Park, nightly Tues. - Sat., and weekend matinees.

An excellent climate where predominantly fair skies encourage outdoor activities, especially water sports.

State Fair of Texas in fall draws more than 3 million annually to 277-acre Fair Park. Traditional fair exhibits, plus Broadway musicals, extravaganzas, prize livestock and horse show performances, a huge midway that features the "Texas Star"—largest Ferris wheel in the Western Hemisphere—and gridiron rivalry between Texas and Oklahoma. Big Tex, gigantic cowboy symbol, looms over all festivities. Open year-round at Fair Park are eight museums and TI Founders IMAX Theater.

Professional sports are presented throughout year; teams include pro football's Dallas Cowboys, Texas Rangers baseball, Dallas Stars National Hockey League, Dallas Mavericks basketball, Dallas Desperados Arena Football League, and Dallas Sidekicks indoor soccer and the Dallas Burn, outdoor professional soccer.

The Brown's Mill post office closed in December 1883; however, when it reopened a few months later, confusion with Brown's Mill and Brownsville caused the town to be renamed Dime Box.

General—In Bastrop County, the city was established as a flag stop on the Houston and Texas Central Railroad in 1872 and named for Robert Morris Elgin, the railroad land commissioner who laid out the townsite. City owes its existence to a major flood of the Colorado River in 1869. Originally, the railroad was to have run 10 miles cast of Elgin. When the river rose 60 feet over its banks, the railroad surveyed a new line through Elgin to Austin. Economy is based on light industry, agriculture, and brick manufacturing, and at one time was called "The Brick Capital of the Southwest."

No visit to Elgin would be complete without tasting Elgin's hot sausage. It's wonderful! Three sausage companies make the tasty specialty. Information on location is available at the visitor center. In fact, Elgin was named by the Texas Legislature as the "Sausage Capital of Texas."

Be sure to visit the antique mall on U.S. 290 with more than 50 dealers offering a large variety of antiques and collectibles.

All through the city, keep an eye out for beautiful old homes. Also, downtown, a Main Street City, is recapturing its early look by refurbishing and reusing its historic buildings. Movies and TV commercials often use Elgin's quaint streets as backdrops.

General — Along the Texas Pioneer Trail (Texas 159) lies the city formed by three families of Stephen F. Austin's Old Three Hundred. Later German, Czech, and Anglo-American immigrant helped to form the community. The city had several names: Wadis Post Office, Alexander's Voting Place and Lick Skillet (given by settlers arriving too late for festive occasions, found food devoured and were told to "lick the skillet.") Officially named by Philip J. Shaver, who laid out the town, for his birthplace, Fayetteville, NC.

Town had one of first bands in Texas, composed of German musicians, who played for meetings and festivals statewide. For more than 50 years a Czech band, conducted by Frank and John Baca, provided dance music and "Baca" music still enjoyed today.

In the middle of the town square sits the 1880 precinct house that was built by Fayette county residents to avoid trips to the county courthouse in La Grange. Benches around the square invite citizens and visitors "to sit a while." Its Seth Thomas tower clock, donated by the Ladies Do Your Duty Club in 1937, chimes on the hour. Antique stores, art galleries and restaurants surround the town square. On the 1st and 3rd Sat. nights a Baca Band fills the night with music on the square.

General—Established in 1830s, early settlers suffered numerous attacks, with out-numbered colonists often on losing side. Sites of such conflicts marked about town. In the early 1890s drillers struck hot artesian well whose curative qualities made town a spa and health resort for thousands who came to bathe in the "miracle" waters.

Today the water is again leading the way as residents investigate the promise of geothermal energy. A hospital and the chamber of commerce are heated by hot spring water. In 1903 the city built a municipal health center on the site of the first hot artesian well drilled in 1893. The pavilion became a popular gathering place for the townspeople and visitors who gathered for the "healing" waters. The Main Street program has renovated the pavilion including the building of a hot mineral water foot bath for weary visitors.

However, in 1836 a mass attack by several hundred Comanches overran fort, killing five of Parker family and carrying into captivity five persons including Cynthia Ann Parker, then 9 years old. She grew up, married a Comanche chief and lived with the Comanches until captured with her two-year-old daughter, Prairie Flower, 24 years later in 1860. She was mother of the last great Comanche chief, Quanah Parker. Cynthia Ann never became reconciled to her forced return to the life of her white kinsmen and tried several times to escape. Unhappy and virtual prisoners, both she and her daughter died about four years after they were separated from the wild, free life of the Comanche. Restored in 1936 and again in 1967, old fort has pioneer memorabilia, authentic log blockhouses and stockade. Operated by the City of Groesbeck. Open daylight hours; closed Mon. & Tues. General—Settlers started arriving here in the 1840s. The William Alden Hawkins and Larkin Newton families were the first to obtain permanent land titles at the site under the authority of the Peters Colony. As with many Texas towns, growth came when the railroad arrived. In 1883 the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railroad constructed a rail line from Dallas to Cleburne. Local legend says that one of the civil engineers surveying the route noted the area looked like his hometown, the Lothian Valley in Scotland. The name stuck and Midlothian was used on survey maps to identify this area of Ellis County. The Fort Worth Railroad further spurred development with a line from Fort Worth to Waxahachie. The town incorporated in 1888.

Today the city is situated within the D/FW Metroplex, 25 miles from both cities of Dallas and Fort Worth. The city bills itself as the "Cement Capital of Texas" and the "Steel Capital of Texas" due to the number of cement and steel manufacturers in the area.

Map M-18

General — One of Texas' major cities, located in rich agricultural region of the Brazos River Valley. Modern industry thrives, but city retains flavor of its past when five "C's" were its support: cattle, cotton, corn, collegians, and culture. Large, cold springs on the Brazos River were long popular with the Waco Indians. First non-natives to see area were remnants of De Soto's band in 1542. Texas Ranger fort established near Indian village in 1837; first white settlers came 12 years later. Great plantations along the Brazos prospered briefly, but Civil War wrecked plantation economy and scattered population. Renewed Western movement and Chisholm Trail through Waco brought another boom—and frontier wildness that nicknamed the town "Six-shooter Junction."

General—Originally established as Bold Springs, the town was renamed West in 1881 when the railroad laid lines through the area. The community was named for Thomas W. West who sold land for the railroad and for businesses wanting to locate close to the rail depot. West became a successful businessman, owning a hotel, furniture store and bank. Czechoslovakian immigrants came to the area purchasing the rich farmland. Many descendants of the original settlers continue to farm the lands with wheat, maize and cotton.

Czech traditions remain today and can be seen in cooking, baking, arts, crafts, and the love for polka music. The Texas Legislature recognized West as the "Czech Heritage Capital of Texas" and "home of the official Kolache of the Texas Legislature."

Since 1976, thousands converge on the city each Labor Day Weekend for the Westfest celebration. The event features music, arts and crafts, and plenty of Kolaches and sausage. For information, write to Westfest, Inc., PO Box 65, West, TX 76691 or call 254/826-5058. www.westfest.com.

SOUTH TEXAS PLAINS

ay hello to the Alamo—and adios to the winter blues and the summer doldrums. Soak up some sun in the tropical Rio Grande Valley. Stroll the streets of Laredo. Attend a fiesta, admire a Picasso, and savor a salsa-spiced snack. You will soon find that there is nothing plain about the South Texas Plains. Throughout the year, this fascinating region, from San Antonio to the Rio Grande, offers delights muy especial!

Here, where Texas and Mexico come together, you will experience the excitement of a zesty TexMex blend of languages, music, cuisine, and customs. And you will reap the benefits of some of the most interesting attractions and activities this side of the border.

Play golf and tennis year round. Birdwatch in a host of prime birding spots. Explore museums and historical sites famous the world over. Shop in malls and markets and boutiques that offer an amazing array of merchandise. And pluck luscious grapefruits and oranges right from the trees. You will never lack for entertaining diversions in the South Texas Plains.

Let's learn a little more about this exciting region of Texas.

Detailed information about each site appears following this introduction.

THE VALLEY, THE BORDER, AND POINTS SOUTH

Folks who vacation in the lower Rio Grande Valley often call it the "Magic Valley"—and with good reason. Cities and towns in this tropical tip of Texas brim with extra excitement for visitors, offering frequent fiestas, rollicking RV rallies, and numerous welcoming parties. Add to these benefits the proximity of South Padre Island's great saltwater fishing, water sports, and scenic seashore and you have a tempting variety of vacation possibilities.

In the winter, the Valley's temperate climate brings generally balmy weather, ensuring extra days for golf, tennis, swimming, fishing, and basking in the sun. On both sides of the border, you find shopping chock-full of bargains, such as wrought-iron furnishings, jewelry, and leather goods. Bird-watching is superb in places such as the Santa Ana National Wildlife Refuge and Bentsen-Rio Grande Valley State Park. And the area's agricultural bounty serves up delicious fresh vegetables, like onions, and carrots and cabbage, and citrus fruits, such as grapefruits and oranges.

Palm trees and bouganvilleas in the Rio Grande Valley area

Cities and towns in the lower Rio Grande Valley form a closely woven tapestry. One town gives way to another before you even realize you have exchanged city limits. But each community boasts its own characteristics and each offers something interesting to visitors.

In McAllen, visit the International Museum of Art & Science and view the excellent exhibits of Mexican folk art, including multicolored masks and costumes. If you are in a shopping mood, look for antiques (especially those from Mexico) in shops sprinkled throughout the city, and search for gifts and specialties in La Placita, a complex of shops in refurbished historic homes. After your shopping jaunt, take the kids to Mountasia and you can all enjoy the rides, video arcade, and miniature golf.

By the way, if you spy birds of bright hues flitting about in McAllen's trees, you may be seeing the red-crowned parrots and green parakeets that call the city home, or you could be gazing at green jays, the "city birds" of McAllen.

Just east of McAllen, Pharr gives you a chance to whirl with the Wurlitzers at Smitty's Juke Box Museum. And, you can tick away some time at Ye Old Clock Museum, where a collection of some 2,000 timepieces dates to 1690.

Admire the crimson bougainvillea blooms that edge the highway at adjacent San Juan, then seek out the Shrine of La Virgen de San Juan del Valle. The shrine harbors a small, wooden statue of Our Lady of San Juan that remained unscathed after a fire destroyed the church where it once stood.

At nearby Alamo, hike or drive the impressive Santa Ana National Wildlife Refuge, where plants, wildlife, and rare birds find haven. In winter and early spring, you can ride a tram through the refuge. Also visit Sunderland's Cactus Garden, just north of Alamo, and marvel at the 25-foot-tall Pachycereus pringlei, or elephant's cactus, one of the largest nursery-grown cacti in Texas.

In Weslaco, the Valley Nature Center offers a pleasant trail through five acres of natural vegetation, including a butterfly garden, lily pond, and cactus gardens. At Mercedes, kick up your heels-or at least lift them-and let one of several world-renowned custom bootmakers measure your feet and fashion for you a truly fine pair of boots.

Mission, sometimes called the "Home of the Grapefruit," is a gateway to nearby Bentsen-Rio Grande Valley State Park, which encompasses 589 acres of native flora and fauna. Birders treasure this park, which harbors birds from the eastern and western United States, as well as species from southern Mexico. Spring migrations bring unusual sightings, such as the clay-colored robin, green kingfisher, blue bunting, and rose-throated becard. (You can even rent bird-observation blinds here.) Mexican ground squirrels, ocelots and jaguarundi also live in the park's luxuriant vegetation.

For a sampling of great Western action, watch the cowboys at Edinburg's Sheriff's Posse Rodeo and Quarter Horse racing every Saturday evening. If it's warm weather time, you can cool off at the Edinburg Municipal Waterworks by zipping down the 125-foot, figure-eight water slide and diving into one of three pools.

If you want to shop, dine, and sightsee across the border, you have several options here, including crossing the Rio Grande into Mexico at Hidalgo to enter Revnosa and at the small town of Progreso to visit Nuevo Progreso.

Next, head for Laredo, some 143 miles northwest of McAllen on U.S. 83. Along the way, you can visit Rio Grande City, where the 1899 La Borde House, a historic inn, offers lodging in rooms sporting late 19th Century decor. Here, you can also spend a moment of quiet reflection at Our Lady of Lourdes Grotto, a replica of the famous shrine in Lourdes, France.

In Roma, the impressive Roma National Historic Landmark District gives you a chance to view some 38 historical buildings that date between 1848 and 1928. The town, along with Zapata, is a gateway to Falcon Reservoir, owned jointly by the United States and Mexico.

As you enter Laredo, be sure to stop by the Texas Travel Information Center on I-35. Here, friendly travel counselors greet you with a "howdy" and bienvenidos! and provide you with great maps and Texas information. And of course they can tell you about interesting things to see and do in los dos Laredos, "the two Laredos." (Laredo's sister city, Nuevo Laredo (New Laredo) lies just across the border.)

A major international border crossing, Laredo gives you a fine sampling of history along with great border-style entertainment. Established by a Spanish land grant in 1755, Laredo has existed under seven flags. The intriguing Republic of the Rio Grande Building and Museum relates the city's history as capital of the unsuccessful Republic of the Rio Grande.

The Alamo in San Antonio

Town Square in Piedras Negras, Mexico, across border from Eagle Pass

Nearby, beautiful San Agustín Church occupies an honored site on San Agustín Plaza. Though the present church has stood here since 1872, today's structure is the third building since San Agustín was established by the bishop of Guadalajara in 1760. The first church was built in 1767.

Shopping is great in Laredo, with several malls and many specialty shops. And, just across the international bridge, Nuevo Laredo brings you more shopping, plentiful restaurants, and nightclubs that never seem to close.

Every February, Laredoans stage the patriotic and exuberant Washington's Birthday Celebration, a 16-day extravaganza filled with parades, balls, street parties, pageants, concerts, and fireworks. For a kick, enter the festival's Jalapeño Eating Contest. You will never forget it.

On the eastern edge of the city, Lake Casa Blanca International State Park invites you to camp, picnic, and try your bass-fishing skills on 1,656-acre Lake Casa Blanca. Another interesting outdoor site, the Lamar Bruni Vergara Environmental Science Center, on the campus of Laredo Community College, provides a wonderful opportunity to view plants and animals found along the Rio Grande Watershed. Before you leave the border area, explore bustling Eagle Pass and neighboring Piedras Negras across the Rio Grande. Eagle Pass is home to the restored stone buildings of Fort Duncan, where a museum chronicles the old fort and the history of the area. In Piedras Negras, where a chef invented the tasty snacks called nachos, you can celebrate this culinary achievement at a festival each October.

THE NORTH OF THE SOUTH

Travel from Laredo toward San Antonio and you drive through vast sections of brush country, land punctuated mostly by cactus and mesquite. In Cotulla, where Lyndon B. Johnson once taught school and writer William Sydney Porter (O. Henry) once lived, you can visit the Brush Country Museum and learn about this prickly area through displays of memorabilia and photos of ranch life.

À few miles north, Dilley honors the watermelon—the gem of its agricultural bounty—with a giant watermelon statue, whereas, just up the road, Pearsall salutes its phenomenal peanut crop with a large monument to the tasty legume. While you're paying homage to South Texas' appetizing array of vegetables and fruits, be sure to take a look at the statue of the "world's largest strawberry" in Poteet, about 30 miles south of San Antonio. And don't forget the likeness of Popeye at Crystal City, west of Dilley. The celebrated cartoon sailor salutes this winter garden area's plentiful spinach and vegetable production. Between them, Dilley, Pearsall, Poteet, Carrizzo Springs and Crystal City serve up a veritable feast of fun monuments.

Along the U.S. 281 corridor between the lower Rio Grande Valley and San Antonio, lie several interesting towns, including Alice (named after the daughter of Captain Richard King of King Ranch fame), which offers a host of pleasant city parks and outdoor band concerts in the summer. Stop by the South Texas Museum for a look at the history of the area.

George West is home to the West Hotel Emporium, a 1919 hotel that now boasts antique and arts and crafts boutiques. North of George West, Three Rivers provides fishing, picnicking, and camping opportunities at the cityoperated Tips Park on the clear and scenic Frio River and at nearby Choke Canyon State Park on Choke Canyon Reservoir.

Head east from George West to Beeville. Here, in the Beeville Art Gallery and Museum, you can view antique furnishings, paintings, and sculptures housed in the home of early settlers. Then set your sights on Goliad, where Goliad State Park and Presidio La Bahía bring Texas history to vivid life.

Goliad State Park harbors a beautifully reconstructed replica of the 1749 mission, Nuestra Señora del Espíritu Santo de Zúñiga, popularly called Mission Espíritu Santo. Established in 1749, the mission served the Spanish Franciscans in their efforts to Christianize the Indians.

Nearby Presidio La Bahía, an excellent example of a Spanish frontier fort, was built in 1749 to protect the work of the mission. In March of 1836, the presidio housed Colonel James W. Fannin Jr., and more than 300 Texian troops after their surrender to Mexican forces during the Texas Revolution. (Fannin Battleground State Historic Park marks the site of Fannin's surrender at the town of Fannin, about 10 miles east of Goliad.)

A week after they surrendered, Fannin, his men, and other prisoners were executed at the order of Mexican General Santa Anna. Their graves lie a few hundred yards from Presidio La Bahía. After this massacre, the Texian Army added "Remember Goliad!" to the fabled cry, "Remember the Alamo!"

Today, you can examine interesting historical exhibits at the mission museum and at a museum at the presidio. Religious services still take place in Presidio La Bahía's chapel. You can camp and picnic at the state park, as well.

The presidio grounds also harbor the General Zaragoza State Historic Site, which honors General Ignacio Zaragoza, who was born at La Bahía. Zaragoza's outnumbered and ill-equipped Mexican army troops routed French forces at Puebla, Mexico, in 1862. The battle date, Cinco de Mayo (May 5), is a national holiday in Mexico. Several Texas cities celebrate the day, as well.

Northwest of Goliad lies tiny Panna Maria. Established in 1854, the village is probably the oldest Polish community in the United States. Here, you can visit St. Joseph's School Museum, the site of the oldest Polish school in the U.S., and view many artifacts depicting the life of Polish pioneers.

Between Panna Maria and San Antonio, you can, believe it or not, enter the Promised Land. Of course you will be visiting Floresville's Promised Land Dairy, which boasts one of the largest registered all-Jersey herds in the world. Here, the kids will enjoy the petting barnyard and the whole family can savor delicious treats in the ice cream parlor and play a fun round of miniature golf at the nine-hole course.

SAN ANTONIO

Take a look at a Texas map. Notice something? All roads in the south central part of the state lead to San Antonio. Follow them. You will find much to enjoy in this multicultural and historical treasure of a city.

San Antonio offers just about every pleasant vacation element that you could want. Exciting history. Terrific restaurants. Wonderful hotels, motels, and bed and breakfast lodgings. Sensational museums. Super theme parks and entertainment centers. Splendid shopping and music and sports. And celebrations and festivals and fiestas just about every week of the year.

First, explore the sites that encapsulate the city's history. Begin in the heart of downtown at the small adobe building whose distinctive façade you recognize immediately-the Alamo. Pause for a quiet moment inside the hallowed chapel of this famed shrine to liberty, formally called Mission San Antonio de Valero. Examine the stirring displays in the chapel and in the Long Barrack

Museum, then stroll the beautifully landscaped grounds. The hustle and bustle of the surrounding city will fade as you remember the brave men who died here in March of 1836. You can tip your hat, too, to the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, who have maintained this important shrine so devotedly since 1905.

You will also want to explore the chain of four additional missions - Concepción, San José, San Juan, and Espada - that stair-step along the San Antonio River and form the San Antonio Missions National Historical Park. These majestic missions, which were established in the first half of the 18th Century, illustrate vividly the work of Franciscan missionaries in bringing Spain's religion and dominion to Mexico and Texas. Mission San José is particularly lovely, with its famed ornamental "Rose Window," and its gristmill, granary, and beautifully landscaped grounds. For an exhilarating experience, attend one of the mariachi masses that take place at San José each Sunday.

The King William District provides a look at the important contributions made to San Antonio by the prominent German merchants who settled here. Several restored homes serve as bed and breakfast lodgings. You can visit the Steves Homestead Museum, in a house built in 1876, and the lovely 1859 Guenther House, which today encompasses a museum, gift shop, and popular restaurant.

The city's many museums offer an assortment of subjects to explore, including pioneers, Texas Rangers, military medicine, history and science, and even transportation. Art finds marvelous venues here as well, including the outstanding San Antonio Museum of Art and the magnificent McNay Art Museum, where paintings by artists such as Cézanne, Gauguin, Picasso, and O'Keeffe join sculptures by Rodin and Hepworth. Downtown, in HemisFair Park, the Institute of Texan Cultures features dynamic exhibits that highlight the varied ethnic and cultural makeup of the people of Texas. Visit in June and you can attend the Institute's annual Texas Folklife Festival. During this tremendously popular celebration, participants dress in ethnic costumes and demonstrate their ancestors' customs, music, and foods. You can join in. Great fun!

Ready for some mouthwatering barbecue or enchiladas or a steak as big as a platter? Or, maybe you want to shop for a special Texas memento, or sip a margarita while you listen to terrific jazz. Well, you will find restaurants, shops, and clubs galore when you take a stroll along one of the most famous pathwavs in the world-the River Walk.

Descend a stairway alongside one of the several bridges that cross the San Antonio River and you find yourself one floor below street level. Here, you can follow the walkways amid lush foliage beside the cypress-lined river, or you can hop aboard a colorful river cruiser for an entertaining narrated tour. Watch for unusual and artistic touches along the river, such as the mosaic at the Navarro Street bridge that marks the Old Mill Crossing, and the bas-relief of an Indian chief on the street level of the Commerce Street Bridge. The River Walk brims with neat surprises.

Family fun abounds in San Antonio. Chill out at Splashtown-San Antonio, and say hi to your heroes and heroines in wax at the Plaza Theater of Wax. Check out the wild rides, like "Scooby Doo Ghostbusters" and "Scream," and the topnotch live musical productions at Six Flags Fiesta Texas. Make the acquaintance of porpoises, penguins, and beluga and killer whales, as well as giant Clydesdale horses, at SeaWorld San Antonio. Here, too, you can ride pulse-pounders such as the "Steel Eel," with a 15-story drop, and the "Great White," an inverted coaster.

If you are shopping for gifts and furnishings with artistic Mexican flair, try areas such as La Villita and El Mercado, where you can also dine on tasty TexMex specialties and listen to thrilling mariachi music. Then, visit the shops and restaurants and clubs of Sunset Station to cap off a rousing day.

San Antonio doesn't forget sports enthusiasts, either, with professional basketball and minor league hockey and baseball teams. Golf courses here are among the best in the state, and tennis courts and swimming pools abound.

And, oh, yes, don't miss the marvelous San Antonio Zoo and the beautiful Botanical Gardens. San Antonio's riches just go on and on.

So, you see, the South Texas Plains can enchant and entertain you with a nonstop fiesta of attractions. In this exciting region of Texas, you will enjoy one of the most special vacations of your life! ¡Bienvenidos! Welcome!

Presidio La Bahía—As conquistadors of centuries ago explored new lands for "God, Gold and Glory," the Church played an integral part in colonization and dominion over vast New World empires. Missions were often first permanent Spanish settlement in new areas. To protect mission endeavors, a presidio (fort) was usually built nearby and manned by Spanish military forces.

Such was Presidio Santa Maria del Loreto de la Bahía, established in 1749 near Mission Espíritu Santo. It grew into one of the more important forts on the Spanish frontier, and is the finest example of a complete Spanish presidio in Texas. Its chapel is still in regular use for religious services.

Excavation and restoration of massive stone walls and other structures of fort have been completed by Kathryn O'Connor Foundation.

It was in this presidio that Fannin's men, during 1836 Texas Revolution, were imprisoned after their surrender, and were massacred in violation of honorable terms upon which they had laid down their arms.

A museum houses articles discovered during restoration, memorabilia of the Texas Revolution, and artifacts indicating nine levels of civilization at the site. Zaragoza flung back attacking army, inflicting heavy losses and forcing its withdrawal to east coast; Zaragoza died of typhoid fever on Sept. 11, 1862. It is not generally known that this French army had proposed to march into Texas to establish aid and supply line to Confederate forces-but they reckoned without Zaragoza. The battle date, Cinco de Mayo (May 5), is a national holiday throughout Mexico, and is celebrated here and in several Texas cities. Site is two miles south off U.S. 183 at Presidio La Bahia.

General — Though a few homes remain in rural Karnes County, Helena is a ghost town—killed, so they say, by one gunfight too many. Helena was established in 1852 near routes of famed Chihuahua Trail and Indianola-San Antonio Road. It was a boisterous frontier settlement with more than its share of outlaws and sudden death. During a saloon shooting one night in 1884, 20-year-old Emmett Butler, son of area's wealthiest rancher, Col. William Butler, was killed. Unable to determine who fired the fatal shot, Butler vowed to kill the town that killed his son. He persuaded the railroad, then building across South Texas, to bypass Helena by offering free land miles away. Other towns sprang up along railroad; Helena lost its county seat, and its citizens drifted away. Today old courthouse and other silent ruins are testimony to Butler's vow. On Texas 80 between Karnes City and Gillett.

Historic buildings around the square include a small turn-of-the-century farmhouse, a barn, the old post office, and one of the four original jail cells. All open same hours as Courthouse Museum.

General—On the National Register of Historic Places as the oldest permanent Polish settlement in America; is certainly the mother of Polish settlements in Texas. Established Dec. 1854 by Polish Catholics; because of a deep devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary, immigrants named their new town Panna Maria, meaning Virgin Mary in Polish. Early years of the colony were severely difficult, plagued by disease, climate extremes and outlaws who infested the region. Neighboring cowboys often ridiculed the strange, non-English-speaking foreigners. The community established the first Polish school in the United States, and other villages like Cestohowa, Pawelekville and Kosciusko sprang from this original settlement.

Today, the older generation still speaks an antiquated Silesian dialect (difficult for modern Polish speakers to understand), but Polish is no longer taught in local schools, and the language is being lost.

Visit the community cemetery and Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, topped by a cross carried from Poland by the original colonists more than a century ago. During the renovation of the church in 2000, the old painted ceiling was restored. The church is open daily. A museum near the church may be visited by request at the Visitors' center. So much to see and do at Texas State Parks and State Historic Sites—more than 100 parks for you to explore.

Texas! The very name calls forth heroic images of wide open plains, bison roaming freely, western forts, Longhorn cattle and deep forests. Camp by a lake, hike in the mountains, go fishing and birdwatching. Stay in a cozy cabin, guest room, lodge or Bed and Breakfast. See deer, raccoons and sometimes an armadillo in Texas State Parks.

Texas State Park campgrounds offer a range of amenities, from full-hookups to wilderness camping. The improved camping areas have restrooms with flush toilets and hot showers. Some primitive camping areas do have self-composting toilets but no showers. Wilderness areas offer trails and maps but no utilities – those operate on the principle of "pack-it-in, pack-it-out."

Improved camp sites have utilities, a tent pad or trailer parking pad, a picnic table and fire ring. Many also include a grill standing waist-high as well as a pole with a lantern hook.

Read about each Texas State Park in this book. They are listed under the name of the nearest town – see the charts on the following pages for that information. The chart also gives you phone numbers and details regarding the facilities.

Texas State Parks charge entry fees for each adult over 13, tour fees for historic sites, camping fees, and fees for group dining halls or other facilities.

A NUMBER OF PASSES AND PASSPORTS ARE AVAILABLE TO VISITORS.

The Texas Conservation Passport, a $50 annual membership, grants free entry, access to wildlife management areas and other benefits to private, non-commercial vehicles.

Texas State Parklands Passport offers free state park entrance to everyone who reached 65 before September 1, 1995, and to veterans with a 60 percent or greater disability. Texas residents who were 65 after September 1, 1995, pay discounted entry fees, while non-residents pay the regular prices if their 65th birthday occurred after September 1, 1995.

Texas State Parks often match National Parks for beauty and sheer outdoor adventure but we are not part of the National Parks System. For that reason, we do not accept passes or passports from the National Parks.

HUNTING AND FISHING IN TEXAS

Hunting and fishing in Texas rank with the best in the nation.

The variety of fish and game is great, and is often abundant.

Anglers may try more than 5,175 square miles of inland freshwater creeks, rivers and lakes, plus scores of tidal bays and 624 miles of shoreline along the Gulf of Mexico.

Freshwater game fish include black bass (largemouth, smallmouth, Guadalupe, spotted bass), crappie, bluegill and other sunfish, white or sand bass, striped bass, hybrid striped bass, and catfish including channel, blue and flathead (yellow).

Along the Gulf Coast some 250 different species await lure or bait. Among the most popular are redfish, speckled trout, king and Spanish mackerel, wahoo, bonito, tuna, sailfish, marlin, pompano, flounder, grouper, jewfish, red snapper, sheepshead and drum.

The feature Texas game animal is the white-tailed deer, found almost statewide, but most densely in the Hill Country of Central Texas. Mule deer and pronghorns are found in West Texas and the Panhandle. Other wild animals include javelinas, wild boars, feral hogs and squirrels.

Game birds include a great variety of migratory waterfowl that winter in Texas, plus wild turkey, bobwhite and blue quail, mourning, white-tipped, and white-winged doves, pheasants, prairie chickens, sandhill cranes and chachalacas.

Hunting in Texas can be very rewarding, though requiring some special arrangements for the nonresident. Texas has four large areas of public lands (national forests) in the eastern part of the state freely accessible for hunting.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department offers a variety of public hunting opportunities on over one million acres of land under its control in which people may participate either through purchase of an annual permit, daily permit, or selection in a drawing.

Public hunting information is available from the Parks & Wildlife Dept. by calling toll-free in Texas 1-800-792-1112 or 512/389-4505 for nonresidents.

TEXAS STATE FORESTS

Texas' five state forests, managed by the Texas Forest Service that is part of the Texas A&M Univ. System, display results of modern forestry techniques.

State forests are wildlife refuges; hunting is prohibited. Fishing is permitted in designated areas. No overnight camping permitted in any state forest.

Information about forestry is available from district foresters and Forest Service headquarters at A&M Univ. at College Station.

Forest Service operates Indian Mound Tree Nursery on Texas 21, near Alto, which provides some 25 million seedlings annually to private landowners for reforestation of their land.

Fairchild State Forest—2,740 acres in five tracts—largest tract is 13 miles west of Rusk along U.S. 84. Small day-use area with fishing, hiking, picnicking in main tract one-quarter mile south of U.S. 84.

Jones State Forest—1,725-acre area, 5 miles south of Conroe. Nesting site of rare red-cockaded woodpecker. Self-guided nature trail of interpretive forestry in northwest corner of forest, and small pond near district headquarters offers picnic grills and rest rooms.

Kirby State Forest—600-acre area, 14 miles south of Woodville off U.S. 287; picnicking.

Masterson State Forest—519 acres, 3 miles southeast of Buna on F.M. 2938 (not shown on most highway maps). No public facilities.

Siecke State Forest—1,722-acres—main tract 5 miles southeast of Kirbyville via U.S. 96 and F.M. 82; 100-acre adjunct a mile west. Fishing permitted in small pond near entrance to district headquarters and in Trout Creek; swimming, picnic shelters and fireplaces along creek open year-round.

Referred to collectively as the National Forests and Grasslands in Texas, the Angelina, Sabine, Davy Crockett, and Sam Houston National Forests are in the heavily forested "Piney Woods" of East Texas, and the Caddo and Lyndon B. Johnson (LBJ) National Grasslands are in north and northeast Texas. The forests and grasslands are comprised of 63675,658 acres of federally owned land scattered throughout 15 counties. The U.S. Forest Service manages the National Forests and Grasslands following standards, guidelines, and objectives in the land management plan. Recreation, timber, water, forage, wildlife and wilderness resources are part of the coordinated, balanced plan. Primitive camping is allowed in all areas except where posted. Some areas have loops with electricity; however water or sewer hookups are provided only in the Double Lake Recreation Area in the Sam Houston National Forest, Hunting and fishing in National Forests is regulated by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Developed recreation areas have varying facilities as shown in the chart. Fee areas require self-deposit of fees for overnight camping or day use of areas. Some areas have been designated as "wilderness areas" for those desiring a totally primitive camping experience. No wheeled vehicles of any kind are permitted in the wilderness areas.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
operates 12 Texas Travel
Information Centers for the convenience of the traveling public. Uniformed, professional counselors welcome visitors and provide detailed information on travel within the state.

Working with the Texas State Travel Guide and the Texas Official Travel Map, counselors expertly chart routes to any area of Texas, pointing out the most convenient short-line directions or leisurely scenic drives to your destination. They supply comprehensive statewide travel publications, plus detailed brochures about towns, attractions and points of interest along the way.

Texas Travel Information Centers are the largest distributors of travel literature in the state and one of the largest in the nation. In 2001, travel counselors served 3,022,236 visitors and distributed more than 15 million pieces of literature. The centers are open daily except New Year's Day, Easter, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.
