Message From the TMB President: Pain Management Process Reminder

Zaafran

TMB is aware there is lingering concern and confusion regarding Pain Management Clinic (PMC) exemptions and registration. TMB, like Texas practitioners, wants to ensure patients have access to competent, safe, and proper care. TMB has always recognized that appropriate pain management is critical for many Texans. We strive to facilitate this care while balancing public safety. Also, TMB stresses again that we do not, in any way, “target” the practice of pain management. TMB is charged, by the Legislature, to regulate pain management and PMCs through registration, inspection, and investigation.

The goal of this message is to provide several clarifications that are important for practitioners to be mindful of when it comes to pain management, including clarifying some commonly misunderstood terms, common misunderstandings in the medical community, and the TMB’s general process related to PMCs.

Finally, TMB is aware that the process of regulating PMCs and other practices takes time and effort on the part of medical providers and staffs. We want to ensure there is as little disruption as possible so that medical providers can focus on treating patients. I will conclude this message with our plans to explore possible revisions to create a more abbreviated and less burdensome process for newly and previously inspected PMCs.

TERMS TO KNOW

Audit – The process of obtaining a narrow set of information from a clinic to determine registration status.

Inspection – The process of obtaining more extensive information from a clinic regarding registration status.

This may be done in-person or through a virtual document review.

Investigation – The process where TMB staff will require, by subpoena, extensive documents to determine not only exempt or registration status but may also evaluate overall compliance. In addition, patient medical records, sign-in sheets and other documents will be requested by subpoena for purposes of reviewing the prescribing practices and treatment of patients of the clinic.

COMMON MISUNDERSTANDINGS

1. If a clinic is exempt from registration it will not be audited or inspected.

No. A clinic may be exempt, but it is still subject to audit or verification of the exemption.

2. TMB can only inspect or investigate a registered pain clinic.

No. If TMB receives a complaint or other information that a clinic may be operating without registration or that a physician is working at a clinic that may require registration, then TMB may review the complaint and follow standard investigation or inspection procedures.

3. If a clinic has been previously inspected, it will be repeatedly inspected.

No. A clinic may be inspected but TMB will look at factors such as when it was last inspected, results of previous audits, inspections, investigations, or changes in ownership before auditing or inspecting a clinic again.

4. Unless you are an owner of the clinic, you are not required to register the location.

No. As a physician working at any pain management clinic, even as an employee, there is a shared responsibility to comply with all legal requirements including those related to registration.

GENERAL PROCESS

Currently, TMB has two approaches to determining clinic registration and exemptions. The first being as part of an investigation if the Board receives a complaint where TMB sends subpoenas asking for extensive medical records, billing information and a variety of other documents required to be furnished in 14 days or sometimes less. The purpose of this is to examine prescribing practices to determine registration status along with standard of care.

The second, and more recent, approach is utilization of the PMP to identify the top 50 opioid prescribers on a quarterly basis. Once identified, TMB currently sends an inquiry to the physician asking them to provide information about the operation within 30 days. The purpose of the inquiry is to perform an audit to determine if the clinic requires registration or if it is exempt.

If the physician receiving this notice does not claim an exemption, then they are required to register the clinic as a PMC.

If the physician intends to claim an exemption after receiving an inquiry, they are asked to substantiate the exemption within 30 days. This information may include items such as, patient lists, physician and mid-level provider specific information, sign-in sheets, prescription information (PMP), and other treatment information. Upon receiving that information claiming an exemption, the Board determines if the information/documents provided adequately establish the exemption.

If the information provided is adequate, then the exemption is granted. If there appears to be more information needed or the proof provided is insufficient to determine an exemption, then an investigation may be opened, and the Board may request documents by subpoena. If the investigation shows the clinic is not exempt, then the matter may be referred to an ISC for potential disciplinary action, including a requirement to register the clinic.

If a physician does not respond at all, then an investigation will be opened.

POSSIBLE REVISIONS

Again, TMB is aware audits, inspections, and investigations cause disruptions to practices. We have a thorough review process to help ensure only the necessary practices are notified of these events. However, TMB will always listen to our licensees and is always looking for ways to improve our processes while maintaining the right balance between regulation and public safety. We are planning a stakeholder meeting soon to discuss pain management in Texas. We look forward to a productive meeting and any improvements it will generate in reducing the time, effort, and resources medical providers and staffs must dedicate to the regulation of pain management.

Respectfully,

Dr. Sherif Zaafran, M.D., FASA

Texas Medical Board President

Antibody Infusion Centers Launching Across Texas

On behalf of the Governor, the Texas Medical Board is sharing information about the establishment and expansion of antibody infusion centers in communities across the state for the treatment of COVID-19. Governor Abbott, the Texas Division of Emergency Management, and the Texas Department of State Health Services have established these centers with the goal of preventing a patient's condition from worsening and ultimately requiring hospital care.

These state-sponsored infusion centers are in addition to the antibody infusion treatments that are provided by more than 200 private health providers across the state.

Antibody infusion centers are currently operating in the following communities, with more coming online in the future:

- Austin (DSHS)
- Beaumont (TDEM)
- Corpus Christi (DSHS)
- Edinburg (TDEM)
- Fort Worth (DSHS)
- Harlingen (TDEM)
- Houston (DSHS)
- Laredo (DSHS)

- Lubbock (TDEM)
- McKinney (TDEM)
- Nacogdoches (TDEM)
- Odessa (TDEM)
- San Antonio (DSHS)
- Tyler (TDEM)
- The Woodlands (DSHS)

The treatment is free and available to all Texans who test positive for COVID-19 and have a doctor's referral. Texans can visit meds.tdem.texas.gov to find a therapeutic provider near them.
