 August Term 1888 }

Now Comes Wellington Westbrook, guardian of the estates of Annie L. Hannie E. Effie May, Edged A. Oscar A. and Joseph Abbot, minor, and respectfully represents, that neither of her said wards have any revenue or income, and own no estate of any kind except the money in guardian's hands reported in the inventory filed herein.

That guardian is poor, and maintains himself, wife, and these minors by the greatest difficulty, by his own exertions.

He therefore prays the court that he be allowed to expend five dollars per month for each of said wards for their maintenance and support.
