THE TEXAS READING CLUB: AN INTRODUCTION

The Texas Reading Club, sponsored cooperatively by local libraries and by the Texas State Library, is a program to encourage children and their parents to read and to use the library. The Reading Club offers a structured reading program and a variety of entertaining literature related story hours, puppet shows, films, and other attractive events.

The Texas State Library selects a theme each year and produces posters, bookmarks, reading logs, and certificates to publicize that theme. Local libraries develop the programs.

To inspire program ideas, the state library publishes this guide to activities and crafts, to books and audio-visuals appropriate for the year's theme.

To help librarians and volunteers organize and manage a reading club, the Texas State Library provides a separate publication, A LIBRARIAN'S PLANNING HANDBOOK FOR THE TEXAS READING CLUB.

PROGRAM IDEAS AND CRAFTS

This year's reading program was designed to introduce participants to some of the more than three million different animals which inhabit the Earth; to look at extinct animals or endangered species; to examine the ways in which people use and interact with animals; and to enjoy the world of imaginary and storybook animals. Obviously not all animals, or even all groups of animals, could be covered and users of this manual are free to adapt, add to, and subtract from suggestions to include their favorites or topics of local interest.

Most of the activities are best suited for readers in grades one through six. It cannot be emphasized often enough that all crafts should be practiced prior to doing them with a group. It is critical that the group leader (librarian, volunteer, aides) be comfortable with executing all steps. Most crafts use "scrap" or low cost materials and projects are designed to allow children to produce an item which results in a feeling of accomplishment yet encourages creativity and originality. Most crafts can be adapted (generally by preparing some materials ahead of time) for younger participants. The younger the children and/or the larger the group, the more extra hands you will want to have helping. This is a great time to encourage volunteer support--junior high school students make wonderful helpers!

If a specific pattern is required, it has been provided; otherwise, any available pattern will suffice. Patterns and templates are commercially available from many sources, a few of which have been noted in the "Suppliers" section. ALL BOOKS MENTIONED IN THE ACTIVITIES ARE CITED IN THE BIBLIOGRAPHY. As often as is feasible, display the finished projects.

A calendar has been provided to suggest "special days" for animal related activities. Use these as program stimulators but do not feel bound to the calendar.

Films, filmstrips, videocassettes and music should also be included in your programming occasionally. Many organizations which deal with animals will send information which will be useful in planning programs and provide supplemental materials and craft ideas. See the "Organizations" section for addresses and descriptions of items you might want to request.

Special thanks to June Petty and Susan Harding, Mesquite Public Library for suggesting additional activities and critiquing instructions.

CALENDAR OF ANTICS

Animal antics can occur in conjunction with a number of calendar events. Whenever possible, tie reading club activities into special dates but if your reading club occurs at another time, adapt activities to fit your needs. Some dates are moveable to begin or end on the weekend so check 1987 Chase's Calendar of Events if exact dates are needed for publicity. Contacting sponsors is not essential but addresses are provided in case additional information is desired.

Week One
ALL CREATURES GREAT AND SMALL

The world is filled with a multitude of animals, each having its own niche in the ecological system. Begin reading club activities by examining the variety of animals and their characteristics.

Cardboard Animals:

Materials: Various sizes and shapes of cardboard boxes and tubes, yarn, small pieces of construction paper, glue and tape.

Procedure: Glue boxes and tubes together to form various animals (see illustration). Tape may be needed to secure tight spots. Small "tubes" can be created from construction paper. Add yarn for manes and tails. Use construction paper for other features.

Animal Word Game:

Starting with the letter A: fill in the blanks. Anyone who cannot think of something for the next letter sits out. "My favorite animal is _____, his name is _____ and he eats _____." ("My favorite animal is an anteater, his name is Arthur and he eats apples.") Statements obviously need not be factual but all must begin with the same letter. For younger children, let them choose a letter rather than follow in sequence. To get the game going and provide inspiration, use A, My Name is Alice by Jane Bayer.

Letter Animals:

This activity could be used in conjunction with several alphabet books, including Animal Alphabet by Bert Kitchen, Ed Emberley's ABC, and A, My Name Is Alice by Jane Bayer. Discarded copies of magazines such as "National Geographic," "Scienceland," and "Ranger Rick" will provide an abundance of material but pictures can also be gleaned from greeting cards, postcards, brochures from the zoo, or even discarded books.

Materials: Construction paper, old magazines with pictures of animals.

Procedure: Have children cut large letters from construction paper (These can be "free-form" or traced from commercially supplied letter patterns. For younger children, cut out letters ahead of time). Find pictures of animals whose names start with each letter and cut around the outline of the animal. Glue onto the appropriate paper letter.

Fingerprint Animals:

Materials: Colored ink pads or paper towels soaked in very thin tempera paint placed in plastic meat trays, white paper, colored pencils or fine-line marker pens.

Procedure: Children use fingers and thumbs to make different size prints. Add features with pens. Inspiration may be found in Ed Emberley's Great Thumbprint Drawing Book.

Chinese Zodiac:

For an explanation of why the Chinese name their years for animals see The Story Vine by Anne Pellowski. Use the story The Rat, the Ox and the Zodiac by Dorothy O. Van Woerkom as the focal point for a program. Construct stick puppets for each year or for each participant's year using animal shapes (patterns for some are included with Week Two and Week Eight).

Animal Wear:

Use with Animals Should Definitely Not Wear Clothing by Judi Barrett.

Materials: Outline drawings of various animals (freehand or use patterns), scissors, glue, fabric scraps and trims.

Procedure: Each child selects an animal and uses scraps of fabric to clothe that animal. After everyone has finished, each should say why that animal should definitely not wear clothing.

Additional Ideas:

1. Glove puppets can be made to dramatize a variety of stories. Use pompoms in assorted sizes and glue to a garden glove. Add doll-size hats, felt and material scraps for clothes, moveable eyes, etc. as indicated by the characters. Stories which can be performed in this manner include "Little Miss Muffet", "The Little Red Hen", "Old MacDonald", and numerous others. If done as a large group project, donations of old winter gloves will cut costs.

2. Use Seymour Simon's Animal Fact/Animal Fable to discuss animal folklore. Each child picks an animal and, using available books, finds one fact or fable sentence to illustrate. Results could be used on a bulletin board. Be sure to have a few statements to get started or for those who need assistance.

3. Display various stuffed animals borrowed from a local toy store. Everything from gorillas to parrots are available.

4. Make balloon animals to display or as a craft. Use water based marking pens (permanent markers will dissolve the balloon) to draw features on the balloons. To be very elaborate, make heads of tagboard (balloon is the body) and construction paper limbs secured by a small amount of rubber cement. Patterns for 9 animals are included in Balloon Bonanza (available in the Hoover catalog, $4.95).

Week Two BARNYARD BUZZ

Many city children are no longer familiar with barnyard animals. Even most farm children are unaware of the range of barnyard animals we depend upon for food and clothing. The activities in this section are designed to introduce children of all ages to our many farm friends and explore the ways in which these animals enrich our lives.

Barnyard Mobile:

Materials: Animal shapes to trace (patterns on next page), tagboard, wire coat hangers, pencils, crayons, scissors, string.

Procedure: Trace animal figures onto tag board and color them. Cut out. Punch small holes at the top of each and attach each to a separate piece of string. Tie strings to metal clothes hanger.

Origami Pig:

Materials: Origami paper, pencils.

Procedure: Fold as per illustration. Add features with pencil. For older children, incorporate into a mini-puppet show by having the librarian work a "big bad wolf" puppet while the "little pigs" tell the fairy tale.

Potato Turkeys:

Materials: Small potatoes, construction paper, glue, toothpicks.

Procedure: Let children cut doubles of turkey feathers in each color and a head from construction paper. Glue two sides together on a toothpick. Insert feathers into back of potato, head at front.

Butter:

Materials: 1 pint whipping cream at room temp, salt, small jars, crackers.

Procedure: Pour small amounts of whipping cream into small glass jars. Be sure that the jars seal well. Let children work in groups of 2-3 shaking the cream in the jar. Butter will form in about 5 minutes. (Note: If time is tightly scheduled, test a sample before hand. The larger the amount of cream to be whipped, the longer it takes.) Drain off excess liquid and add salt to taste. Serve on crackers.

Combine this activity with making a paper bag cow using the pattern from "Old MacDonald" (source noted in ADDITIONAL IDEAS below).

Paper Sack Duck:

Materials: lunch sacks, newspaper, yellow construction paper, rubber bands, crayons, glue.

Procedure: Stuff lunch sack with newspaper. Cut a bill of yellow construction paper. Use rubber band to form neck. Slip bill under rubber band. Draw or glue on paper eyes. Glue feet on bottom, wings on back.

Cotton Ball Chicks:

Materials: Large cotton balls (white or yellow), construction paper, egg cartons, glue.

Procedure: Glue two cotton balls together. Add eyes and beak cut from construction paper. Place in a "broken egg" made from individual egg carton cups.

"Hortense the Chicken":

Tell and draw story. (adapted from Tell and Draw Stories by Margaret J. Olsen.)

Materials: Chalk and chalkboard or large sheet of paper and felt tip pen.

Procedure: Draw as indicated while telling the story.

Bobby lives on a farm. When he had his sixth birthday party, all the children played games. One of the games was "hide and seek". Have you ever played hide and seek on the farm? There are so many places to hide. Bobby was "it" and he hid his eyes right here....

The children ran to hide....Four of the boys and girls hid in the corn field. Sally hid here.... Tommy hid here.... Johnny hid here.... and Ann hid here....

Michael ran and hid behind the barn right here.....Three children ran and hid behind the hay stack.... Jim hid here...Mary hid here....and Dick hid here.....

And three other children hid behind the chicken coop....one, two, three. They were the ones who discovered that they were sharing their hiding place with someone else. Have you guessed who it was? It was HORTENSE, a pretty, white, chicken.

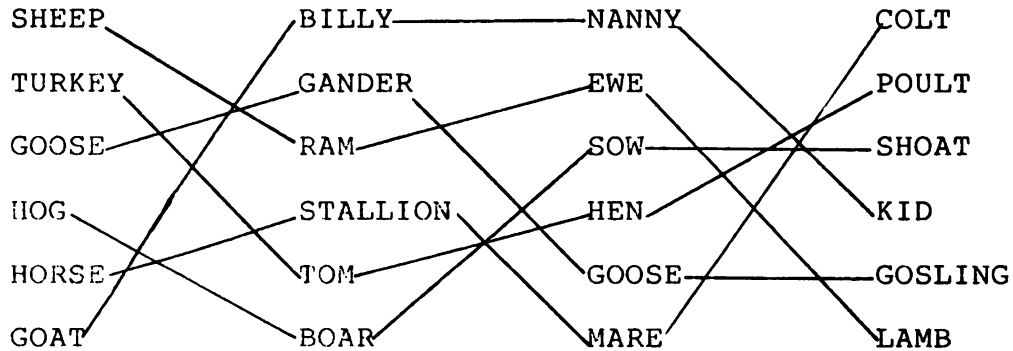

Family Tangle:

Materials: Reproduce one game sheet for each child, pencils.

Procedure: Match the mother to the father and then to the baby's name for each farm animal.

Animal	Father	Mother	Baby
SHEEP	BILLY	NANNY	COLT
TURKEY	GANDER	EWE	POULT
GOOSE	RAM	SOW	SHOAT
HOG	STALLION	HEN	KID
HORSE	TOM	GOOSE	GOSLING
GOAT	BOAR	MARE	LAMB

Answers:

Additional ideas:

1. Make apple pigs. Instructions are in the book, Apple Pigs by Ruth Orbach.

2. Invite guests from local 4-H clubs, farms or farm organizations to bring baby animals to the library. Set up a petting barnyard outside. Small animals can be contained on tarped areas of library meeting room if outdoor activities are not feasible.

3. Invite a country vet to tell how his patients differ from pet patients and show some of his tools or ask a farrier to demonstrate horseshoeing techniques.

4. Patterns for "Old MacDonald" paper bag puppets can be found in Carolyn Feller Bauer's Handbook for Storytellers. Older children will be able to complete the entire project but this project can also be made very simple by having volunteers pre-cut and paste figures onto the paper bags for preschool children to color. After puppets are prepared, all join in singing, holding up puppet and making animal noises.

5. Have a wool demonstration, from sheep to shirt if possible. Check craft guilds, farm agencies, and historical groups. Request information packet from Pendelton Woolen Mills (see Appendix for address) or other wool clothing manufacturers. This is a good time to use Tomie DePaola's Charlie Needs a Cloak.

Week Three
FIELD AND FOREST

Encompassing a wide range of animals who inhabit the fields and forests of the world, this week's activities focus on a variety of different animals, gentle and fierce, large and small.

Mice:

Materials: Felt squares, newspaper, tissue or cotton for stuffing, yarn, optional sequins or wiggle eyes, pens, craft glue.

Procedure: Cut heart shapes any size. Place crumpled newspaper or use tissue or cotton stuffing in the center of the heart. Lay a piece of yarn along indentation at top of heart. Apply paste to edges of the heart and fold in middle. Cut a smaller heart for ears and glue in place. Apply eyes with pen, sequins, or wiggle eyes. Draw in nose and whiskers with felt tip pen.

The Hunt:

Materials: Paper, crayons.

Procedure: Tell the story "Let's Go on a Bear Hunt" to begin this program. Then sing the song "Oh, A Hunting We Will Go" (use the Langstaff book if you would like). Let the children make up new verses, then draw two illustrations to accompany their verse; the first should illustrate the animal they will catch, the second where they would put him.

Popsicle Stick Puzzles:

Materials: Approx. 10-12 popsicle sticks per child, crayons or felt tip markers, tape, rubber bands.

Procedure: Line up the popsicle sticks so that they are straight and touching. Put two strips of tape across the sticks to hold them together. Number them from left to right. Turn the sticks over, still taped together. Draw a simple picture of an animal from the field or forests. Be sure that each stick has some part of the design on it. (For younger children, have a volunteer draw the shape of the animal so that they can color it in or reduce the number of sticks to 3-4). Remove the tape, mix up the sticks, and try to put your puzzle back together without looking at the numbers. Rubber band all sticks together. (Older children may want to leave off numbers and perhaps do a second picture on the reverse side.)

Bunny Bags:

Materials: Paper lunch sacks, yarn, crayons, cotton balls.

Procedure: Cut an indentation into the lunch sack, as illustrated. Round off "ears". Add a loop of yarn for a handle and staple ears together. Color (or paste construction paper) eyes, teeth, and whiskers. Glue a cotton ball at the bottom of the back for a tail.

Armadillo Paper Bag Puppet:

Materials: Lunch bags, construction paper, glue, scissors, crayons, pattern (next page).

Procedure: Using the pattern (on the next page) trace the armadillo's face and arms on light brown construction paper. Cut out and glue the face to the flap of the unopened paper bag. A bottom jaw can be made by tracing just that part of the face and glueing it under the flap, if desired. Glue arms to the sides of the opened bag. Color features for face.

Bat Mobiles:

Materials: 2 cups from egg cartons, black and red construction paper, scissors, branches, heavy duty thread.

Procedure: Cut bat wings from black paper. Glue one egg cup to each side of the wings. Cut pointed ears and glue in place. Add eyes, punched from paper or wiggle eyes. Add a red mouth. Glue one end of thread to bat, tie the other around branch. Use with Rufus by Tomi Ungerer.

Additional ideas:

1. Read Love From Uncle Clyde by Nancy Parker or There's A Hippopotamus Under My Bed by Mike Thaler. Then read Shel Silverstein's "How to Make a Hippo Sandwich" from Where the Sidewalk Ends. Let children make their own props to illustrate the poem from construction paper.

2. Draw a wildlife habitat on a large paper bag. Cut a hole in the center of the bag for your critter to emerge (use a small hand puppet, finger puppets or make an envelope puppet by tucking the flap inside an envelope, placing your hand inside the envelope and gently bringing your fingers together). Puppets U.S.A.: Texas by Nancy Renfro includes a chapter with detailed instructions plus other animal puppet ideas.

Week Four
HEFFALUMPS AND WOZLES

Imaginary creatures, fantasy animals and storybook friends are the source of inspiration for activities this week.

Hare and Tortoise race:

Materials: Hare and tortoise patterns (next page), scissors, crayons, string.

Procedure: Copy the hare and tortoise patterns. Paste on cardboard and cut out. Punch holes where indicated. Color and decorate. Tie 6' piece of string to a chair or table leg. The distance between the floor and the string should equal the height of the tortoise. Thread the string through the hole on the tortoise. Repeat procedure for the hare. Assign racers to each animal. Racers kneel down in front of the chair and pull the strings tight. The cardboard animals should stand up. Using quick, short jerks move the cardboard animals towards the finish line (bottom of string) Using a shorter string and standing up will make the race easier for younger children.

Mythological Mix-up:

Rearrange the following letters to make the names of seven mythological creatures.

IFRIGFN (Griffin)

ONNRUIC (Unicorn)

NHOXPEI (Phoenix)

NARCEUT (Centaur)

EASPGSU (Pegasus)

SLIKSAIB (Basilisk)

CRO (Roc)

Ask the children to draw pictures, based only on the names, of what they think these creatures look like. Then find pictures in books and see how similar they are. For younger groups, provide a brief description.

Egg Carton Dragon:

Materials: Cardboard egg cartons, markers and crayons, construction paper, wiggle eyes, pipe cleaners, green glitter, glue.

Procedure: Cut egg carton in half lengthwise. Color as desired. Glue pipe cleaner horns, wiggle eyes, construction paper features and green glitter for scales.

Garfield's Birthday Party:

Celebrate Garfield the Cat's birthday (June 19) by having a party complete with games, songs, and cake. Make a lasagna (Garfield's favorite food) cake by using orange food coloring to tint a white sheet cake and yellow icing. Decorate with Garfield birthday cake decorations available in many grocery stores or use decorating gel for your own creations. Be sure to sing "Happy Birthday"!

Party Games

Materials: 6x6" squares of red, yellow, and orange felt, Beans or other heavy stuffing, needle and thread.

Procedure: Use three or four layers of felt to make "lasagna" bean bags. Bean bags are made by sewing a handful of beans inside layers of material. (Felt may slip some if machine sewn but even edges are not necessary). Use bean bags to play "Pass the Hot Lasagna". Use the song "Alley Cat". Person holding the lasagna when the music stops is out. Winner is the last person remaining. Use your lasagna bean bags for another game by drawing a large Garfield face on a folded piece of heavy cardboard approximately 3 feet by 3 feet in size. Cut a large hole for the mouth and play "Lasagna Toss". Winner is the player who "feeds" Garfield the most lasagna. Generally it is best to limit the number of tosses to about 3 pieces of lasagna depending on your group size.

Pin the Tail on Eeyore:

Materials: Large donkey drawing (use opaque projector to blow-up picture of Eeyore or buy a commercially available game); one tail (pattern next page) per child, blindfold, tacks or tape.

Procedure: Blindfold each child and spin around slowly three times. Hand each player an Eeyore's tail with pin or tape in place. Closest person to the proper spot is the winner.

Additional Ideas:

1. Caroline Feller Bauer's, This Way to Books contains a Paddington Bear Word Find game (page 273) which could be used after reading Paddington Helps Out.

2. Attract the attention of the Whiffle Poofle, a mythical creature found in Texas lakes, by telling tall tales which include animals in them. Puppets U.S.A.: Texas by Nancy Renfro includes several.

3. Make "Wild Thing" bag costumes. Flatten large shopping bags, flap end at the top. Tape down the flap. Each child decorates the entire front of the bag with his/her idea of a "wild thing". Glue or staple on arms cut from extra bags. Staple two long pieces of ribbon to the top of the bag and tie around the child's neck.

Week Five
CREEPY CRAWLIES

Bugs and snakes, worms and toads, and other creatures that slither, slide, and creep are the focus of these activities.

Lady Bug:

Materials: Lady Bug pattern (next page), red and black construction paper, white paper, pencils, scissors, brass fasteners, heavy duty black thread, wiggle eyes (optional).

Procedure: Trace the Lady Bug pattern onto black construction paper. Use the pattern to trace a circle for wings onto red construction paper, fold and cut in half. Have children copy a poem such as "Lady Bug, Lady Bug, Fly Away Home" onto white paper and glue to body (or photocopy for them. Older children could also write their own poem). Overlap wings slightly and attach with a brass fastener to body. Add antennae and six legs using small pieces of heavy duty black thread. Glue wiggle eyes or punch out holes for eyes. Wings will open and close to reveal poem.

Spider Webs:

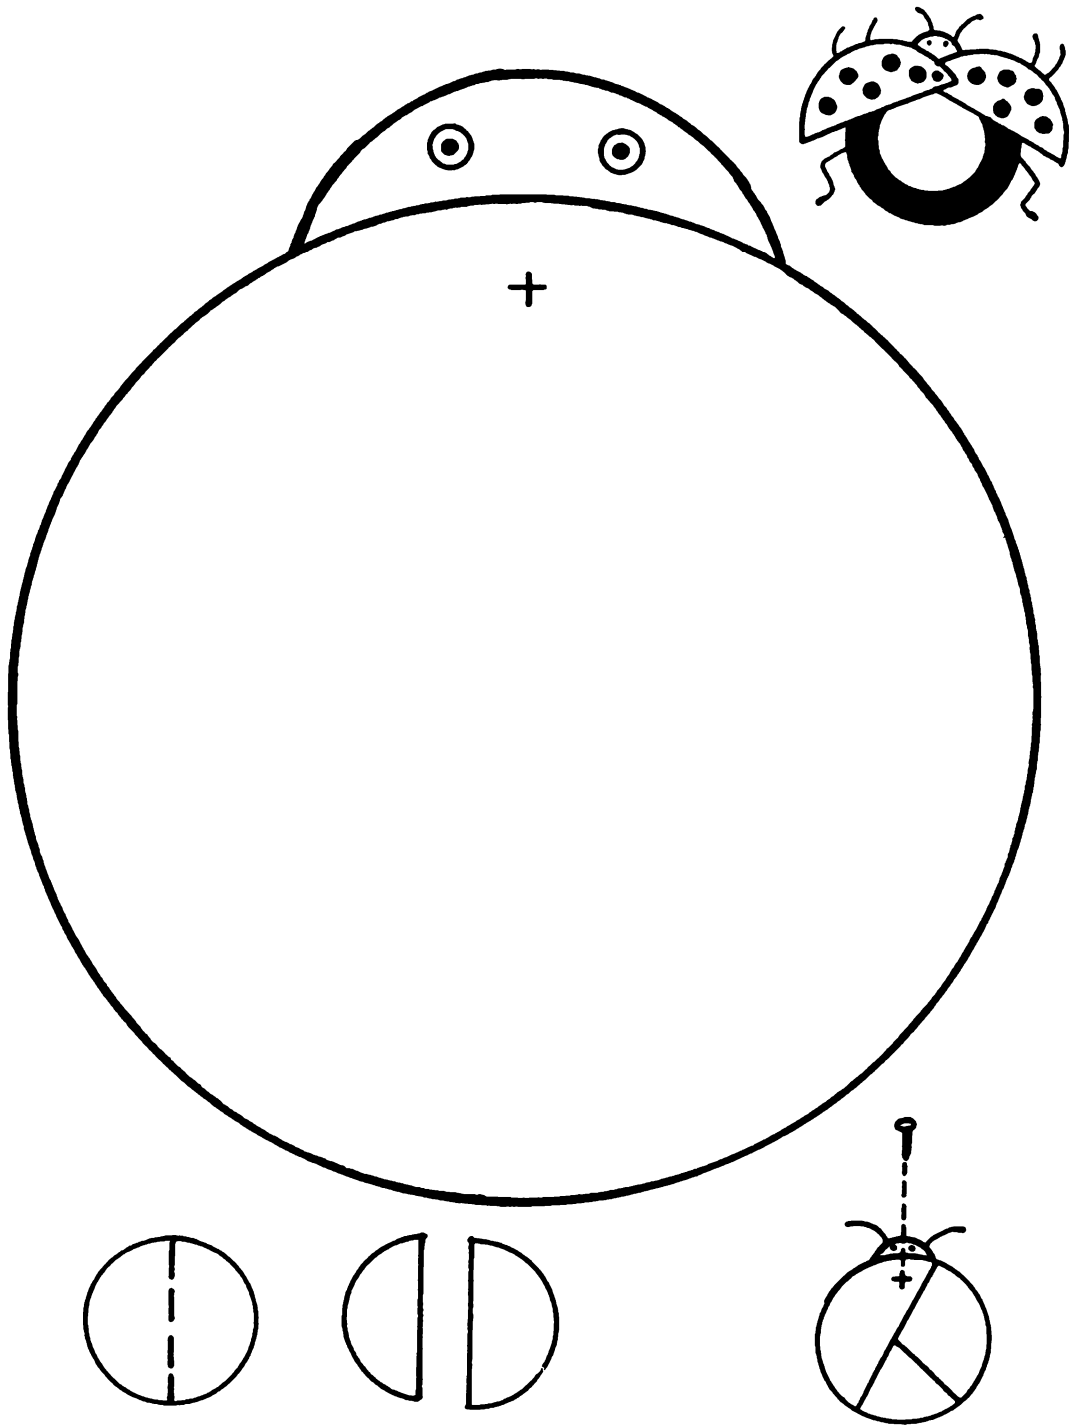

Materials: Heavy paper, white glue, yarn, construction paper.

Procedure: Draw a spider's web on a piece of heavy art paper. Trace over web lines with glue. Press pieces of yarn to glue. Cut out and color a spider from construction paper. Connect spider to web by gluing yarn to both. (Make marshmallow spiders as a special treat. Use large white marshmallows for the body, adding legs cut from black construction paper. Use cake decorating gel to add eyes and mouth. Yummy!)

Cylinder Snakes:

Materials: Cardboard cylinders (six to seven per child, toilet paper tubes work well or cut to size from larger tubes), ribbon pieces, crayons or marker pens, glue.

Procedure: Decorate snakes using crayons or marker pens. Be sure that one tube is done for the head and include eyes, mouth, etc. Attach with ribbon pieces glued to tubes.

Construction Paper Creepers:

Materials: Two or more colors plus black construction paper, pencil, scissors, glue, crayons.

Procedure: Cut out 5 circles. Fold four of the circles in half and glue together at the edges. Cut fifth circle slightly above half for a head and draw a face. Glue to front of body. Cut six strips for legs and two for feelers from black construction paper. Glue onto body.

Butterfly Barrette:

Materials: Butterfly pattern, felt pieces, glue, sequins, hair clips.

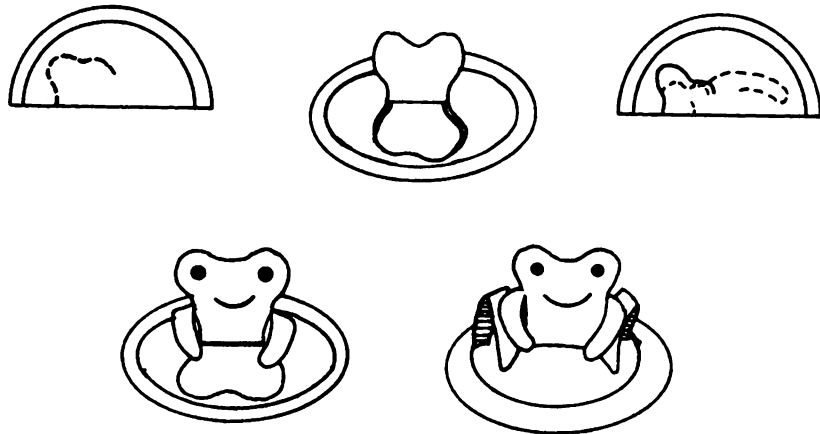

Procedure: Cut butterfly shape from felt. Cut another slightly larger from a contrasting color, glue small butterfly to top of larger one. Glue additional features as desired. Glue a hair clip to the back. (Wooden spring-type clothes pins could be used for message clips).

Frog's Legs:

Materials: One paper plate (green if possible, but white will do), scissors.

Procedures: Hold up the paper plate for the lily pad. Fold in half and cut out the lily pad (1) approximating the shape indicated by the dotted line. Fold the lily pad up and show to the children (2). Fold the plate in half again and cut out the frog (3) which is made by cutting the approximate shape indicated by the dotted lines over what has already been cut, (the lily pad becomes part of the frog). Open the plate and fold the lily pad part up to become the frog's face. Draw eyes and fold down arms (4). Fold frog legs under and then forward so that they rest on the lily pad (5). The frog will bounce.

Use as part of a frog storytime. Good stories to include are Jump, Frog, Jump by Robert Kalan and The Foolish Frog by Pete Seeger (also available as a filmstrip and 16mm film). Almost anyone can sing along to The Foolish Frog, a cappella with or without the pictures being shown. Include frog fingerplays and songs.

"Frog song" (sing to your own tune as actions are performed.)
G-rump went the little green frog one day (squat down on "lily pad", jumping as you say "grump")
G-rump went the little green frog. (repeat action)
G-rump went the little green frog one day (repeat)
And his eyes went glunk, glunk, glunk. (open hands in front of eyes at each "glunk")

Caterpillar magnets:

Materials: Green pom-poms (can be cut from drapery ball fringe available in yard good stores or purchased in craft stores), 3 inch strip magnets with one adhesive side (available in craft supply stores), artificial flower stamen (available in craft stores), wiggle eyes.

Procedure: Attach three green pom-poms to the adhesive side of the magnet strip, glue on yellow flower stamen for antenna, add wiggle eyes.

Buzzing Bees:

Materials: Two joined cups from cardboard egg cartons, yellow poster paint, black construction paper, glue, black pipe cleaners, magic markers.

Procedure: Paint egg cups yellow. Allow to dry while you cut black stripes from construction paper. Glue on. Twist pipe cleaners for antennae and stick through top of one cup. Add features with markers.

Crocodile Smiles:

Draw or trace a large crocodile on heavy cardboard. Be sure to include a very large, wide-open mouth. Cut a hole where his stomach should be and hang a plastic bag over the hole from behind. As you tell the story "Keep Your Mouth Closed, Dear" by Aliko drop real, miniature, or cardboard props into his stomach. Props include a wooden spoon, baby powder bottle, alarm clock, vacuum cleaner hose, and a birthday cake. This could also be done as a flannel board or magnet board story using cut-out props and character.

Weaving Web Magic:

Tell or read the story of Arachne and preserve a spider web for the group to see. Versions of the tale of Arachne can be found in many books of Greek mythology. Be sure to explain how the scientific name for spiders, arachnids, came from this story. One version which includes some pictures is The Story of Arachne by Pamela Espeland.

Materials: Cardboard or stiff paper, spray paint (a different color than the paper), scissors.

Procedure: Have one person hold the paper behind a spider's web. The other sprays paint, beginning at the center and moving out to the edges. Don't get too close or the air pressure from the can may damage the web (stay about 2 feet away). Press the paper lightly against the wet web. Cut away the supporting threads and let the paint dry. Prepare this ahead of time (or at least have several webs available) as it may take a little practice to get good results.

Chirp-rise:

Find a cricket. Listen to the chirps. Count the number of chirps the cricket makes in 14 seconds. Add 40. That will be the temperature of the air. Explore additional ways that insects and other animals forecast the weather. (A number of ideas can be found in Nature's Weather Forecasters by Helen R. Sattler.) Discuss the validity of some of the weather sign rhymes ("When the glowworm lights her lamp, the air is always damp"). Let the children make up a few adages of their own and, if desired, illustrate them for the bulletin board.

Additional ideas:

1. Read a chapter or two from HOW TO EAT FRIED WORMS. Serve "fried worms" (chow mein noodles) and let each child supply a "recipe" for how they would eat fried worms.
2. Make nut pictures. Trace around a walnut shell onto cardboard. Draw legs and head to make insects, turtles, etc. Color in the background then glue walnut shell in place.
3. Set up an ant farm (available from Cole's or Insect Lore, see "Suppliers" section). Toy "bag of ants" can also be purchased as favors or to play a "guess the number" game.
4. Invite a beekeeper to bring a hive and explain how honey is made. Serve honey candy, honey on bread or crackers as a treat.

Week Six
PET PALS

Origami Dog:

Materials: Origami paper, colored pencils.

Procedure: Fold as indicated in illustrations.

Pet Pad:

Materials: White paper, construction paper, scissors, crayons, yarn, buttons, other scraps as available.

Procedure: Fold several sheets of white paper in half. Fold a sheet of colored construction paper, the same size, in half. Cut out a semi-circle in the middle bottom edge of the front of the construction paper. Staple the white paper inside the construction paper cover. Add details for cat or dog using crayons, buttons, yarn scraps, zigzag, etc. Use as a notepad or give as a gift.

Fire House Dog

Materials: Dog and hat patterns (next page), 9x12" sheets white, black and red construction paper, two foam cups per child, brass fasteners, aluminum foil.

Procedure: Trace the hat pattern onto red paper. Cut along inner line and fold up to create a flap. Add a white paper number to flap. Trace eyes, legs and ears onto white paper. Use a black marker or crayon to color spots. Cut a tongue from red paper and a nose from black. Glue nose to bottom of one cup. Push a brass fastener through that cup sideways and attach to the bottom of the second cup. (See illustration on next page. Sideways cup on top becomes the head, bottom cup is the body). Glue eyes, ears and fire hat to head. Glue arms and tongue on bottom cup (body). Add a thin strip of black paper with an aluminum foil nozzle.

Dog Bone Pins:

Materials: Small dog bone cookie cutter or freehand pattern, non-edible salt dough recipe, poster paint, decorations (optional, alphabet noodles, sequins, glitter), pin backs.

Procedure: Make dog bones ahead of time using a cookie cutter available in many kitchen supply stores. Let children paint and decorate. Decorations can be kept simple or can be quite elaborate. Glue alphabet noodles to add your name (or your dog's). Glue pin backs onto the back of the bone and let dry.

Millions of Cats:

Materials: Medium weight white paper (construction paper or light weight tag board works well), crayons, scissors, tape.

Procedure: Trace the pattern below onto paper. Each child colors their own unique cat. Fold tab around child's finger and tape slightly loose.

Unusual Pets:

Sponsor an unusual pets day and invite people from the community to bring ferrets, snakes, rabbits, and other unusual pets to the library. Discuss their care and why they chose that particular pet. Pet stores and 4-H Clubs can often provide contacts.

Cat Rocks:

Make a better "pet rock".

Materials: Smooth, clean rocks, tempera paints, felt scraps, glue.

Procedure: Paint faces (eyes, nose, and whiskers) on rock. Older children might want to paint an entire body on a larger rock or use craft glue to glue two rocks together. Let dry. Glue on felt ears, yarn tail (if applicable).

Pet Riddles:

What has two heads, four eyes, six legs, and a tail? A horse and rider.

How is a well dressed man different from a warm dog? The man wears a complete suit. The dog just pants.

Why is a dog's tail like the center of a tree trunk? It is farthest from the bark.

What do you get if you cross an insect and a rabbit? Bugs Bunny.

Who always goes to bed with shoes on? A horse.

What dog does not bark no matter what you do to him? A hot dog.

Why does a dog wag his tail? Because no one else will wag it for him.

What color is a happy cat? Purrple.

What famous prize do cats win? The A-cat-emy Award.

Additional ideas:

1. Make a present for your pets. Cats like empty spools and large buttons strung on heavy string. Make a leash or a dinner mat for your dog. Additional ideas for gifts for birds, cage animals, and cats and dogs can be found in Make Your Pet a Present by Eve Barwell.

2. Request a speaker from your local humane society or pet store to demonstrate pet care and responsibility.

3. Sponsor a pet show for real or stuffed pets. Give ribbons for shortest tail, most colors, quietest, etc. All should receive some award. Read Ezra Jack Keat's Pet Show.

4. Contact your local agency for the blind. Perhaps someone in your community can demonstrate how guide dogs are used and proper etiquette when a guide dog is encountered.

5. Make dog bone bookmarks using brown or tan felt and a dog bone shaped cookie cutter or free-hand pattern.

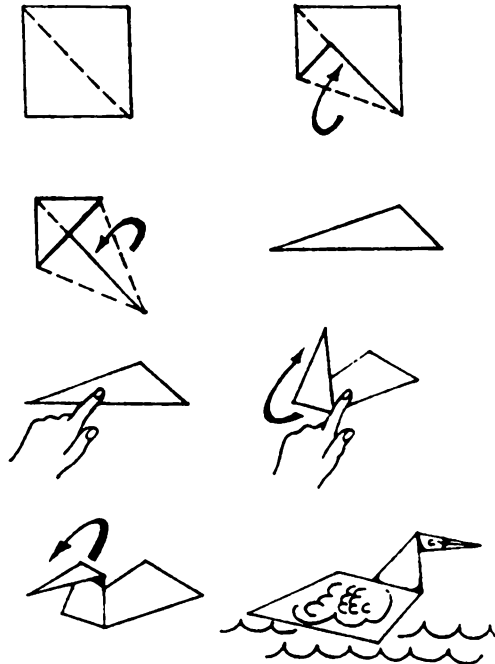

Week Seven
FINS AND FEATHERS

Fish and birds, creatures of the air and sea are grouped together to be highlighted in the following activities.

Swan Origami Figure:

Materials: Origami paper or thin white paper, scissors, colored pencils.

Procedure: Start with a sheet of white paper. Fold to form a square, cutting off excess paper. Follow folding instructions, below. Draw eyes, beak and feathers with crayons. Use with "The Ugly Duckling".

Octopus Painting:

Materials: Finger paint paper, pencils, marking pens or crayons, finger paint.

Procedure: Use your hands as a pattern to trace four fingers. Move your hand over and, overlapping slightly, trace four fingers again. Round off the top of the octopus. Cut out. Draw eyes and mouth with markers or crayons. Dip fingers into finger paint and press dots on octopus body. Repeat with several colors.

Paper Parrot:

Materials: Colored scraps of paper, squares of yellow and green construction paper, pencil, tape dispenser, black crayon.

Procedure: Use tape dispenser (or trace similar shape) to trace head on yellow paper. Pencil line for beak as indicated and add eye. Cut circle of green paper for body and attach to head. Add 3x1" strips of colored paper for feathers.

Paper Bag Owl:

Materials: Lunch size paper bags, approximately 30 4x1" paper rectangles, extra construction paper.

Procedure: Glue ends of paper rectangles to body of the owl for feathers (should be loose--just glue to top end). It's easiest if you start at the open end of the bag and work up. Add beak, eyes, and wings.

Whale of a Tale:

Draw and Tell Story

Materials: Chalk board and chalk or large sheet of paper and marker pen.

Procedure: As you tell the story, draw the lines indicated.

Kathy and Steve were at the Beach. As they walked along the beach they picked up shells.

A big wave rolled in so Kathy and Steve ran up the beach to avoid getting wet.

The wave rolled back out to sea so Steve and Kathy went back down to the edge of the water.

When their mother called them to lunch, Steve and Kathy ran quickly, swerving to avoid a sand castle.

They sat in a circle and ate lunch. Suddenly, Kathy looked out into the ocean and what did she see?

Sea Scenes:

Materials: Clear plastic deli lids (2 per child). Small pieces of construction paper, sand, blue cellophane, yarn.

Procedure: Let children use their imagination, with a little help from pictures you display, to cut out sea life (fish, shells, sea weed). Glue to one clear plastic lid. Spread a little bit of glue and a sprinkling of sand along the bottom edge. Punch a hole near the top the lid. Cut the inside out of the second lid, leaving just the outer rim. Cover the uncut lid with cellophane and glue rim over the cellophane to hold it in place. Tie a piece of string or yarn through holes.

Shell Houses:

Read the story Houses from the Sea. Perhaps a community member has a shell collection they could share with the group. Or borrow shells from a craft supply store or nautical gift shop. Discuss the original inhabitants of the shells but also mention animals which make their homes in the discarded shells. You might be able to get a pet store to donate some hermit crabs for a terrarium in the children's area.

Penguin Parade:

Mr. Popper found it odd that all penguins live at the South Pole and thought they might like the North Pole as well, if they only knew how to get there. Help this penguin find his way through the maze to the North Pole (next page). Show the filmstrip version of Mr. Popper's Penguins, one of the 16mm films on penguins listed in the FILMS section of this manual, or read a section of the book aloud.

Additional Ideas:

1. Sing the song "Rubber Ducky" from THE SESAME STREET SONGBOOK. Make duck sponges by cutting the shape out of a thin kitchen sponge.
2. Celebrations by Caroline Feller Bauer includes a "Gone Fishin'" chapter with poetry, cookie recipe, bulletin board, tongue twisters, fish facts, etc.
3. For small groups of older children, instructions for an authentic Oriental Fish Kite can be found in Paperworks: Colorful Crafts from Picture Eggs to Fish Kites by Virginie Fowler. A slightly less complex kite is included in Crafts From Around the World by Arden J. Newsome.
4. Put a fish net on the bulletin board. Allow each reader to put a "fish in the sea" for every book read.

Week Eight
THE ANIMAL FAIR

"I went to the animal fair, the birds and the beasts were there, the big baboon by the light of the moon was combing his auburn hair...." Use this well known poem as the basis for a final round up of activities centered around the circus or zoo animals.

Peanutty Elephant:

Materials: Gray construction paper, elephant pattern, peanuts, tape.

Procedure: Trace the pattern onto gray construction paper. Cut out and fold along dotted lines. Fold head back on line A so that trunk is facing tail then fold head forward on line B. Wrap the elephant around a peanut and tape in place across middle. Fold ears back, head down and curl trunk slightly.

Spot the Giraffe Bulletin Board:

Materials: Butcher paper, black construction paper.

Procedure: Draw a very large giraffe on butcher paper. If your bulletin board will not accommodate the entire body, include as much as possible. Cut out black, odd shaped spots. Let children put a spot on the giraffe for every book read (or for every person who has read during the program).

Shadow Puppet Play:

Materials: Zookeeper puppet (can be regular puppet), stick puppets for giraffe, lion, monkey, elephant, and bear (patterns on next page).

Procedures: A shadow puppet play must have a tight screen on which shadows will be projected. Muslin makes a good, inexpensive screen but any translucent material, including paper, will work. Paint background scenery if desired. Pull half of screen tight, keeping half loose. Zookeeper will enter stage through the loose side. Light source should be behind stage shining onto the tight side of the screen so that shadows of the animals appear on the curtain. Inexpensive spot reflector lamps available at most grocery stores make a good spotlight. Stick puppets will be held behind the screen so that only their shadows appear on the screen.

ZOO SHADOWS

by Ann Furche Sampson

(Curtain closed)

Narrator's voice (from backstage): One summer night at the local town zoo, the animals were bored.. They had nothing to do. They slipped from their cages and started to roam. They wanted to peek in the zookeeper's home.

(Curtain opens. Zookeeper is on stage. Shadows of all animal heads appear behind stretched screen.)

Narrator: The zookeeper gasped (zookeeper gasps). He saw shadows and shapes silhouetted by moonlight against his white drapes.

Zookeeper: Who is out there? If you're animals wild go back to your cages. You've got me quite riled.

Lion: (Other animals retreat leaving lion's head alone in the shadow) We'll go back to our cages if you'll first play a game. We'll each give some clues, then you tell us our name.

Zookeeper: That sounds rather jolly. I'll take the dare. (Motions to audience) But you listen, too and help me out there.

Lion: Here's the first of your clues. You better not bungle. I've got sharp teeth and claws. I'm the king of the jungle. My mane is quite bushy. My fur is of tan. Who am I zookeeper? Tell me if you can.

Zookeeper: I know who you are. I can guess without trying. You're the greatest of cats. You are a (pause to indicated to audience that they are to respond) LION.

Lion: (Peeks head around muslin) You guessed me so quickly, I couldn't fool you. But see how you fare with number two.

(Lion leaves and monkey is silhouetted on the muslin)

Monkey: I swing from my tail and eat with my feet. Bananas, bananas are my favorite treat. I love to laugh and play all day. Who am I zookeeper? Can you say?

Zookeeper: With all those banana peels your cage is so junky. You're a furry little prankster. You are a (pause for audience response) MONKEY.

Monkey: (peeks around muslin) You're right again. You are smart as can be. But see how you fare with number three.

(Monkey leaves and is replaced by shadow of giraffe)

Giraffe: I have a long neck. Nibble leaves from the trees. My fur, well, it's spotted. I have four knobby knees. I never say much. I'm quiet and shy. Who am I zookeeper? Give it a try.

Zookeeper: I recognized you in a second and a half. You'd look great in bow ties. You are a (pause) GIRAFFE.

Giraffe: (peeks around muslin) I'm really impressed. A perfect score! But see how you fare with number four.

(Giraffe leave and the elephant is silhouetted on the muslin).

Elephant: My ears are large, they flap in the breeze. My nose is long too -- watch out if I sneeze. My skin's grey and wrinkled. Boy, am I fat. If you can guess my name, I'll eat my hat!

Zookeeper: Start chomping my friend. I hate to be blunt. But who else is so large? You're an (pause) ELEPHANT!

Elephant: (peeks around muslin) What a good guesser. Sakes alive! The next is the last one, number five.

(Elephant leaves and is replaced by bear's shadow)

Bear: I snooze during winter. I love a snug cave. Honey and fish are the foods that I crave. I also love berries. My baby's a cub. Who am I zookeeper? Can you guess me, old bub?

Zookeeper: Whether polar or grizzly, I don't really care. You are grouchy and grumbly. You are a (pause) BEAR.

Bear: (peeks around muslin) Five out of five! Wish you'd missed just a few. But we'll keep our promise and go back to the zoo. (Bear leaves)

Zookeeper: I enjoyed all the guessing with shadows and clues. I couldn't have done it though without you (points to audience). They might have stayed forever. Instead, I'll say good night and go to bed.

(Waves goodbye. Lights go out. Curtain closes).

Wild Beast Whistle:

Materials: Very thin paper, scissors.

Procedure: Cut a long strip of thin paper. The length or width of the paper does not matter. The thinner the paper, the deeper the sound and the easier to blow. Fold the strip lengthwise and crease. Fold one end of the strip up and the other end down and crease. Cut or tear a notch in the middle of the folded end. If the notch is too small, it will be harder to blow. Hold the whistle loosely between two fingers close to the folded ends. Put the paper ends up against your lips and blow hard against the folded strip. It may take a bit of practice. Experiment with different sized notches, thicknesses of paper, etc. for different sounds.

String Animals:

Materials: Paper, plastic wrap, white glue, rug yarn or heavy string.

Procedure: Draw an outline picture of your favorite circus animal using as few lines as possible. All lines should connect with some other line. Tape a piece of plastic wrap over the picture. Squeeze a thin trail of glue over the lines working in small sections. Press yarn or string into glue trail. Let glue dry then cover all the yarn with another layer of glue. Let dry thoroughly, preferably overnight. Peel the plastic away from the yarn animal. Tie a piece of heavy thread to top to hang.

Circus wagons:

Materials: Colored construction paper, black construction paper, white paper, patterns (next page), crayons, glue.

Procedure: Use pattern to make circus wagons on 12x18" colored construction paper or brightly colored wallpaper samples. Paste black construction paper wheels on bottom of wagon and strips behind the wagon for bars. Color wild animals on white 9x12" paper and glue to back of wagon.

Tall Tales:

Entertain with these little known facts about the giraffe.

Did you know that the giraffe was once called the camelopard?

Did you know that the giraffe has the same number of bones in its neck as a mouse or a man (or most mammals, for that matter)?

Did you know that they name "giraffe" means "one that walks safely"? It comes from the Arabic word "zarafe".

Did you know that no two giraffes have identical patterns?

Did you know giraffes can gallop at speeds of up to 40 miles per hour and jump over 4 1/2 foot fences?

Did you know the giraffe's tongue is 18 inches long?

Simon Says:

All instructions from Simon must be for animal sounds or actions which can, of course, only be performed when Simon says to do so. Ex. Simon says "Act like a monkey."

Additional suggestions:

1. Let children design posters to advertise your local zoo or animal park. Display the posters in the library, at the zoo, and around town.

2. Request directions for making a paper plate Big Mouth Lion from Dept. LP, National Wildlife Federation, 1412 16th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036-2266. Enclosed a SASE, 9 1/2" long.

3. Play "Trunk the Elephant". Draw a large elephant's head on cardboard. Cut several holes designating one for the trunk. Use a length of vacuum cleaner hose for the trunk. In turn, each player is blindfolded and handed the hose. Any player who correctly places the trunk in the proper hole wins. Award marshmallow circus peanuts as treats.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

This bibliography is not intended to be comprehensive. It is designed to provide a mixture of fact and fiction books which can be used in conjunction with the program ideas and for leisure reading. An attempt has been made to balance nonfiction, fiction, and picture books and to provide material for a variety of reading levels. All books, except as noted, were in print at the time the bibliography was compiled. "Series" indicates one title of several equally good titles available.

16 MM FILMS

Films can be an integral part of your Reading Club program. For older children and/or large groups, 30-45 minutes worth of films can be an entire program. They can be effectively used with daycare centers to reach an audience which may not normally be served by the Library. Most planning can, and should, be completed several months in advance allowing film programming to be relatively less labor-intensive during your busy time. Films can also be used as one component in a program. Use a short film to supplement a craft or speaker.

The films listed are but a minor portion of those available. Check your system catalog for these and other titles. Many are both entertaining (important during Reading Club -- remember this is a fun time) and enriching. If a film you wish to view is not available through your system, check rental catalogs. Many are available for a relatively small fee. Perhaps a local business or your Friends group would sponsor the showing of a film. Feature length (longer than 60 minutes) films have not been included here because most are generally only available through rental agencies (for example, Disney's DUMBO or THE INCREDIBLE JOURNEY). Additional educational films are available from the distributors listed in Educators Guide to Free Films.

Special thanks to Julie Travis, Dallas Public Library, Film Service for comments, additions, and corrections to this list.
