The Honorable Greg Abbott, Governor
The Honorable Dan Patrick, Lieutenant Governor
The Honorable Dennis Bonnen, Speaker of the House
Members of the 86th Legislature
Members-elect of the 87th Legislature

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am pleased to present my report on occupational licenses, as required by Texas Government Code Section 403.03058. Data received are from each state entity's response to our request for information and are reflected as submitted in Exhibits 1 and 2.

This statutory report seeks to provide the Legislature with information regarding all occupational licenses (including permits, certifications and registrations) required by the state, as well as a list of statutory provisions regulating occupational licenses that were abolished during the previous legislative session.

We received 774 license types administered by 47 state entities. Seven state entities reported 29 statutory provisions regulating occupational licenses that were abolished during the previous legislative session.

If you have any comments or suggestions, please contact Spencer Grubbs at Spencer.Grubbs@cpa.texas.gov.

Sincerely,

Glenn Hegar

A Report on Occupational Licenses Required by the State of Texas

Introduction

Texas Government Code Section 403.03058 (Senate Bill 2065, enacted in 2017) requires the Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts to prepare and submit to the Legislature a report regarding all occupational licenses, including permits, certifications and registrations, required by the state.

The statute requires for each license type:

- a description of the license;
- the department with regulatory authority for the license;
- the number of active licenses;
- the cost of an initial application for the license and for a renewal of the license; and
- the amount of state revenue generated from the issuance and renewal of the license.

A list of statutory provisions requiring a license that were abolished during the previous legislative session also is required.

Methodology

To comply with the requirements of the law, the Comptroller's office contacted state licensing entities beginning in February 2020. Entities responded using a Comptroller-generated form.

Each licensing entity was asked to report:

- the name of each occupational, professional and business license under its regulatory authority, including permits, certifications and registrations;
- a description of the authority of the license holder, including any limitations;

- the number of active licenses, which may include licenses that have expired but are eligible for renewal;
- fees for the initial application and renewal for the license, which may include application, examination and professional fees required of each applicant or license holder;
- the renewal frequency of the license; and
- the amount of state revenue generated from the issuance and renewal of the license, which may include fees that cannot be separated from licensing fees (e.g., corrective action fees or fees for a change of name or location on the license).

All surveyed state entities were asked to report data for each license type to the Comptroller as of the end of fiscal 2019 (Exhibit 1, page 3).

State entities also were asked to list any statutory provision including any license under their regulatory authority that was abolished by the 86th (2019) Legislature and the name of the license (Exhibit 2, page 85).

The Comptroller recorded entity responses as received and did not independently verify the information reported.

Results

The Comptroller's office received 774 license types from 47 state entities (Exhibit 1, page 3). The Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation submitted the highest number of licenses — 218 — followed by the Texas Racing Commission and the Texas Department of Insurance, which submitted 57 and 53, respectively.

Unless otherwise noted, data for each license — including the entity with administrative authority over the license — are as of the end of fiscal 2019. Due to database limitations, several agencies were unable to provide the number of active licenses and/or state revenue for each license type as of the end of fiscal 2019. This report does not provide a sum for either data point.

Of the 47 state entities, eight are self-directed, semi-independent agencies (SDSIs) and one is a quasi-governmental agency. The revenue generated from the issuance and renewal of the licenses under their regulatory authority is not deposited into the state treasury and, therefore, is not available for appropriation by the Legislature.

Seven agencies reported 29 licenses that were abolished during the 86th (2019) Legislature and their corresponding statutory provisions (Exhibit 2, page 85).

Instead of renewing an individual endorsement, existing license holders will apply for one new, comprehensive salvage dealer license upon the expiration of the first endorsement. This change is due to the passage of SB 604 in 2019 by the 86th Legislature. Additionally, HB 1667, also passed during the 2019 session, eliminated the requirement of license holders who hold GDN licenses to also hold salvage dealer licenses if they engage in the business of selling salvage or non-repairable vehicles at the same location (effective Sept. 1, 2019). Thus, fewer salvage dealer licenses are expected to be issued going forward. Additionally, as a result of 43 Tex. Admin. Texas Secretary of State, Agency Number 307

The Texas Secretary of State (SOS) does not have an immediate way to see how many licenses were active within a given time frame. With this in mind, the following methodology was used when calculating the data: a) When a license is renewed annually, the total number of licenses was calculated based on the number of times SOS charged for the filing during FY19 - this is believed to give the most accurate representation of how many licenses were active at the end of FY19. b) For licenses that are not renewed annually, SOS pulled the total number of active licenses from the most recently available data. In most cases, this meant data accurate as of mid-May 2020.
