

Southern Society,
For 1868.

In the first number of the New Year will be commenced
A CHARMING STORY OF THE SOUTH, ENTITLED LANSDOWNE,

By Miss Helen G. Beale, of Virginia.

SPLENDID INDUCEMENTS TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Every person who sends $4 for one year's subscription to this Brilliant Southern Weekly Journal of Literature, Society and Art,

Will receive all the BACK NUMBERS, containing
"HILT TO HILT,"

Major John Esten Cooke's Delightful Southern Romance.

Also, more than one hundred pages of charming and interesting reading, by the most distinguished Writers of the South.

EVERY PERSON WHO SENDS US $40 for ten subscribers, will receive a beautiful copy of MISS MASON'S "SOUTHERN POEMS OF THE WAR," in addition to one year's subscription.

SUBSCRIPTION.

SOUTHERN SOCIETY will be supplied to subscribers on the following terms:

One year, - $4.00

Six months, - 2.50

To Clubs of ten, or more, one year, - 3.50

- six months, - 2.00

Address all communications to

SOUTHERN SOCIETY,

No. 226 W. Baltimore Street,

BALTIMORE.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

SOUTHERN SOCIETY is emphatically a Southern Journal.
Southern men and women write for it; Southern men conduct it, and it is published in a Southern city. It is destined to reflect honor and credit upon the South.—Mobile Tribune.

In the spirit and variety of its contributions and the rare excellence of its typography, SOUTHERN SOCIETY is unsurpassed by any periodical of the kind North or South. It bids fair to succeed — brilliantly succeed.—Southern Opinion.

It is no matter of surprise that a paper with so much dignity and refinement, moral and literary elevation and beauty in its columns, should have met with wide and prompt encouragement.—National Intelligencer.

It is beautiful in typographical appearance; but its intrinsic beauty is its tone, excellence and brilliancy of the literary gems, radiant as they are with noble thoughts, expressed in the purest classical language. For circulation among the people of the South, it is the best literary periodical in this or any other country.—San Antonio (Texas) Daily Herald.

Its columns are enriched by the productions of able and accomplished contributors, who cater with much judgment and taste to the demands of a refined and educated Southern Society.—New Orleans Picayune.

Neither labor nor expense is spared to make it worthy of the patronage it claims at the hands of the South.—Charleston Mercury.