GERALD C. MANN ATTORNEY GENERAL

> Hon. I. Predecki County Auditor Galveston, Texas

Dear Sir:

Opinion No. 0-907 Re: Validity of H. B. 205 passed by the 46th Legislature.

This is in reply to your letter of June 6th, requesting our opinion as to the constitutionality and validity of H. B. 205 recently passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor.

This bill emends Article 1055 of the Code of Criminal Procedure of Texas, 1925. The title to the act under consideration merely refere to the article of the code sought to be amended, and is in the following language:

"An Act emending Article 1055, of the Code of Criminal Procedure of Texas, 1925; and declaring an emergency."

The Forty-Nitth Legislature at its first called session attempted to amend Article 1055, supra, by passage of H. B. 727, chapter 488, General and Special Laws. This enactment was declared unconstitutional by this department in opinion No. 0-25, rendered on January 11, 1939. The saption was held to be defective because the express verblage limited and restricted the purpose of the bill, as well as being deceptive.

The caption of H. B. 205 does not have such vices. It specifies the revision and article to be amended, without indicating the particulars of the changes to be made by the amendment. This has been accepted by our courts with the reasoning that the naming of the article to be amended directs attention to all of the provisions therein, as the subject of the amending act, and that such provisions can be ascertained by reading the act to be amended. See Katz v. State, 64 S. W. (2d) 130, and authorities therein cited. In the case before us, the provisions of Article 1055, C. C. P., 1925, were in effect, directed attention to in the title of the act as the subject of the amending act. We quote from the Katz case:

"The courts of this state have held that a reference to a number of an article in a code, such as our Revised Statutes, is sufficient in the title of an act amendatory thereof, to allow any amendment germane to the subject treated in the article referred to. English a Scottish-American Mort. & Inv. Co. v. Hardy, 93 Tex. 289, 55 S. W. 169; State v. McCracken, 42 Tex. 384." (underscoring ours).

An examination of the provisions of Article 1055, C. C. P. supra, and comparison with Section 1 of H. B. 205, reveals substantial and material change in the text. Prior to amendment the article read:

"Article 1055. Half costs paid officers.

"The county shall be liable to each officer and witness having costs in a misdemeanor case for only one-half thereof where the defendant has satisfied the fine and costs adjudged against him in full by labor in the workhouse, on the county farm, on the public roads or upon any public works of the county; and to pay such half of such legal cost as may have been so taxed, not including commissions, the county judge shall issue his warrant upon the County Treasurer in favor of the proper party, and the same shall be paid out of the road and bridge fund or other funds not otherwise appropriated."

Following passage and executive approval of H. B. 205, said article now reads:

"Article 1055. The county shall not be liable to the officer and witness having costs in a misdemeanor case where defendant pays his fine and costs. The county shall be liable for one-half of the fees of the officers of the court, when the defendant fails to pay his fine and lays his fine out in the county jail or discharges the sene by means of working such fine out on the county roads or on any county project. And to pay such half of costs, the county clerk shall issue his warrant on the County Treasurer in favor of such officer to be paid out of the Road and Bridge Fund or other funds not otherwise appropriated."

While substantial cohanges are noted in the terminology and provisions of H. B. 205, it is our opinion the subject treated is the same, i.e., half costs paid offieers under certain conditions. Therefore, we hold the seption or title is sufficient to meet the constitutional requirements.

The emergency clause of H. B. 205 is erroneous in stating that H. B. 727 of the Forty-fifth Legislature, which we declared unconstitutional, contained "the exact provisions of this Act" and "this Bill....is merely a correction of House Bill No. 727."

We do not reason the errors in the emergency elause to vitiate the bill. We quote from the case of Kissouri-Kansas-Texas R. Co. v. Thomason (Civ. App., writ refused):280 S. W. 325:

"Emergency clauses on bills, however, are not added for the purpose of clarifying or declaring the intention of the Legislature, nor to explain the express language of the act; but only for the purpose of setting forth the reasons for the suspension of the constitutional rule requiring the bill to be read on three separate days. and for putting into immediate affect such act whatever be its scope and terms."

See also 39 Tex. Jur. 227; Lloyds Casualty Co. v. Lem (Civ. App. writ dismissed), 62 S. W. (2d) 497.

An examination of the body of H. B. 205, while revealing a substantial departure from the pro-visions of Art. 1055, C. C. P., 1925 and H. B. 727, 45th Leg. Reg. Sess., does not disclose any violence to our fundamental law, nor any excess of legislative prerogative.

We therefore respectfully advice you that it is our opinion that H. B. 205, as enacted, is valid and constitutional.

Yours very truly
