HJR 63 ON THIRD READING (by Pickett)

HJR 63, A joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to permit a county to issue bonds or notes to finance the development or redevelopment of an unproductive, underdeveloped, or blighted area and to pledge for repayment of the bonds or notes increases in ad valorem taxes imposed by the county on property in the area.

Amendment No. 1

Representatives Pickett and Harper-Brown offered the following amendment to HJR 63:

Amend HJR 63 on third reading in SECTION 2 of the joint resolution, in the ballot proposition, between "area." and the quotation mark, by inserting the following:

The amendment does not provide authority for increasing ad valorem tax rates.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 - STATEMENT OF LEGISLATIVE INTENT

REPRESENTATIVE HARPER-BROWN: Joe, I know you've clarified now, with your amendment, they cannot raise taxes. And, just to be sure the members understand—I don't know if they have their constitution, a copy of it at their desk, if they do—they can go to page 120, I believe. And, if they have a concern about an unproductive, underdeveloped, or blighted area, that's actually already in the constitution, under Section 1-g. So, whatever authority the counties have is already delegated within this to take care of those types of areas using whatever resources they want to use. It also says, that it's—"by general law may authorize cities, towns, and other taxing units to grant exemptions", but the counties feel like they don't have the explicit authority, whereas this says, "other taxing units", is that correct?

REPRESENTATIVE PICKETT: And you are correct, and thank you for working with me yesterday after the vote. There was a little misunderstanding and I appreciate you supporting it. Thank you.

HARPER-BROWN: So, just to be clear, it doesn't give counties ordinance authority?

PICKETT: None.

HARPER-BROWN: It does not expand eminent domain authority?

PICKETT: Nope, it does not.

HARPER-BROWN: And it does not raise taxes?

PICKETT: It does not.

HARPER-BROWN: It's just like a TIF that I used to deal with working in the cities. Where you're—any increased revenue you received because of improvements you can put back into transportation projects, but not—that you're not raising taxes, that's prohibited now with your amendment.

PICKETT: Exactly.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

Representative Harper-Brown moved to print remarks between Representative Pickett and Representative Harper-Brown.

The motion prevailed.

Amendment No. 1 was adopted.

SECTION 11. Subchapter B, Chapter 164, Occupations Code, is amended by adding Section 164.0551 to read as follows:

Sec. 164.0551. COMPLIANCE WITH CERTAIN REQUIREMENTS REGARDING SONOGRAM BEFORE ABORTION. A physician shall comply with Subchapter B, Chapter 171, Health and Safety Code.

SECTION 12. (a) The legislature finds the following purposes and justifications for this law:

(1) States have "a substantial government interest justifying a requirement that a woman be apprised of the health risks of abortion and childbirth," including mental health considerations. Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pennsylvania v. Casey, 505 U.S. 833, 882 (1992). "It cannot be questioned that psychological well-being is a facet of health. Nor can it be doubted that most women considering an abortion would deem the impact on the fetus relevant, if not dispositive, to the decision. In attempting to ensure that a woman apprehend the full consequences of her decision, the State furthers the legitimate purpose of reducing the risk that a woman may elect an abortion, only to discover later, with devastating psychological consequences, that her decision was not fully informed. If the information the State requires to be made available to the woman is truthful and not misleading, the requirement may be permissible." Id.

(2) The consideration of an abortion's consequences to a fetus is not contingent on the consideration of the health of the mother. Rather, those considerations provide a stand-alone basis for informed consent legislation. There is "no reason why the State may not require doctors to inform a woman seeking an abortion of the availability of materials relating to the consequences to the fetus, even when those consequences have no direct relation to her health." Id.

(3) In addition to the state's substantial interest in promoting the health and well-being of a pregnant woman, the state also has a "profound interest in potential life" of the unborn fetus. Id. at 878; see also Gonzales v. Carhart, 550 U.S. 124, 125 (2007) (recognizing that the state has a legitimate interest "in protecting the life of the fetus that may become a child").

(4) A statute furthering a state's "legitimate goal of protecting the life of the unborn" by "ensuring a decision that is mature and informed" is permitted "even when in so doing the State expresses a preference for childbirth over abortion." Planned Parenthood, 505 U.S. at 883.

(5) In addition, the Supreme Court has held that "[r]egulations which do no more than create a structural mechanism by which the State, or the parent or guardian of a minor, may express profound respect for the life of the unborn are permitted, if they are not a substantial obstacle to the woman's exercise of the right to choose." Id. at 877. "Unless it has that effect on her right of choice, a state measure designed to persuade her to choose childbirth over abortion will be upheld if reasonably related to that goal." Id. at 878.

(6) "The State also has an interest in protecting the integrity and ethics of the medical profession." Washington v. Glucksberg, 521 U.S. 702, 731 (1997). An abortion performed without a medical professional's full disclosure to a pregnant woman of the impact on the fetus and the potential health consequences of an abortion could undermine the woman's trust in medical professionals. This Act is intended to protect the integrity and ethics of the medical profession by establishing clear requirements that are designed to ensure the health and informed consent of a pregnant woman who is contemplating an abortion.

(b) Therefore, it is the legislature's intent in enacting this Act to further the purposes stated in Subsection (a) of this section.

(c) Furthermore, with regard to the severability clause contained in this Act, the legislature finds:

(1) As the United States Supreme Court has explained, when reviewing an abortion statute, "the proper means to consider exceptions is by as-applied challenge." Gonzales, 550 U.S. at 167. Moreover, when reviewing abortion statutes, "[t]he latitude given facial challenges in the First Amendment context is inapplicable." Id. See also U.S. v. Salerno, 481 U.S. 739, 745 (1987) ("The fact that [a legislative Act] might operate unconstitutionally under some conceivable set of circumstances is insufficient to render it wholly invalid, since we have not recognized an 'overbreadth' doctrine outside the limited context of the First Amendment.").

(2) The United States Supreme Court has made the role of the court clear when reviewing statutes: "It is neither our obligation nor within our traditional institutional role to resolve questions of constitutionality with respect to each potential situation that might develop." Gonzales, 550 U.S. at 168. "[I]t would indeed be undesirable for this Court to consider every conceivable situation which might possibly arise in the application of complex and comprehensive legislation." Id. (quoting U.S. v. Raines, 362 U.S. 17, 21 (1960) (internal quotation marks omitted)). "For this reason, '[a]s-applied challenges are the basic building blocks of constitutional adjudication.'" Gonzales, 550 U.S. at 168 (quoting Richard Fallon, As-Applied and Facial Challenges and Third-Party Standing, 113 Harv. L. Rev. 1321, 1328 (2000)).

(3) Severability must be considered not only with respect to certain clauses or provisions of a statute but also with respect to applications of a statute or provision when some of the applications are unconstitutional. See Norman J. Singer, Statutes and Statutory Construction, Section 44.02 (4th ed. rev. 1986).

(4) Severability clauses in federal statutes treat severability of clauses and applications the same. See, e.g., 2 U.S.C. Section 1438 ("If any provision of this chapter or the application of such provision to any person or circumstance is held to be invalid, the remainder of this chapter and the application of the provisions of the remainder to any person or circumstance shall not be affected thereby."); Section 1103 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. Section 1303); Section 15 of the National Labor Relations Act (29 U.S.C. Section 165); Section 11 of the Railway Labor Act (45 U.S.C. Section 161); Section 14 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act (7 U.S.C. Section 614).

(5) Courts have treated severability of clauses and applications the same. See Robert L. Stern, Separability and Separability Clauses in the Supreme Court, 51 Harv. L. Rev. 76 (1937).

SECTION 13. The purposes of this Act include, but are not limited to:

- (1) protecting the physical and psychological health and well-being of pregnant women;
- (2) providing pregnant women access to information that would allow her to consider the impact an abortion would have on her unborn child; and
- (3) protecting the integrity and ethical standards of the medical profession.

SECTION 14. The change in law made by this Act applies only to an abortion performed on or after the 30th day after the effective date of this Act. An abortion performed before the 30th day after the effective date of this Act is governed by the law in effect on the date the abortion was performed, and the former law is continued in effect for that purpose.

SECTION 15. The Title IV-D agency shall publish the information required by Section 171.0123, Health and Safety Code, as added by this Act, not later than the 30th day after the effective date of this Act.

SECTION 16. Every provision in this Act and every application of the provisions in this Act are severable from each other. If any application of any provision in this Act to any person or group of persons or circumstances is found by a court to be invalid, the remainder of this Act and the application of the Act's provisions to all other persons and circumstances may not be affected. All constitutionally valid applications of this Act shall be severed from any applications that a court finds to be invalid, leaving the valid applications in force, because it is the legislature's intent and priority that the valid applications be allowed to stand alone. Even if a reviewing court finds a provision of this Act invalid in a large or substantial fraction of relevant cases, the remaining valid applications shall be severed and allowed to remain in force.

SECTION 17. This Act takes effect immediately if it receives a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, as provided by Section 39, Article III, Texas Constitution. If this Act does not receive the vote necessary for immediate effect, this Act takes effect September 1, 2011.

CSHB 710 ON SECOND READING
(by Walle, Menendez, Naishtat, and Muñoz)

CSHB 710, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to verification of identity of applicants for benefits under and prevention of duplicate participation in the financial assistance and supplemental nutrition assistance programs.

CSHB 710 was read second time on May 4 and was postponed until 8 a.m. today.

CSHB 710 - STATEMENT OF LEGISLATIVE INTENT

REPRESENTATIVE LAUBENBERG: Okay, the purpose of the fingerprinting and IDing was to verify the accuracy and nonduplication of TANF recipients, is that correct?

REPRESENTATIVE WALLE: Could you repeat that again?

LAUBENBERG: The purpose of the electronic imaging fingerprinting—what was the purpose of the use of it?

WALLE: The initial purpose was to prevent fraud. But, what was happening was, over the last—since the implementation of this program, there hasn't been any—well, not to say there hasn't been any prosecutions—the problem was there hasn't been any convictions of folks that have, as many would say, gamed the system.

When you're trying to figure out the identity of somebody, this device was pretty poor because the tracked work didn't really reflect the expenditures that we're using. It's been $30-40 million that we've wasted using this technology at taxpayer expense, and no prosecutions, no convictions of anybody that has gamed the system. So, and I would add, we're not preventing any other types of technology, or other fraud technology, from being used in this effort. So, that would be my long answer to your question.

LAUBENBERG: Okay, but also, is it correct that the federal government requires us to use the electronic imaging in order to prevent fraud and duplication? To not use this system anymore, we would have to get a federal waiver, is that correct?

WALLE: I'm not advised of that, but you could still use any—again, this does not prevent any other technology from being used to prevent fraud. The issue is the technology we've been using for the last seven or eight years hasn't been effective—and for privacy reasons, too. We don't know where those digital fingerprints—we don't know. We're hoping there's some safeguards that would prevent anybody's information getting leaked. We've had some issues with that with the comptroller's office with identities being all over the internet. So, I think and I believe that the best way we can do this is by using other technologies that could streamline this process and better identify somebody.

LAUBENBERG: What kind of technology would be used?

WALLE: Well, that would be up to HHSC to determine. Now, my contention is there'll be some ways—I'll give you an example. When you open up a bank account, and you have your online bank account, and you log in, you have certain—you have your user ID and your passwords; you have certain questions if you forget your username or password. So, it could be a couple of questions that you could use—for instance, what's your mother's maiden name, or what was your first pet's name. Those are easier and more efficient than using this technology that we've wasted $30, $40 million of your taxpayer and my taxpayer dollars for really no other way to legitimize it.

LAUBENBERG: All right, you're saying that we're spending $3 million a year to prevent—using the fingerprint electronic imaging to prevent fraud. And you said earlier that we have not had the duplicate cases, probably because we've have been using the fingerprint imaging.

WALLE: That's a good question, because it goes to the deterrence I think that you're trying to get to.

LAUBENBERG: Let me ask you this—

WALLE: Sure.

LAUBENBERG: Your bill, as it was amended in the committee, as it was amended, does not prohibit the use of fingerprints?

WALLE: It wouldn't.

LAUBENBERG: They can continue to use this, is that correct?

WALLE: That's correct, and Representative Hughes, who I've worked with on Human Services last session, worked with me, and his staff, and our staff worked out some language that would make it—if you want to use the technology, such as fingerprinting, it's not going to prohibit that from coming back—

LAUBENBERG: Okay, but let me ask you that again.

WALLE: Sure.

LAUBENBERG: We will have to get a waiver from the federal government to stop this system, is that correct?

WALLE: My understanding is that's not correct and if you have information that would differ from that—we can go through the process of getting a waiver. For this, as a cost-saving measure, and these type of budget problems that we have this session, I think that we could easily get a waiver if that is the case.

LAUBENBERG: All right. Your original bill prohibited the use of fingerprinting?

WALLE: Correct.

LAUBENBERG: This bill, as it is substituted. And I'm just going to ask you, will you keep the substitute? It does allow Health and Human Services to continue to use the system, is that correct? Is that my understanding of your bill?

WALLE: If that's the best use, then my bill wouldn't prohibit it. What we would try to do is—

LAUBENBERG: No, the question is—

WALLE: It wouldn't prohibit it—

LAUBENBERG: —the bill, as it stands now allows the continued use of fingerprinting that system now?

WALLE: Correct.

LAUBENBERG: It does allow that?

WALLE: Yes.

LAUBENBERG: It does continue to allow that? If Health and Human Services can find, at no greater cost, another method to make sure there is no duplication or fraud, then your bill would allow that as well, is that correct?

WALLE: Correct.

LAUBENBERG: It's an either/or, but it's not prohibiting—

WALLE: Nope, it wouldn't prohibit.

LAUBENBERG: They can continue to use this system until at some point in time they can find something else, is that correct?

WALLE: The first—Section 31.0326, if you read that, it says, the verification of identity and prevention of duplicate participation—

LAUBENBERG: I'm sorry, tell me again please?

WALLE: On page one, Section 31.0326, the Health and Human Services Commission shall use appropriate technology to: (1) confirm the identity of the applicants for benefits under the financial assistance program and preventing duplicate participation in the—LAUBENBERG: Okay, so, on line 10 where it says, "shall use appropriate technology," can that include the electronic imaging, electronic fingerprint imaging? Can that include that system?

WALLE: It could. That initial statement can be broad. It could include that.

LAUBENBERG: It can include that. Okay, and they can continue to use that until they can find something else.

WALLE: Until they can find something better.
