NEWS & UPDATES

Peer Assistance Turns 30

Texas CPAs are dedicated to serving others. While our profession takes care of clients, companies, and employers, our professional community strives to take care of one another. The Texas Society of CPAs' (TXCPA) Peer Assistance Committee has proudly offered free and confidential support to hundreds of CPAs and CPA candidates who have faced problems with substance abuse and other mental health issues, such as depression, isolation, and anxiety. In December 1992, the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy (TSBPA) endorsed the work of this committee as a voluntary peer assistance program for all Texas CPAs. The program is administered by the TXCPA and funded in part by a grant from the TSBPA.

Over the past two years, COVID-19 has brought the subjects of mental and emotional health and wellness to our dining room tables. In response, the committee has refined its mission and vision statements to reflect these issues that are becoming more prevalent in society and in our profession. The revised mission of the Peer Assistance Committee is to inform Texas CPAs and accounting students about chemical dependency and mental health issues and assist in their recovery. The vision is to be the champion of wellness resources for all current and future CPAs in Texas.

Bill Treacy, Executive Director of the TSBPA, stated, "Our Peer Assistance Committee is the only one of its kind in the country serving the CPA profession and should be looked upon as the model of an effective and collaborative partnership between a state accountancy board and its professionals." He goes on to say, "The committee's program is not a disciplinary tool, but rather a means of assistance for CPAs who are struggling to return to competent practice."

A CPA who has practiced for more than 50 years declared, "I had been a very active member of TXCPA, served on the Board of Directors, the Executive Board and others, but had ceased participation even to the point of considering discontinuing membership as a result of problems with alcohol. A contact from the Peer Assistance Committee reached out to me. As a result, I joined the committee's extended network, the Accountants Confidential Assistance Network (ACAN), and can now look forward to many more years of service to my profession and the public."

TXCPA President and CEO Jodi Ann Ray, CAE, added, "Confidentiality does not need to equal invisibility. We look forward to integrating the committee's message of wellness into our strategic plan to better serve the needs of all our members and those seeking to join this esteemed profession."

CPAs manage well alone, but they may also need community. ACAN currently provides virtual discussion meetings every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday evening, along with a monthly virtual meeting each Friday at noon. These meetings are facilitated by network members trained in working with mental illness and chemical dependency and adhere to confidentiality under the Texas Health and Safety Code Chapter 467. Discussion subjects range from CPA Exam stress to ethical challenges to "how much is too much?" Individual members are also available for one-on-one personal discussions.

The Peer Assistance Committee and extended network, ACAN, are always looking for volunteers to help spread the message of wellness. Volunteers need not be in a formal recovery program to participate but simply need a sincere desire to help their fellow CPAs in need. Those interested in volunteering to serve, and those seeking support through this valuable and confidential service, can contact TXCPA Peer Assistance Program Director Craig Nauta, CAE, by calling 866-766-ACAN or emailing cnauta@tx.cpa. ■

Contact ACAN to:

- ✓ Participate in ongoing support meetings with other CPAs in recovery.
- ✓ Mentor candidates who need recovery support.
- ✓ Talk about your wellness concerns.

Help Us Identify Unlicensed Individuals and Firms Offering Accounting Services

Over the last three years, the Board's Unauthorized Practice of Public Accountancy Program has identified more than 1,700 unlicensed individuals and firms claiming to be CPAs or offering accounting or attest services to the public.

Although this program has been very successful, we know that there continues to be false or misleading advertising. There are approximately 83,000 licensed CPAs in Texas who can help protect the public from individuals and firms misrepresenting their qualifications.

If you suspect websites, signage, business cards, letterheads, or other marketing materials that are false or misleading, you may report it by calling:

30 YEARS OF SERVICE YEARS OF IMPACT

1992-2022

For 30 years, the Accountants Confidential Assistance Network has provided support for CPAs struggling with alcohol addiction, substance abuse and/or mental health issues. In that time, they've convened over 3,500 confidential support groups and provided a pathway for hundreds of candidates to enter the accounting profession.

Contact ACAN to:

- ✓ Participate in ongoing support meetings with other CPAs in recovery.
- ✓ Mentor candidates who need recovery support.
- ✓ Talk about your wellness concerns.
